A NEW DEPARTURE.
 The Northwestern Electric Light Company Put in the Incandescent System.
 The new incandescent electric lights were put in operation at a few places in this city last night, and attracted considerable attention. The lamp used is the one which consists of a platinum carbon, encased in a hermetically sealed glass bulb, about the size of a goose egg. This is fastened on the end of a gilded bracket, the whole, when in use, having considerable resemblance to an ordinary wall gas jet. The light is turned on and off exactly the same as gas, and can be regulated in the same manner. The advantage noted by observers last night was the clear, brilliant light, and entire absence of heat, only a slightly warm feeling being discernible on the ball when burning at full heat.
 Mr. Clark, one of the gentlemen interested in the operation of both the Maxim and Weston lights, says his company is about locating another large station near the Paxton which, when established, will enable them to extend their circuits in all directions. The capacity of the present station is tested to its utmost to meet the demands now made on it, and it will be impossible to furnish the Maxim burners to all who desire them until another arrangement is made. The lights were started last night were McNamara & Duncan's and Henry Hornberger's, fully two thousand feet from the dynamo, the usual working distance being one thousand feet. Notwithstanding this the lamp burned steady and strong, and gave entire satisfaction. They will be introduced in the First National and Nebraska National banks and such other places as can be reached with the wires now up.

ANCIENT AND HONORABLE.
 The Early Life and Chivalric Career of Fort Calhoun Contrasted With To-Day.
 Correspondence of THE BEE.
 FORT CALHOUN, NEB., February 1.—This little city, the oldest in Washington county, has long enjoyed a well earned fame for its agricultural, horticultural, historical, and political influence. For fruit this county stands far ahead thus far of any other portion of northern Nebraska. Mr. Hiram Gregg, so well known throughout the state, has an orchard of over 20 acres, with several acres of small fruits, and is also largely interested in fish culture and the production of honey sometimes, keeping over 200 swarms of bees at one time. Messrs. Frahm & Pohrver, who grew very near 2,000 bushels of apples last year, have been planting apple trees for years and hope soon to add several thousand bushels more to the product. Hon. D. Crouse, H. Crouchman and others have also fine orchards.
 In history this place probably ranks first in the state. A little north of the town, Lewis and Clark built and enjoyed their council fires in 1804. In 1810, the old fort was established, and in 1820 a duel was fought and two valiant soldiers laid down their lives after the most approved southern fashion. Many valuable relics of the old fort still remain, the most valuable, perhaps, being the remains of a fine grove of black locusts, no doubt the oldest artificial grove in the state.
 The present city, although founded many years ago, and once celebrated for its flouring mills, has for sometime had a reputation of being something after the fashion of a sleepy New England village, but lately it has taken on fresh vigor. Mr. Dedleif Rix has just completed and furnished a fine new hotel and public hall at a cost of something like $4,000. W. F. Miller has added an addition to his former residence, costing $1,500. Fenner Bros., postmasters, BEE agents, and general merchants, are making things rush at a lively rate.
 J. B. Kouny, so well known as the proprietor of Kouny's hall in Omaha, is the wide awake Mayor of this burg.
 Henry Rix is grain dealer, lumber merchant, contractor and builder, has an extensive hardware store, and has just purchased an engine for the purpose of putting up an elevator. Corn is not only king but is plenty here, large amounts coming to market upon every fine day, and thus the good work goes on.

 I have used ALCOCK POROUS PLASTER in my practice with remarkable success, and found them peculiarly efficacious when applied to the back for Weak Spine and Nervous Exhaustion; they afford almost instant relief in Coughs, Colds and Life Complaints. I cordially recommend them as the best and safest Plaster ever made, and would caution the public against the numerous other so-called Porous Plasters that are sought to be palmed off on a credulous public; they are worthless and often times dangerous.

NEBRASKA CITY
 Still Getting to the Front—New Improvements, Enterprises, Etc.
 Correspondence of THE BEE.
 NEBRASKA CITY, February 1.—Our offending molars can now be "extracted without pain" (to the dentist) by four dental artists, two new ones, Drs. A. J. Thomas, of Ohio, and J. U. Kazaby, of Pennsylvania, having recently settled in our city and opened dental offices.
 A Loan and Trust company is being formed in our city. It will be composed of men with an abundance of capital and who are eminently able to work up and conduct a large business. They have secured the Barnum House and will remodel it into a private office for the company on the ground floor and business offices in the second and third stories.
 A curious sight to the uninitiated in the numbers of loads of wood to be seen on our streets any day when the "big muddy" is frozen over. From forty to sixty loads of this salable commodity may be seen at nearly all times.
 J. B. Neikle, of Weeping Water, has removed his law office to this city, and has opened up for business in the Oteo County National bank building.
 The health of our community at present is like buckwheat cakes and maple syrup—good—but very little sickness, and that mainly of a light form of diphtheria among the children, can be found in the city.
 The Morton, the new hotel which was mentioned in my last letter, is already being cramped for room, and at a meeting of the stock-holders of the same, held last week, it was decided to add 25 more rooms to the building on the corner.
 The new wing to the court house is now completed and some of the officers have already moved in. This addition gives our county offices plenty of room, besides being a decided improvement in the appearance of the edifice.
 Miss Lulu, daughter of Robt. Hawke, our merchant prince, is to be married Wednesday evening to Mr. Will S. Lee of this city. The wedding ceremony will be performed in the M. E. church, to be followed by a reception at the Morton house.
 Mr. Ed. Sheldon is fitting up a large building on lower Main street with receptacles for ice preparatory to opening a large butter and egg house, in the spring.
 Revival meetings are in progress in the M. E. churches of the city and some interest is being manifested.
 An indisputable evidence that Nebraska City is not dead is the fact that not a single business of the city is advertised for sale in our city papers, while in the Lincoln Herald and some of the largest towns offering to sell out very cheap for cash and some offering to trade for lands or anything else.
 Rumors of a new railroad are in the air, but until something a little more definite is known, "Silence is golden" you know.
 MARK ANON,

Eating Cancer.
 John Naves, a young man living near this place, has been eating for five years with one of the most angry looking eating cancers that I ever saw. His nose has been eaten away and the cancer was feeding itself on his cheek, mouth and throat, and all thought it was only a question of time when life itself would give up. I advised Swift's Specific, and its effect was marvellous. After the first bottle he could attend to his business, and after five bottles he is nearly or quite well. The poison has been forced from his system, and he is a new man.

The Rivers Receding.
 PITTSBURGH, February 1.—The rivers reached the highest stage this morning at 1 o'clock, when the marks registered 21 feet. Portions of the low lands at Allegheny City and the south side around water, but no serious damage resulted to property. The waters are now receding and as the weather is freezing, no more trouble is anticipated. The ice is nearly all out of the Monongahela, the Allegheny being rapidly cleared. Gorges are being rapidly cleared. The gorges in the Youghiogheny are still firm and not likely to come out till another rise, as the river is falling at the headwaters.
 Aseveral points on the Youghiogheny the bottom lands were inundated and the families living on them compelled to retire to the second floor of houses or wade out, waist deep, through the icy waters. At Freeport, on the Allegheny, the ice piled 30 feet high. For a time it was feared the town would be flooded, but the gorge started shortly before midnight, the water obtaining an outlet, soon fell to its proper level. The Allegheny ice reached here this morning. Since then it has been steadily passing out. Several flats moored near the bridge were so drifted that about 4 o'clock collided with it and sank the trading boats, Monitor and Lilly, tied up at the foot of Second street. The boats were valued at $3,000 each. The flats continued on their way down the river and have not been heard from since.

Coal Oil Lamps.
 Many people dislike exceedingly to use coal oil on account of the disagreeable odor which comes from it. Much of this may be avoided, however, in lamps by proper care and knowing how to regulate the light. In the first place, lamps need to have attention every day. When this kind of light is used some one person should be deputized to look after the lamps and clean and fill them every morning. This is not only necessary for the comfort of the family, but safety demands it. Explosions never take place when a lamp is full; the gas which causes the explosion collects when the oil has burned low. It is never advisable to try to economize in oil by turning a lamp down low, it will almost invariably smoke till the room will be disagreeable to breathe. If it is necessary to leave a lamp burning all night, it is better to leave a good light rather than take the chances of having it smoke, unless it can be set in a chimney or some place where the smoke will be carried away by ventilation. Sometimes, unless the lamps has plenty of oil in it the oil will be consumed and then the saturated wick will burn, filling the room so suffocatingly full of smoke that it is liable to be very injurious to sleeping inmates, unless it is discovered. Often a student lamp will not burn, and the owner is puzzled to know the cause. Follow the cylinder which holds the wick there is a little cup-like part which screws on and is intended to catch any surplus oil which may run down. Through this, also, the air passes up inside of the cylinder. If this becomes filled with oil the air is shut off, and combustion, of course, is greatly if not entirely diminished. In order to prevent the oil from trickling into this cup, the wick should be trimmed down below the edge of the burner when the lamp is not in use, otherwise the saturated wick will drop oil on the outer part of the burner to a greater or less degree, and this will gradually run down into the cup below. It is better, also, not to raise the reservoir after it has been filled. There is no softer, pleasanter light to read or sew by than a student's lamp. It is like many other things, it must be kept in order to have it work perfectly.

HUMMING BIRD.
 How many people bump over in their work, and how few understand that it is a weakness of the kidneys that induces this bumping over or lameness in the back! A medicine that will cure disease of the kidneys will almost always cure lame back, and Burdock Blood Bitters will do that. Hundreds of people have written us, in unqualified praise, of Burdock Blood Bitters as a remedy for lame back.

It is cured usually by a medicine that will strengthen the appetite, aid digestion, keep the liver active and the bowels open. Burdock Blood Bitters are a guaranteed cure for sick headache.

General Debility.
 This is one of the very commonest complaints. Thousands of people grant but do not know what ails them. They are neither sick nor well, yet they suffer all the time. To such people we strongly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters, one or two bottles of which will bring a good appetite, sound sleep, and the general debility sufferer of his nervousness and disposition state of mind. There is certainly nothing equal to Burdock Blood Bitters for this trouble.

Sick Headache.
 Burdock Blood Bitters will not cure consumption, but by keeping the blood strong and free from impurities they will stave off consumption. A person using this medicine, necessarily having regard to the common laws of health, need never do with consumption. Sold by all Druggists, FOSTER, MILBURN & CO., Prop'rs Buffalo, N. Y.
