A SUDDEN DEATH.

Judge A. M. Chadwick Drops Dead in the Street.

The Life of a Bright and Talented Young Man Brought to a Most Sudden Termination. Seldom, if ever, has there been a death in this city which has caused such general surprise and sorrow as that of Judge A. M. Chadwick yesterday morning. The wedding bells were pealing and Judge Chadwick was on his way to Trinity Cathedral to witness the wedding. He had reached the corner of Seventeenth street and Capitol avenue when those who were near him, saw him stagger for a second, and without any apparent warning, fall backwards upon the sidewalk, dead.

Miss Briggs and Miss Foos were very near him and the former lady shouted to a passing expressman but he evidently did not hear her and passed on up the street. Several gentlemen then arrived upon the scene, and picked up the form of the prostrate man and carried him cross the road to the skating rink, where he was laid upon the floor. Dr. Leisenring was summoned, and upon his arrival there was still a pulse, but very faint, and the doomed man did not breathe after falling. The doctor bled him in the neck and arm, but without any effect, and the Lystanders were informed thomping his wife, throwing lamps at her and that Judge Chadwick was dead. The cause of his death was due to ap poplexy. He had been complaining of his head for some little time. At the time of his death, his wife was n Trinity cathedral to witness the wedling, and was awaiting the arrival of her husband, who was to join her there but he never came. The lady was called from the church and informed of her irreparable loss, and was conveyed to her resi-dence, which she had left with a light heart but a few short moments before, but which now is decked with the habiliments of mourning.

CHIEF CLERK STACEY RESIGNS.

the Railway Mail Service.

Another important change, which affects not only this city but the state at large, took place in the postal service department yesterday. Mr. James D. Stacey, who came here from Peoria, Ill., about a year ago to accept the situation of chief clerk in the railway mail service, resigned on Monday last. This news was most unexepected by every one, as it was known by all that Mr. Stacey was fulfilling his duties in the most satisfactory manner to the public. The cause of Mr. Stacey's resignation is the meagre salary which the government pays to this Mark, will, nw qr and wife to William Mark, will, nw qr and wife to me qr of office. ### THE JOHN M. THURSTONS.

They Give a Splendid Ball in Cronnse's Hall Last Night.

Mrs. Thurston Presents Them with Splendid Banner

The first ball of the John M. Thurston Hose company was held in Crounse's hall last night. Nearly one hundred and Assistant Chief Clerk Harding will refifty couples were in attendance and the tain his present position and will be a valuable aid to Mr. Griffen in the beginparty was one not soon to be forgotton. The dancing was not all done by the young, occasionally a gray head being seen in the sea of dancers. The John M. Thurstons have long looked forward to last night, when they were to be presented with a gift in token of their victory at the state contest last fall. This gift was a beautiful purple banner, hung on a brazen standard, about six feet high surmounted with the American eagle with outstretched wings. This banner is wholly the work of Mrs. Thurston. Upon one side are the words, "John M. Thurston Hose Co., Omaha, Champions, and the reverse is covered with fine needle work, the whole border being trimmed with filagree. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Thurston for his wife and was overflowing with wit. Said he in conclusion, "I have been jealous of you for quite a while in the past, for my wife has taken all the time she had to spare, after keeping the babies quiet, in working for you and she has done more for you than she would be willing to do for me. My wife should have properly made this speech, but when she and entered into a partnership some years ago we made an agreement that she was to do all the talking at home and I when away from home." He then presented them with the banner saying, "Never let it trail in the dust or the man that carries it be caught." Colonel Smythe responded for the company with very fitting remarks at the conclusion of which he presented Mr. Thurston with two ele-gantly framed photographs of the company, one represents the boys in a group and the second the hose team just ready to start in the championship race at Lin coln last fall. The dancing continued until 12 o'clock when an excellent supper was served below. The programme, which was fully carried out, included twenty-two well selected dances. Much praise is due Mr. Pentzel, master of ceremonies, for the able manner in which the ball was conducted. Below are the

DISTRICT COURT.

The Grank Jury Makes its Final Pre sentments and is Discharged.

In the district court yesterday, before Judge Wakeley, the case of Gallagher against Dew was submitted to the jury. Before Judge Neville the case of Rous against Wright, at 3 p. m., was given to the jury, which returned a sealed verdict late in the evening.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon made its final presentments and was discharged. Only one indictment was returned, that of the state against Lon George for robbery.

At this term of court four indictments only were found. One against Snell for murder in the second degree, two against Georgia Sinclair for enticing girls under eighteen years of age to disorderly nouses for purposes of prosticution, and the one mentioned above. The grand jury inspected the jail, as provided by statute, and made the fol-

A Grand Wedding at Trinity Cathedral Yesterday.

Mr. Guy Howard and Miss Jeanni Woolworth the Contracting Parties.

One of the most brilliant events which has transpired in this city was the wedding yesterday, of Lieutenant Guy Howard to Miss Jeannie Woolworth, which was consummated at Trinity Cathedral at 12:30 p. m.

For weeks, in fact ever since the Harrison-Saunders wedding, this event has been the topic of conversation in the social world, and it has been looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by all. By twelve o'clock the cathedral was quite well filled with the elite of the city and at every sound at the outer door the large audience would turn in their seats. expecting to see the bridal party enter.

It was a little prompt of the time stated when the wedding party entered the vestibule of the church, and the curtains were drawn while the ladies removed their wraps. At 12:20 the great organ pealed forth its strains, when the curtain swung back and the bridal party noved up the aisle in the following or der: Lieut. Treat, Lieut. Coffin, Lieut DeDrusey, Lieut. Grebble, Miss Miller of Brooklyn, Misses Ross, Richardson and Millard, followed by the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father.

They walked with slow and measured tread within the chancel rail, when the groom elect advanced from the right, and offered his arm to the bride that was
