

Maryland, My Maryland.

My dear friend, I purchased your remedy for one of the children, who had a very severe attack of biliousness, and it occurred to me that the remedy might help my wife, as I found that our little girl upon recovery had...

A QUEEN OF CROOKS.

Remarkable Career of a Notorious Woman Pickpocket.

Mollie Holbrook's Chicago Exploits—Her Clever Escape in Canada—Re-arrested in Boston.

Chicago News. To Chicago belongs the honor of having produced Mollie Holbrook, the "Queen of Crooks," who returned from Boston, where she passed a year in retirement, and was assigned a few days ago to Blackwell's Island for the next five years.

History throws no light on the date of Mollie's birth, and her age is largely a matter of conjecture. It is safe to say, however, that she is still on the sunny side of half a century. Her picture, which is accorded a place of honor in the Rogues' Gallery at Police Headquarters, was taken some five or six years ago, and is numbered 1,371.

She is five feet two inches in height, has dark brown hair and light complexion. Years ago, when Chicago was a comparatively small town, Mollie and her husband, who was known as "Buck" Holbrook, kept a notorious saloon on Wells street, that was the headquarters of all the desperate characters in town.

After the death of her partner Mollie continued to carry on the business, and in 1872 brought herself prominently before the notice of the police by robbing a Chicago merchant named Daniels of a trifle of $40,000. She enticed Daniels to her room and dragged him, afterwards relieving him of all his valuables.

After the death of her partner Mollie continued to carry on the business, and in 1872 brought herself prominently before the notice of the police by robbing a Chicago merchant named Daniels of a trifle of $40,000. She enticed Daniels to her room and dragged him, afterwards relieving him of all his valuables.

On the 30th of September, 1881, she visited Macy's store in company with a confederate named Emma Jennings, alias "Little Emma," where she was detected in the act of stealing a pocketbook from an old lady from Schenectady, named Mrs. Catharine Curtis. When a floor-walker named Kigdowny attempted to detain her she resisted desperately, tearing his clothes and knocking him down.

On January 28, 1882, she was arrested by Inspector Byrnes at the elevated station at Franklin st. She was tried and sentenced to five years imprisonment, but pending the appeal of her case to a higher court she was again released on bail.

"Do you keep them shut up all the time?" "Yes, they would make it lively for the boys if they got out."

there is. Here come the puppies. We will give them a run and let you see how it does."

A trusty was sent down the lane and over the fence, through a large field, on a run. The trusty Glenn jumped out of his seat, brandishing a pair of heavy iron skates and glared defiance at the minister, who came to a sudden halt.

"Come on," shouted the teacher, like another Macduff, "this shall be a battle of life and death."

"Don't take another step or I'll brain you," said Glenn.

"Sit down, you bloodthirsty young villain!" ordered the teacher.

Neither moved a step. They eyed each other like panthers waiting an opportunity to spring. All the time the timid children were hurrying out of the school, while the older and bolder boys edged their way up to Glenn, doubtless willing to assist him, and encouraged him by saying: "Stand your ground, Patsy."

"How does this trial system interfere with the workings of a good sewing-machine business?"

"I'll tell you. There are a good number of women who take machines on trial, never intending to buy them."

"But it is not considerable trouble to ladies, this changing of sewing machines on trial. If people want to try them, let them try them. It is no trouble at all and no expense, as we handle them all and shift them from place to place at the will of the person who takes them to try."

Glenn could not restrain his merriment, and his laugh set the school in uproar.

Rev. Mr. Miner seized a slate and approached Glenn with it uplifted, ready to strike. The fun took a serious and alarming turn. Glenn jumped out of his seat, brandishing a pair of heavy iron skates and glared defiance at the minister, who came to a sudden halt.

"Come on," shouted the teacher, like another Macduff, "this shall be a battle of life and death."

"Don't take another step or I'll brain you," said Glenn.

DEATH OF CATTLE

A B. & M. Engineer Tells a Story of the Great Destruction of Cattle

There have been many conflicting stories regarding the death of cattle in the Republican valley, some contending that the loss has been light, while others claim that the loss is unprecedented. Our reporter has looked the matter up, and learns from Simon Lewis, the engineer who draws the pay car, a story of untold destruction of cattle in the west.

Another engineer says that on a single trip through the Republican river valley his engine killed no less than 33 head. The snow is about two feet deep, and the weather intensely cold, and with neither food, water nor shelter, what more could be expected?

ARE YOU GOING TO EUROPE?

In another column will be found the announcement of Messrs. THOS. COOK & SON, our Agents, 261 Broadway, New York, relative to the very complete arrangements they have made for Europe in 1884.

The Mines and Minerals of Mexico.

The next most important deposits are the immense beds of iron, chiefly in the form of the magnetite and hematite ores. The well-known Cerro del Mercado, in the state of Durango, has been estimated to contain sixty million cubic yards of iron-ore, which have a weight of five billion quintals, and give, according to analysis by Mr. M. H. Borje, of Philadelphia, sixty-six per cent of pure metal.

TRIAL MACHINES.

"But it is not considerable trouble to ladies, this changing of sewing machines on trial. If people want to try them, let them try them. It is no trouble at all and no expense, as we handle them all and shift them from place to place at the will of the person who takes them to try."

Petroleum V. Nasty.

D. R. Locke, Petroleum V. Nasty (Editor Toledo Blade), writes: "I had on a forefinger of my right hand one of those pleasant pills, a 'run-round.' The forefinger was to a degree unswollen and swollen to nearly twice its natural size. A friend gave me HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE, and in twenty minutes the pain had so much subsided that I gave me a fair night's rest, which I had not had before for a week. The inflammation left the finger in a day. I consider it a most valuable article for the household."

Cures the Piles Too.

Edouard Reinhard, of New York, writes: "It gives me great pleasure to say that a single box of HENRY'S CARBOLIC SALVE cured me of a complete cure of Piles, with which I had been afflicted for several years, and which nothing else that I used would cure."
