OHAHA, Neb., Feb. 27, 1884.

GEO. W. E. DORSEY, CHAIRMAN S. B. COLSON, Secretary.

THE first result of prohibition in Iowa is the election of a democratic mayor and city government in Council Blnffs.

If the mayor continues to enforce his order closing all places on Sunday that sell liquor, he is eminently correct in making no exceptions to the rule.

THE twelve city detectives will now have something to do in ferreting out the man who laid in wait and assaulted District Attorney Godwin. When the roughs begin assaulting our law officers it is high time for the police to take some action towards closing up the dives, dens and resorts of roughs, and drive the lawless class from the city.

THE forfeiture of the Texas Pacific land grant is now a settled fact, the senate committee on public lands having voted almost unanimously in favor of the forfeiture. Before restoring the lands to the public domain, however, it is proposed to make some amendments in the bill, so that the lands will be available only for actual settlement. This will be done to prevent speculation and the taking up of large tracts of land.

CHICAGO having discovered a new motor, bi-sulphide of carbon, the slowgoing city of St. Louis, not having forgotten her defeat in the contest for the democratic convention, is naturally very envious, and her sentiments are expressed by the Globs-Democrat, which says "Chiesgo should stick to the motor which has served her purpose so well thus tar. Bi-sulphide of wind is the thing for her." If St. Louis had some of Chicago's wind to fill her sails she might make more rapid progress.

MAYOR CHASE AND HIS DUTY.

The Lincoln Journal of Tuesday mornng has the following dispatch, which shows that we must go away from home to get the news:

Last Sunday he was passing that place and heard the click of billiard balls and nasty language. He entered and remonstrated with the barhim a meddlesome old fool, swore at him roundly and ordered him out. The mayor now retaliates by insisting on a strict enforcement of the Slocumb law. For once the law abiding citizens of Omaha will approve of the course of weeks what it has taken Parnell and his Mayor Chase in taking steps to enforce the laws. The reckless and defiant manner in which some of the public resorts The woman suffragists are gathering have ignored the conditions under which they are licensed to sell liquor has done more to bring Mayor Chase's administration into disrepute than any other one thing. It is notorious that the dives, gambling shops and "sporting centers" have made Saturday night and Sunday morning hideous with their orgies. Their raids upon the pockets of the workingmen have been more successful during the twenty-four hours at the end of the week than any other time. Most of our working people are paid off on Saturday night, and before Monday morning those who are addicted to patronizing these advise them to tackle their senior places have not a dollar left. It is as much in the interest of this numerous class that the laws should be enforced, as in the interest or common decency and good government. The time has passed for Omaha to maintain the reputation of lawless frontier mining towns like Leadyille and Deadwood.

VALENTINE WANTS TO KNOW,

There was no conference between him and President Arthur that would warrant any such inquiry. Valentine wants to know whether Dawes would appoint him to the vacancy in the senate in case Manderson should resign, and he wanted Dorsey and others to urge upon Dawes the propriety of tendering him the place. With that assurance Valentine would have had a powerful incentive to beseech the president to appoint Manderson to the circuit judgeship. This is about the true inwardness of that dispatch to Dorsey. We venture to say that the president never said a word about Van Wyck if he did have any conference or talk with Valentine. In the first place, President Arthur has never made Valen tine his confidant. In the next place, apart from desiring a republican successor in the senate, the president doesn't care a fig as to whom Dawes would appoint. By this time Valentine has prob-

Pierce labored under a social cloud: Buchanan found little pleasure during his term, and, towards its lose, the office was a burden; Lincoln, in his two terms, found little pleasure, and his life was taken by an assassin; Johnson was combattaive, quarrelsome and always in trouble. He might have had peace and plain sailing, but he seemed to prefer contention and controversy. Grant's second term was not a bed of roses. There are drawbacks thus, you see, to the office as well as its allurements. No, I am not candidate in the sense that I am seeking the office.
