COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Tuesday Morning, April 8.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. By Carrier - 30 cents per week. By Mail - $10.00 per year.

OFFICE:

No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Reiter's spring goods. Additional local on seventh page.

The county board of supervisors met yesterday, and will get right down to business to-day.

All railroad tickets bought of D. W. Bushnell are guaranteed, also all rebate orders given by him.

The electric light company has contracted for a Westinghouse engine, and expects to be in full running order within thirty days.

The rain proved a disappointment to the paving contractors yesterday, for they expected to commence hauling the stone to commence work with.

The only horse which tried to move a buggy along Broadway yesterday got discouraged and laid down by the Savings bank, and would not get up until unharnessed.

The Council Bluffs Insurance company has added several rooms to its headquarters, about doubling its office capacity, and its business seems increasing in a like proportion.

The gamblers and prostitutes are now invited to call at city headquarters and pay over the city's share of the last month's profit, in consideration of the fact that the city has let the places run without any interference.

The town trustees will probably not decide for a day or two shall be constable in place of Tom Simmer resigned. The county board is to act on the resignation first, and then notify the town clerk, who then calls a meeting, and all this takes time.

Lois Wainbrooker, the distinguished lecturer and authoress, will lecture this (Tuesday) evening in Spiritual hall, Shurgart & Beno's block, at 7:30 o'clock. Entrance on Main and Pearl street, stairs two door south of postoffice. The subject may be selected by the audience.

Leave to try wedlock was yesterday given to John McGill and Emma Mackland, both of this city; James A. Hayward and Minnie Kelley, both of Underwood; John Olson, of Creston, and Anna Shakson, of Council Bluffs.

A change has been made in the police force by which Officers O'Brien and Metcalfe no go on duty, the former's beat being on Broadway and the latter's on Main street. Officer Brooks now goes on nights and takes the First ward, and Officer Morse Middle Broadway.

It is to be hoped that the move for a clock for the tower of the Masonic temple will not be allowed to slumber. A little lift on the part of enterprising citizens will put the clock in place, with illuminated dial, showing the time by night as well as by day to any one in any part of the compass.

There was a large and, of course, happy gathering of friends at the residence of Mr. J. C. McDonnell, on Benton street Saturday evening, at the wedding of Mr. Nelson Coy to Miss Lena Murr, both of this city. Rev. J. Fisk performed the ceremony, after which a feast was spread, in which the practical skill of the bride was demonstrated, it being prepared by her own hands. Merry-making, etc., kept the guests entertained happily until a late hour.

The free public library is changing its quarters, but not making a very "far" move. The new quarters are the rooms which have been occupied by Drs. Hanchett & West and the rooms in the rear, making in all much larger quarters, and affording the additional room needed by the growth of the library. Dr. Hanchett and Dr. West will take the rooms which have been occupied by the library, and will prove very commodious and convenient for those gentlemen and their many patients.

The suit of Thomas Nelson against John Redpath was on trial before Justice Schurz and a jury yesterday and drew a large number of laboring men as witnesses and interested listeners. This suit is for wages claimed to be due by Redpath, who sublet a city contract of W. A. Moore for filling streets. In this case an attempt is being made to prove that Mr. Moore guaranteed the payment of the men, and Mr. Moore himself is serving as his own attorney, and showing that he is fully as capable as many who are in steady practice. Without reference to the merits of this particular case, the fact that many laboring men and teamsters have been defrauded of their just earnings by city contractors has led THE BEE to urge the council to take city contracts may be compelled to pay the laborers. It is not enough for the city official to say, as they have said, that the workmen must look out for themselves. The system which permits those having city contracts to ignore the claims of those who have done the work, is a bad one indeed.

NIPPED IN NEOLA.

An Express Employee Arrested for Stealing Money Packages.

A Teamster Charges $100 for Five Bushels of Corn.

Other Cleanings From the Courts.

MINOR MENTION.

The arrest of one of Neola's citizens, Charles F. Jones, has caused quite a little flurry in that town, and drew a number of Neolans to this city yesterday to see what was going to be done with the young men. The charge made against him was that of the larceny of money packages from the United States Express company. Jones has lived in Neola for years, and has been employed as driver for the company, transferring the express from one depot to another. He has always been considered very careful and honest, but of late it has been discovered that money packages have been missing, one disappearing on the 4th of February, one on the 15th, and one on the 21st. The packages were traced, and it was learned that they had been given him by one agent to take across to the other agent, and the latter failed to recover them. The amount in the missing packages was $65.90. This led to the arrest of the young man, who was brought to this city by Officer Morse. He had little to say about the charge beyond the firm denial of all crookedness and the assertion that he had delivered all packages given him, and that if any were missing they must have been lost or appropriated by some one else. A number of Neola citizens appeared also, and expressed their confidence in him by furnishing the necessary bail, $400, for his appearance next Tuesday before Justice Vaughan.

DEAR CORN.

The man arrested Sunday under the name of R. T. Griggs, but whose real name appears to be Dan Kildare, was before Judge Aylesworth yesterday on a charge of stealing five bushels of corn from a K. C. car. He pleaded guilty but offered as extenuating circumstances that he had no work, and no money with which to buy feed for his team. If he had been hungry he was liable to be fined for cruelty to animals, and so he yielded to temptation and took the corn. The judge intimated that the charge ought to have been made more serious than mere larceny, as it was entering a car, and the law in such cases made the penalty a heavy one, and so fined him $100 and costs, and in default of payment ordered he be confined until he can pay or be put into the penitentiary. The man's family is to be pitied, his wife having just given birth to a child, and he having no means or provision. It is claimed, though, that the man has been pilfering cars before, and the railways are determined to do something to stop their losses.

OTHER MATTERS.

The two nutes arrested for pilfering at Eiseman's store were released yesterday. Mr. Eiseman declining to prosecute the boys.

The cases of W. H. Beck and J. Kilfeather for assaulting Henry Spetman were called yesterday, but continued until next Friday. Beck claims that neither he nor Kilfeather assaulted Spetman. He says that he had a little trouble over an old feud with another man, and that this man gave him a slight blow, whereat he was going for him, when Spetman grabbed him (Beck) and choked him, and thereupon a general row broke out, chairs being thrown and spittoons tossed about, there being ten or twelve men in the office who engaged in it, while he and Kilfeather intruded out and away without taking any further part in the melee or striking a blow. Such is Beck's statement, and he insists that it was some other fellow who struck Spetman.

Justice Schurz yesterday discharged Mary Conway, who was arrested for making threats towards Thomas Holder, and held her husband, Thomas Conway, in bonds to keep the peace.

Two other cases grew out of the trial of the Conway case. It is alleged that while the witnesses in the case were excluded from the room during the trial, two of them, John Pendegrat and James Brown, listened at the door, and thus heard some of the evidence, and on being called to the stand themselves, swore they had heard none of the evidence. They have been arrested for perjury and given $50 bonds each to appear in court to-day.

C. H. Mason, who was recently arrested for getting drunk, and dancing around his wife with a butcher-knife, and who was then let down easy because of his penitence and promise of reform, was before the bar yesterday for being drunk, and got off again with the usual fine.

All the latest novelties in Spring Hats can be seen at L. C. Arbuthnot's.

A HARD HARDWARE MAN.

He Collects a Large Amount of Money From One of his Old Customers Without Authority.

B. Grahl, whose place of business is on upper Broadway, has dealt with a Cincinnati firm for some years, and has been in the habit of paying his bill to one of its travelling men who has visited this city at intervals for several years. It has been about ten months since he was here before, but not having learned that he was no longer in the employ of the house, Mr. Grahl had no suspicion when he appeared here Friday last and collected of him the amount due, about $350. Sunday night, however, he received a telegram from the house saying that the man was not in their employ and telling him not to pay any money to him. The telegram came too late, the money and the man both having gone.

OLDS' WAGON WORKS.

A Branch House Added to the Enterprise of Council Bluffs.

The Olds' Wagon Works, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, have just completed arrangements for carrying a large stock of their celebrated wagons in Council Bluffs. For the present their office will be with Shurgart, Waite & Wils. They will be represented by Mr. Frank Lawrence as general agent, and all correspondence should be addressed to the "Olds' Wagon Works, Council Bluffs, Iowa," or Fort Wayne, Ind. This popular wagon has made for itself such a reputation in the west that the company have been compelled to take this step, in order that their numerous customers may be accommodated at once.

Mr. Finis Cartwright, the superintendent of the works, has been in Council Bluffs for several days completing these arrangements. Olds' now ranks among the leading wagon-makers. The demand is steadily increasing, and Mr. Cartwright was shrewd enough to see that Council Bluffs is to be the great distributing point for the great west, and hence the arrangement just completed. Mr. Cartwright left Sunday morning for Denver.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY.

A Number of Suggestions from the Mayor on Various Matters.

The Doings of the Evening.

The city council met in regular session last evening. The minutes were read and a large number of bills allowed.

Mayor Vaughan pulled out his little memorandum book on which he dots down from time to time matters attracting his attention, and with this as a reminder made a number of suggestions to the council. He wanted the council to provide a suitable office for the mayor, as contemplated by the code, and that rooms be provided in connection therewith for the different committees to meet in, and that telephone and other conveniences be provided. He also suggested that the city could issue legally $50,000 to $60,000 of additional bonds, and that the finance committee shall investigate the same, as he believed it would be wise to issue said bonds, making them at five per cent. interest, and use the proceeds to build a market house and appropriate city offices, and in taking up other bonds now drawing seven and eight per cent. interest. A city pound is also needed, with buildings, fences, etc., that the ordinance ought to be enforced in regard to stock and dogs.

Among other matters to which attention was called was the need of a hydrant corner of Market street and avenue E; the desire of citizens for a sidewalk grade from Oakland avenue to Market street on avenue E on the north side; the need of a lamp post corner of Market street and avenue E; the need of a railing to the bridge over the Pettibone ditch; the desire of Mr. Tipton and Mr. Mackin to have their alley opened; that the street leading into the southwest part of the city, opposite Mr. Cartwright's residence, was in a dangerous condition, and also that parties who had done street filling were daily called on for information as to what they could do with the tickets, the contractors failing to pay them for their work. The mayor recommended that as a bond had been taken by the city, the attorney look into the matter and see if justice might not be done the workmen and teamsters.

All the members were present except Alderman McMahon. C. R. Scott appeared for the Oakland avenue property owners, and the city clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for filling side streets and low lots as ordered by the council some time ago.

The petitions for widening sidewalks on North Main street was granted. The petition of W. B. Vaughan whose company to be recognized as a volunteer company by the city, was referred. The petition for S. Cobalt to be appointed policeman at Bayliss' park, was referred. Also one for John Darben. Three or four petitions were presented by William Engle, asking for damages to his property, by reason of change of grade, and also on account of railroad track running in front of his property. Referred.

Complaint was made that very poor meals were being furnished the prisoners in the city jail, and the committee was instructed to investigate and make a new contract.

A communication was received from the Union Pacific that as soon as the weather permitted it would fix the track on Union avenue so as to run the ferry cars up to Broadway, and asking that the council rescind its resolution threatening to commence suit against the company for failing to do so. This resolution was rescinded.

The chief of police reported thirty-one arrests between March 15th and date. The city treasurer's report showed $16,718 on hand. The city clerk's report showed the receipts of his office for March to have been $943.

The special committee reported against putting in a hydrant on North Main street. Concurred in.

The council is to meet Thursday evening as a board of equalization.
