The postoffice hours on Sunday are so that none but the ungodly are given a fair show to get their mail. The office is open only from 10;30 a. m., to 12, just the hours when the church folks are expected to be in pected to be in the pews, so that the prompt caurch goer gets no chance for his mail.

Mrs. Westcott, whose husband is about to start a trunk factory here, is an accom plished linguist, and at their old home in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, had private classes in German and French and met with much success. She is considering the advisability of organizing classes here, The May term of the superior court There seems to be an excellent opening here for such a teacher.

Chief Templeton has been served with notices signed by the mayor and Aldermen Mynster, Geise, James and McMahon, informing him that C. D. Walters is elected chief, and ordering him to turn over the property in his possession; but he refuses to do so, claiming that he has not been removed, has not resigned, and that Walters has not been legally elected.

One would infer from the denial that he had not appointed any special police, but he did appoint three-one at each house. He says that they had no instructions to interfere with the department or its workings, but simply to protect property, as a water main had burst and there might be a great fire. Rather gauzy.

The interior of Mrs. E. Anderson's home on Madison street has been beautified greatly of late by decorations and adornments done by Mr. D. A. Benedict. The rooms present a very attractive appearance indeed, the woodwork being grained, the walls papered and the ceiling finished in oil, the designs being beautiful indeed, and the execution very skliful. Mrs. Anderson may well feel proud for such a house, and Mr. Bene dict certainly merits praise for the skill and taste shown, he having done the work with his own hands. The rooms will compare in elegance and beauty with any in the city.

The aldermen are blaming everybody but themselves for the agitation over the fire department, and the demoralization of the force. If it had not been for the The city council meets this afternoon action of the four aldermen themselves, at two o'clock to hear the dreary reading would there have been any such trouble, certainly not. They defied the wishes of probably not attend to the other regular the department, the wishes of the citi-

Whatever may be thought of the justice of either Templeton or Waltersaction, or how much either or both are to blame, the council cannot escape the censure due them for plunging the department into such state of disorder.

Mayor Vaughan wastes a half-column of the Nonpareil in trying to induce the public that all is lovely, and that the "department is in good shape to fight fire, and citizens need have no alarm. assuring words are all well enough, perhaps, but lit will take more than Vsughn's say-so to quiet the nerves of citizens so long as there are two men claim ing the office of chief, and the department demoralized and divided by the action of the council.
