A terrible report comes from Galland's Grove to the following effect: It is said that a young man, only twenty years of age, by the name of Culver, was out riding with a young lady whose name we which all, both ladies and gentlemen, are have not learned. At a certain place in most cordially invited to be present. the grove he drew his revolver, leveled it at her head and compelled her to descend from the buggy at the peril of her life. Having accomplished his villainous purpose he compelled her to get into the buggy with him, He then drove until he arrived at a neighbor's house, when the young lady jumped from the buggy and appealed for protection. He again leveled his revolver at her and swore he would kill any one who dared protect would kill any one who dared protect al, but at night was taken slightly ill, her. He is now under arrest, but furtaired and by 10 o'clock in the morning death had come, before the friends realized Mr. L. Swain, who recently returned from Grove township, relates the above. Eppstein was here a give the stricken ones higher hopes and Des Moines house, and here got into an as represented. altercation with Pete Drusy, which was aired up in the BEE at the time. Now comes the following from a Des Moines

Moses Eppstein, a trusted and popular traveling salesmen in the employ of Rice, Lotham & Co., of this city, has absconded. He has been with the firm since with him $100 in cash, a thousand mile ticket on the Northwestern. April 24 he telegraphed for more money and mileage, belonged, and he will now have to stand Valley. April 26 he wrote the firm from there that he had had bad luck, and had either lost the money or had his pockets picked. He asked that his mail be forwarded to Sioux Falls, Dakota, and said that he had to borrow five dollars to go ahead with.

This last action aroused suspicion, and an investigation proved that he had not been doing his usual work on the road and his sample trunk was discovered at the Northwestern depot in this city. It had been checked from Missouri Junction and arrived here April 26, on train 52, check numbered 12,055. Delivery by check was at once forbidden, and yet remains in the baggage room. afterwards came to light that Eppstein had pawned the check with Cheney Bros., proprietors of the Cheney hotel, of Missouri Valley, to secure a debt of $10. Having lost his samples he went on, and on Sunday the following was received

"You will find the check for the trunk Cheeney's hotel, Missouri Valley. The trunk is either in Des Moines or Missouri Valley. The check at Cheneys.' The check is No. 12 055. I have disgraced myself. Will write to you from St. Louis as soon as I get there. Nothing has been heard from him since. He will not be prosecuted unless property, the walk to be of a new sort of he comes back. Cards, wine and women are to blame for his downfall.

CAGING CANINES.

A Little Spurt Toward Enforcing the Bow-Wow-Wow Ordinance,

Now that the mayor has issued a proclamation and the council has passed an ordinance, and a pound has been built, an attempt is being made to enforce the boycotting of dogs.

The new ordinance in one respect is a strong one. It makes it unlawful for any dog to run at large at any time without being muzzled, "nor at any other time of the year." This ought to corner most of the time. Another section provides that the time. Another section provides that "it is the duty of the mayor at any time to issue his proclamation directing the owners of dogs to confine or muzzle their calculated, dogs for such time as he thinks proper, and any of the canine specie found running at large without being so muzzled during the time named in the proclamation shall be killed, whether the dog has been registered and fees paid, or notify the owner or owners." This section esthe owner or owners." pecially as regards notification of owners, has that peculiar clearness which charac terizes the legislation of the present council

The ordinance provides that a license of $1.25 must be paid on each male dog, and $2.50 on each female dog, and the metallic check fastened on the neck of the animal, and the marshal is instructed to mpound all dogs found running at large without such a check. A rack or cage fitted onto an express wagon has been prepried and is now going the rounds with expert dogcatchers, who, by deftly throwing a wire about the neck of the unsuspecting canine, lasso him, throw him into the cage and cart him off to the pound. Here the dogs are kept for two and for feeding the dog. If not redeemed the dogs on the third day are offered for sale; unless receiving a bid equal to the amount due on the dog, the slaughter neglecting or refusing to pay the license is liable to a fine not to exceed $25.

Any person who has a fierce dog which while at large bites anybody, is liable to a like fine, unless he kills the dog, and the marshal is instructed to kill on sight the marshal is instructed to kill on sight any such animal found running at large. No one, not even the marshal, is al lowed to prepare or use poison for killing dogs, and if they do may be fined $25.

Yesterday there were a dozen or more dogs put into the pound, and the work is still going on. Of course there were many complaints on the part of dog owners, but it is hoped that there will be a general cleaning up. Those who have dogs which they value at all, can better afford to look after them than to allow their biting those who do not want dogs
