

THE DAILY BEE.

Saturday Morning, May 10.

PRINTERS WANTED.

A number of good printers can find steady employment at this office.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The surface grade is being put on Fourteenth street. The sewer pipe was being put in between Tenth and Eleventh streets yesterday. Fred Anderson has returned to this city having accepted a position with the Omaha Carpet company.

The May party of the A. O. H. Band will take place at Crouse's hall on Tuesday evening next. A concert will be given in connection with the ball. A new and revised list of the names of telephone subscribers was issued by the company today.

There will be a regular meeting of Ruth Rebekah degree, lodge No. 1, in Odd Fellows' hall, at 8 p. m., Saturday evening, May 10th, 1884. A full attendance is requested.

Dr. Stone was the first man to reach Mr. Salisbury after his fearful cut Thursday, and held the bleeding vessels nearly five minutes before other medical assistance arrived. Mr. J. D. Morse, formerly with C. A. Palmer, of Minneapolis, has connected himself with the merchant tailor and men's furnishing establishment of Ed. B. Williams.

Rev. C. W. Savage must have a corner on the marrying business. It will be observed that he has more marriage notices than all the rest of the ministers in the city together. Fred Wirth has just received notice that his application for a pension has been allowed.

The boys in the police court Thursday morning was not Willie Burns but Henry Burns. Willie Burns is a steady industrious lad and has never been found in any bad scrap. The hook and ladder truck was run down to lower Harnoy street Thursday eve, and the boys indulged in a little practice with the extension ladders.

Coroner Maul yesterday took from Sheriff Miller, on a writ of replevin, the stock of goods belonging to A. Harris, seized by a deputy sheriff Thursday. The store is now being inventoried and when the inventory is completed, if Harris gives bonds, he can open his store and proceed with business.

R. A. Lambert S. J., the distinguished professor of Creighton college, will deliver a lecture on "Spiritualism" May 28, at Boyd's Opera house, the proceeds to go to the treasury of the Holy Family School. The lecture will be illustrated. The wellknown ability of the lecturer and the worthy object are a guarantee in advance of a large audience.

J. W. Woods, of Wayne, is at the Millard. Hon. D. H. Wheeler and wife, of Plattsmouth are at the Millard. R. M. Turner and F. C. Green, of Lincoln, are guests of the Millard.

C. Scoley, of Crete, George Burke, of North Platte are guests at the Metropolitan. Fred. Renner, of Hastings, Neb., and D. Anderson, of Columbus, are at the Metropolitan.

M. A. McKinnon, of Plattsmouth. A. H. Green, of Fremont are stopping at the Metropolitan. Jesse Morris, of Hastings, H. H. Lyman and C. W. Hoffman, of Genoa, are at the Metropolitan.

J. R. Thomas, of Madison, W. C. Burkhardt, of Marshalltown, Ia., and A. W. Murdoch, of Grand Island, are registered at the Metropolitan.

THE BOYCOTTER.

What an Independent Citizen Thinks of the Scurrilous He addit.

Editor of THE BEE.

About the most foolish display ever made by known beings in this country is a so-called paper, "The Boycotter" published in this city to-day presumably by a gang of scoundrels, without the moral courage of acknowledging any responsibility by signing their names. Or may be names were omitted because some of those interested in the enterprise have lived for years in places where the state exalts the name for a number and are still scared of seeing their names in print. But to come to my object, as a person I wish to state that I have got no interest in the matter of the BEE strike, and am not used to meddling with matters in which I have got no interest.

But when a gang of loafers insult me, whether directly or indirectly, then I propose to have my little say. I was not born in this country, came here from one where liberties, like those that we enjoy in this glorious Union, are unknown, so I am a foreigner, or, as it seems, in the eyes of those scoundrels who edited the "Boycotter," a criminal. "Down with the Foreigner," the old war cry of the know-nothings seems to be the red tape in the rope of those fellows, and you can depend on it, that is just the rope with which they will hang themselves. I am a foreigner, but for all that claim that I love this country as much as any of those scoundrels, who, in crying down the foreigner, abuse the memory of those noble foreigners who came here to rescue this great country from the hands of the savages, and open up to the world, to civilization, America, the wonder of the world, the admiration of everybody; a country which is open alike to the foreigner, coming from any part of the globe so long as he does his duty as a citizen, no matter whether he comes as Bohemian, German or Irishman, independent of the fact that he belongs to the Christian, Jewish creed or to no church whatever. I was born a Jew myself, (I hope the "Boycotter" will forgive the sin, as I am innocent and had nothing to do with it) for the last twenty years I have had no religion, but I do not want a gang of loafers and scoundrels to backguard that belief in which my father died and which was the last relief of his dying moments.

Now, Mr. Editor, I hope you will pardon this rather lengthy letter, but the reading of the "Boycotter" was too much for me and I thought it would not hurt to show these fellows what an independent man thinks of them.

H. F. OMAHA, May 8th, 1884.

G. A. R. MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Preparations Being Made for a Grand Parade on That Day--A General Invitation is Extended to Organized Societies to Participate.

At the last regular meeting of Custer Post, a committee was appointed with full power to act, to complete arrangements for the observance of "Decoration Day," or memorial services, on the 30th of this month. It is intended to make a grand parade through the principal streets of the city before going to the cemetery, where the services will take place, consisting of speeches, music, and the impressive ceremony of the G. A. R. over graves of dead comrades. In order that the parade shall be a success a general invitation is extended to all organized societies to participate with them on that occasion.

Col. Carlin, commanding Fort Omaha, has promised to do all in his power to help the boys along, and a large turnout from the barracks is expected. The committee has secured the services of Hon. A. J. Poppleton to deliver the address at the cemetery; other speakers will be heard from, notably, Col. Richard Burke. A committee of ladies has been appointed to visit the patriotic citizens of our city to solicit a little aid to help meet the incidental expenses of the occasion. The details and further work of the committee will be reported in due time.

A WORD OF WARNING.

The Victims of W. A. Pinkham Desire to Warn Other Parties Against This Man.

We, the undersigned, who have lately been employed in the making of macrame lace, in Crouse's block, make the following public statement of the facts concerning the conduct of E. D. Barrett and William A. Pinkham: That they represented to us that they had leased the rooms for one year, whereas the fact is they had only leased them for one month.

That they agreed to teach us to make Macrame lace, on payment of $3.00. That we paid the money, and that they uddenly and secretly left town, and that many of our number have not been taught as agreed. That they agreed to pay us for the lace made by us, and which they kept, but that they did not pay us, but left town, taking the lace, and owing us from one to fifteen dollars each. That they represented to us that after learning the lace-making we could have steady and lucrative employment by that representation they obtained the money from us, to raise which many of us borrowed from our friends, and deprived ourselves of the necessities of life. That they publicly advertised to give steady employment, and so obtained a large sum of money from over one hundred women, who relied on their statement. That we have learned that this same plan is being worked by the same men in St. Joe, and that we being unable from our limited means to do anything more than denounce the men who have so wronged us, ask the publication of this statement in the Omaha BEE, and that the papers of St. Joe and Kansas City be requested to copy. LADIES SWINDLED BY E. D. BARRETT AND W. A. PINKHAM. Durkee's Salad Dressing is composed of the freshest, purest, and choicest condiments money will buy. It surpasses any that can be made at home, is cheaper, saves labor and all anxiety.

THE MYSTERY UNMASKED.

The Cause of Robert Levitt's Death Now Fully Known.

The Queer Quartette of Omaha Now Reduced to Two.

The Unknown Man Now Known to be One of the Notorious Four.

By a singular discovery the mystery shrouding Robert Levitt, the man whose death, in an old log hut on the present site of the Union stock yards, has caused so much comment by the press, has at last been solved and the matter forever set at rest. It has always been thought he was one of a band of outlaws who INFERRED THIS CITY last winter and lived on the bottoms with a gang of desperate and disreputable companions. The facts recently brought to light prove this conclusively as well as the manner of his death. In the issue of THE BEE of April 21st, the facts and circumstances concerning his taking of were given at considerable length. Other discoveries have been made since, which in part go to prove the correctness of the statement. The indisposition of those acquainted with the truth to tell it has led the reporter into a variance from the facts in part as is now known, they took place in the NIGHT OF THE DEPARTURE of the four men from the bottoms. It was stated in this issue above mentioned that three of these four men were afterwards seen in southern Kansas. Here all traces of them were lost by those who have been at work upon the case. They were last seen in Barbour county in that state and were making towards the sand hills on the north side of the Cimarron river. Here the detective, who in a great measure from curiosity has been following up this case, was baffled. It seemed as if they had VANISHED INTO THE ETHIOPIAN AIR and were gone forever. On Thursday morning's train from the west was a passenger, a nearly middle aged man whose life for the last fifteen years has been spent on the plains of northern Texas and western Kansas as a cow boy. He was on his way to a little village in southern Ohio, Smith Center, whether he had been called by the death of his brother. This gentleman whose name is William Palmer, stopped over from morning until evening at the St. Joseph Hotel near the depot in this city. Here he engaged in conversation with the loungers about the hotel, relating his experiences and adventures upon the plains to his listeners. Among his various narrations was one of a VERY RECENT EXPERIENCE, concerning the finding of a wounded man near the Canadian river in the Indian territory, in which he often spoke of Omaha. He related the wounded man's story from their knowledge of the circumstances. Palmer's listeners knew the subject of his narrative was one of the notorious four. The baffled detective was sent for to whom Palmer told the following story:

Mr. Palmer began by saying that for the past seven years he had been in charge of a large cattle ranch in Moore county, Texas, belonging to a firm named Porter & Rogers. On the 18th day of April last he left his hacienda to ride out on this range in search of a pair of horses which had pulled their picket pine the night before and strayed away. He had not traveled more than ten miles from the ranch when one of THOSE TERRIBLE STORMS which sweep over that section of country at this time of year compelled him to seek shelter in a sod shanty at a short distance from the trail. Upon entering the hut he was horrified to see a man lying supine in a corner upon a bunch of straw apparently in the THROES OF DEATH.

Palmer turned his attention immediately toward rendering the prostrate man some assistance. It was soon learned the sick man had been lying in his present place and position for several days and was suffering from severe inflammation. The position of the man was changed by Palmer, and his clothing aridly dried him the greatest possible comfort. The sick man was unable to move a muscle without suffering the greatest pain, being almost unable to speak. After ministering to his wants as best he could, Palmer left him and went to his ranch which was distant nearly ten miles. A team of mules and a wagon were secured there and SENT OUT AFTER THE SICK MAN.

He was brought into the ranch and tenderly cared for by Palmer and his free hearted but ignorant cow boys. Upon examining the sick man Palmer saw two ugly wounds were found near his groin. They were evidently caused by knife stabs and were greatly inflamed. The bedridden man refused for some time to tell how they were received. After being imperturbed by his nurses he said that on the night of the 1st of March he and two of his companions, at that time in Omaha became engaged in a VIOLENT QUARREL through drink. Weapons were freely used, and the fight ended by his receiving two stabs in the groin from one of his comrades.

One of his companions, known among them as English Bob, was at that time suffering from internal hemorrhage, and was then very weak from a long and continued illness. The night of the quarrel was the one agreed upon several days before for their departure from Omaha. Word had been sent them here that detectives were upon their track, and would soon be in the city. Fear of punishment compelled them to put their plan into execution. About midnight English Bob and the wounded man, known, he said, in the mines as Mexico Jim, were helped by their two able companions to walk out of the city ALONG THE LINE OF THE U. P. TRACK.

about three miles to an old hut where it was thought security for a short time would be found. Here English Bob from his violent exercise was taken worse. His companions, however, stood by him through the day and a part of the following night. When it was seen by them that he would not be able to travel further they tenderly wrapped him in his blanket to protect him from the inclemency of the weather, which was then very cold in the darkness of midnight his three companions hid him a parting adieu and LEFT HIM TO SOLITUDE.

From the old hut they went south to a little town not very far distant whose name they could not remember. Here, after a stay of three or four days they were advised from the papers of this city of the death of their companion. Learning that their presence in that place had become noted they determined to push for old Mexico where it was hoped the "demons" of the law would not follow them. The three men struck out for the nearest railroad, where, boarding a train they secured a ride in a box car to Emporia, Kansas. From Emporia they went to Dodge City where they were compelled to leave the train. They struck toward old Mexico. Mexico Jim's wounds were continually aggravated from his constant exercise. They traveled nearly one hundred miles on foot when his wounds began to pain him so severely that he could go no farther. He was left by his companions to die, when he was questioned by Mr. Palmer. Mexico Jim, on being questioned why he and his companions came to Omaha, said they had been driven out of the mines in lower New Mexico for crimes committed there, the nature of which HE WOULD NOT REVEAL.

Mr. Palmer stated when he left the ranch the wounded man was lying at death's door. The wounds which in themselves were not fatal had become severely aggravated, and would probably result in death. These facts related by Mr. Palmer sustain conclusively the theory that Robert Levitt was one of the four who lived in the bottom at Mt. Dawson. Time will probably bring some of them to justice when it will be learned why they chose to leave the mines and spend the winter in the bottoms in this city in obscurity.

A Policeman traced up, D. F. Collins, member of police, seventh ward, Reading, Pa., calls this way: "Suffered severely from rheumatism; nothing did me any good until I tried Thomson's Electric Oil. It is a pleasure to recommend it."

"A BUNCH OF KEYS."

A laughable Performance at Boyd's Last Night. Every seat in the Boyd's held an anxious occupant when the curtain was rung up on the first scene in Chas. R. Hoyt's side splitting comedy "A Bunch of Keys, or the Hotel," as presented for the first time in this city. The piece is called a comedy but why is like the pedigree of that much abused quadruped the mule, shrouded in mystery. It is simply a melange of comical situations and specialties designed to display the vaudeville abilities of the people in the cast. Messrs. Sangor and Edwin have placed in the cast none but artists in their lines. The dancing of Marietta Nash was the finest ever seen on the boards of this theatre. The "Toddy" of Miss Lena Merville who has scores of admirers in Omaha, having supported Miss Clarence in "Chips" some time ago, was a delightful piece of work and met with a prompt recognition from the delighted audience. It is hardly fair to particularly any special act or artist in such an excellent company. It is without doubt the most laughable performance given in the Boyd this season.

Why be Downcast. True, you are in a miserable condition--you are weak, pale and nervous. You cannot sleep at night, or enjoy your waking hours; yet why lose heart? Get at the drugist's a bottle of Durkock's Kidney Pills. They will restore you to health and peace of mind.

DIAMOND SPARKS.

An Exhibition Game of Ball to be Played This Afternoon. The lovers of base ball will this afternoon be given a free entertainment which will doubtless awaken some of the enthusiasm of former years. The regular U. P. nine will give an exhibition game at their grounds on St. Mary's avenue, facing the change battery of the club. This battery, consisting of Durkee, the old pitcher of the B. & M.'s, and Jamison, catcher, will be supported by the strongest nine that could be elected. Everybody should turn out and by his presence remind the boys that he is still interested in this great exciting sport.

The following are the names of the players and their positions: Durkee, Pitcher; Jamison, Catcher; First Base, Baird; McKelvey, Second Base; Brandt, Third Base; Faulkner, Short Stop; Miller, Second; Erye, Center Field; Nash, Chamberlain; Left Field, Bryan.

Do not forget the game will be called at 3 p. m. sharp. Speak Right Up. "Have tried 7 different Oils for croup and colds, and find the best remedy I have ever used in my family." Wm. Kay, 510 Plymouth Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

Juveniles in the Diamond. A lively and interesting game of ball was played on Thursday at the B. & M. grounds between the nine of Creighton college and the High school. The High school club were defeated by the score of 14 to 10. The playing on both sides was somewhat faulty but notwithstanding the score was well kept down. The High school boys left the field quite disappointed as defeat was not looked for by them. The game was largely attended.

Excitement. "What causes the great rush at Schroder & Becht's Drug Store?" The free distribution of sample bottles of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, the most popular remedy for Cough, Colds, Consumption and Bronchitis now on the market. Regular size 50 cents and 1.00.
