THE CHRISTIAN YOUNG MEN The District Convention of the Y.M. C.A. Fairly Opened.

The district convention of the Y.M.C.A. opened yesterday afternoon, at the rooms of the association on North Main street. Only a few of the delegates had arrived at the hour of opening, but the session nevertheless proved interesting. Among those present were:

Robert Weidensall, of Chicago; Daniel Sloan, the secretary of the Des Moines Y. M. C. A.; Dr. Payne, president of the Lincoln association; J. J. Van Zenter, of Orange City, Iowa, and Jno. Jengeward, of the same place; Secretary Geo. A. Joplin, of Omaha; Mr. Whiting, of Fairfield, Iowa; B. L. Webber, W. Curtiss and W. S. Prenting, of Tabor,

At the afternoon session interesting eports were given of various conventions held elsewhere, and a general discussion advertising. Those present evidently believed in advertising, and many valuable suggestions were given as to this feature of help in the work.

Last night there was a short street ervice of song, and the regular session held in the Baptist church at which ad-dresses were given by Mr. Weidensall and Dr. Paine.

It has been decided to hold to-day's sessions in the Baptist church instead of in the rooms of the association. The ladies as well as the men tolk are cordially invited to attend all the sessions of the association.

There will be an evening session this evening. To-morrow afternoon there will be a service for the ladies only, at 4 o'clock at the Baptist church, and tomorrow afternoon, at the same hour, a similar service at the opera house for the young men. To-morrow evening there will be a grand union service at the opera house.

High Compliment. e last issue of the Musical Critic Mueller, of this city, is the general vestern agent: It is safe to say that there is no firm in he country that has made greater progress during the past year than that of Hardman, Downing & Peck. They have made many valuable improvements in their instruments, and are constantly striving, regardless of expense, to better heir piano in every way.

Owing to the many improvements made and the best quality of workmanship and material used in the piano, the firm have been compelled to raise the price on every style. This is only just, and all their agents are business who at once see the necesstiy of this advance in order to maintain their present high standing, and are perfectly satisfied, assuring the firm that they will push their pianos as hard as ever.

They have just completed a splendid oncert grand to be used at the May fesival and are at work on a small parlor the public.

The firm of Hardman, Dowling & Peck deserve much credit for their unattained, and we believe that under its present management the firm will continie to advance the popularity of the Hardman pianos.

She was only eighteen years of age, and leaves besides her mother two nothers and a sister. Her father died several years ago, and Mr. Peter Bechtel has been serving as administrator of the estate. "Do you sell much of it."
"Do you sell much of it."
"Do 1! Well, rather. Look at that row of bottles on the shelf. They're sll sold to Fifth-avenue and Madison-avenue ladies—ladies who ain't actresses, mind you. If you were to suggest such entered into of means and methods of advertising. Those present evidently believed in advertising, and many valuable auricomus, (that was the name of the stuff in the days of yore,) and I asked her to what theatre I should send it. 'You insulting wretch!' she cried, say such a thing again and I'll scream as loud as I can.' That was probably very loud, judging from the tone in which she made the remark."

"Well, do ladies admit to their friends that they dye their hair?"
"Ye gods and little fishes!" ejaculated he of the razor, "they'd die first. We send the bottles to their houses under wrong names and without a vestige of label. Look here," and he took up a bottle, "what does that say?" The youth also took up the bottle and read on the outside paper: "Miss Blank read on the outside paper: "Miss Blank Blank, Fifth-avenue. Eye lotion." "Yes, eye lotion," said the barber. "Luckily for he", she enjoys bad health in the eyes, and makes use of that fact when she orders her golden dye. Some ladies prefer it as 'tome,' 'beef and iron,' 'tooth-ache essence,' 'redivivus,' in fact, anything but what it is." 'Is there any difficulty in applying the wash?" "That's accordin'," was the laconic reply. When a 1-dy has studied the directions on the bottle and listened to the barber's prophetic words all goes cany. But the trouble is they're too nervous and excitable to read directions. Last Wednesday week I sold a bottle to a lady. On Friday she came down here in great construction. 'Good heavens! Mr. Barber,' says she, 'You've played a trick on me, you nasty, bad man. I can't got the thing to color my hair; and what will people say if they see me getting dark again, and so soon! It's real mean of you,' and she burst into tears. It was rather affecting, I confess, and tears came into my own eys-from laugh ing. Do you know what she'd done She'd just poured some wash on her hands, like hair oil, and rubbed it on Bless your life, it must be done with a sponge, and carefully rubbed in. One lady, after buying a bottle went out of town, and two days after I received a dispatch from Long Branch, I shall always remember it. How a Planto Capture Both Prima Donnas for the MetropotanOr era-House Crime to Naught.

New York Times.

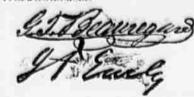

The Directors of the Metropotitan Opera-house have not yet reached a decision as to next season's policy, but they have not been idle, and one of their move toward giving a brilliant series of Fall and Spring representations of Italian opera is worth mentioning in print. The scheme involved the engagement for the new house of both Mme. Patti and Mme. Nilsson and it was conducted as fallows: In the first place, an estimate was ask

This was furnished, and the weekly cost for grand, which will soon be presented to four performances, to include all e-penses connected with the same, was put down at $15,000. The manager who supplied the figures was then requested tiring energy and the success they have to discard the two "stock prima donnas upon whom he counted and assertain whether Mmes. Patti and Nilsson could be engaged in their stead. The manager first waiteduon Mme. Patti. however, added that it the thing, was to be done, would be well if it were done quicklyor used Italian words to that effect Acting upon the hint, the impresario and ambassader hastened to Mme. Nilsson very suddenly yesterday, shortly after and inqured whether she sawany obstanoon. She had been suffering with con-sumption, but was able to be about, and ment with Mme. Patti. Mme. Nilsson's keen eye detected none. The manager immediatly reported the situation to the Directors of the Metropolitan, and these leath. Nilsson, the conference only lacking the back ground of a few natural springs of mineral water to suggest an interview of crowded heads at Gastein or Ems. Matters having reached this stage, it became necessary to find an impresario, and the ambassador who undertook the negotiations was tendered $100, 000 subaidy toward 60 representations, with the understanding that Mme. Patti and Nilsson should appear on alternate nights. The ambassador, calculating that the salaries of the two prima donnas for the term named would be $210,000, and that the current expenses would be about $150,000 besides Some of the Experiences of a Barber | without taking into account the matinee performance which would necessarily be gived with one of the great prima donnas "What lovely hair that la'y has, and on Saturday, quickly declined the what a delightful color!" remarked an in enious youth to an up-town barber, the met with a simflar fate at the hands of ther afternoon.
