

THE DAILY BEE.

Friday Morning, May 23.

PRINTERS WANTED.

A number of good printers can be found steady employment at this office.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There will be a regular meeting of Ruth Rebekah Degree, Lodge No. 1, in Odd Fellows hall, at 8 p. m. Saturday evening, May 24th, 1884. A full attendance is requested.

Invitations have been issued for an entertainment to be given by the pupils of the Institute, including an examination of the first class of semi-deaf taught by the Aural System, at the institute, Friday, May 23d, 3 p. m. 1884.

Nell Austin, who was arrested Wednesday morning, was last evening fined $10 and costs by Judge Benke for using profane and obscene language upon the streets, Delia Green for resisting an officer, was fined $20 and costs, and sentenced to one day in jail.

Six disturbers of the peace were in police court yesterday morning. Three of them were fined $5 each and costs, one paid and the other two were sent to jail. Two cases were continued and the sixth was fined $1 and costs which he paid.

County Clerk Lavitt has just had made a book called the "Original Flat Book." Within the lids of this book will be placed all the original plats of the additions of Omaha, dating back as far as 1857. It will be a valuable book of reference as there will always be more or less litigation in regard to these matters.

About a quarter past six a. m. yesterday an alarm of fire was turned in from box 42. The blaze was in Theodore Olson's iron and brass foundry, on Eleventh street, between Douglas and Dodge. The fire originated from the furnace. The loss was nominal. Mr. Olson seems to be in hard luck, as it will be remembered that this same place was nearly destroyed by fire a few months since.

Howard Green, for planning and assisting in the theft at Henley, Haynes & Van Arsdale's store, was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the county jail on bread and water. Will Henderson and Jerry Kernan, for assisting in the job, were each sentenced to twenty-five days on bread and water. Jerry Kernan will go free if he makes a few more trips to the county jail on such beautiful fare.

Talk about the prosperity of THE BEE employees. Within the last six months no less than four of them have had their families increased by the advent of an infant prettily. The last candidate for congratulation is none other than A. H. Smith, manager of the advertising of this paper. Yesterday morning, a daughter put in an appearance at his house and when tied up in a flannel and hung upon one end of the scales, was found to weigh just eight pounds and a half. If every thing works smoothly, in the course of seventeen or eighteen years, when Smith shall have become a millionaire, he will have an extra good bill each month on account of a certain young man. However, Smith will not begrudge that and he has been so happy all day that he has been taking "ads" at half price.

TEXAS MURDERERS.

Two of Them Pass Through Omaha in Charge of an Officer.

Returning to the Scenes of Their Crimes Where They Have Been Indicted for Murder.

Mention was made in Wednesday's paper that two murderers had passed through Omaha on their way to Texas, where they were wanted for trial. Mr. Dougherty, of Crete, who had a talk with both of the men, called at the BEE and related to a reporter the conversation which passed between himself and the murderers.

The two men were Robert and Harry White, brothers, one 24 and the other 28 years of age. On the 1st day of February, 1884, Robert shot and killed Jack Woods, a colored man, in Boston county, Texas. Harry killed Harry Taylor on the 1st day of April, 1884, in the same county.

After committing the above-named crimes the two murderers fled, and were pursued by Deputy-Sheriff W. R. Scourry, who followed them into Colorado. He visited a number of towns in that state, after which he travelled over the greater part of Wyoming. Failing to find him, he came to Nebraska, and Monday, while in North Platte, he ran across Harry, who happened to be asleep at the time, and secured him. It was an unexpected meeting to both parties. Robert was working for D. H. Sheedy in North Platte, and was also secured.

In his talk with the men, they both acknowledged to Mr. Dougherty that they had committed the crimes with which they were charged, but each claimed that he killed his man in self-defense.

Robert claimed that he was a constable and had a warrant for the arrest of Jack Woods and that the negro resisted arrest and in his efforts to take him he shot him. He said that he gave himself up and that after his hearing he was released without being required to give bail. He remained there a few days, but some of his friends advised him to leave the country, which he did.

Harry stated that he and the man Taylor were in the road at night, and Taylor frightened his horse. They began shooting at each other, and getting the drop upon Taylor, he shot him in the side, killing him. He claims that he either had to shoot Taylor or be shot by him. Immediately after shooting Taylor he fled the country.

The grand jury of Boston county has found a bill against both for murder in the first degree.

The men did not seem to be at all worried about their prospects and took it very coolly and apparently unconcerned. It seems as if there was something a trifle strange in a Texas officer following murderers for two years, but it certainly was a very successful hunt and will stick a whole handful of feathers in Mr. Scourry's cap when he arrives in Boston county with his "two birds killed with one stone."

SUDDEN DEATH.

George E. Allen Dies Very Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Last evening at about 7 o'clock George E. Allen entered Bell's drug store, near the Union Pacific depot and told the clerk he was not feeling well and had great difficulty in breathing. The clerk told him to go into the back room and lie down. He started and entered Dr. Darrow's office in the rear of the store and just as he entered the door he partially fell but was raised and placed in a chair. Dr. Darrow was out at the time and Dr. Galbraith, who happened to be passing, was called in. He hastened to the man's side, but he was beyond the power of medicine and died in a few moments.

Coroner Maul was notified and at once went to the place, and after consultation with the physician, decided that an inquest was not necessary.

George E. Allen was a single man, about 35 years of age. He was a car repairer and was in the employ of the Union Pacific company at this place. He lived with his mother who is past 78 years of age, and to her the news of her son's death comes with almost crushing force. He had one brother, F. M. Allen, who was with him at the time of his death.

For four years past the deceased had been treated with heart disease and during that time was constantly under the doctor's care, and it was that disease which caused his death.

His remains were taken to his brother's home, 908 Leavenworth street.

THE PRIZE FIGHTER'S TRIAL.

The Case Proceeds at Wahoo--No Body Can Identify Hanley--He Will Probably Escap.

Special Dispatch to the BEE. WAHOO, May 22.--The motion to adjourn in [Hanley's] case was overruled this morning at the conclusion of the arguments, and the application for a change of venue was not filed. This afternoon at two o'clock the case was called for trial.

Out of the first thirty jurors a panel was selected, the defendant exercising seven peremptory challenges, and the state three.

Perrigo and Lecker, conductor and engineer of the excursion train that went out to Saunders county on the night that the fight took place, were called, but could not identify Hanley.

Ogley and Fisher, section hands, were next called, but could not say Hanley was one of the contestants.

A gentleman from Omaha took the stand and stated that he saw the ring pitched. He was then asked what was done in the ring, but declined to testify on the ground that the answer might implicate him. A long argument then took place between the counsel the court finally deciding that the witness must answer. The witness then stated that two men called Fell and Hanley went into the ring and fought each other, but was not sure the prisoner was the one called Hanley. His testimony was very vague and uncertain.

Pierce, sheriff of Saunders county, next took the stand, testifying that Hanley was arrested in Plattsmouth and brought by him to Wahoo.

Michael Piggott, the man who was so brutally murdered by William Henry on Tuesday last, are still at the undertaking rooms of Drexel & Maul, packed in ice. A telegram was received from his brother in Chicago yesterday afternoon requesting that the body be kept until he telegraphs again.

The examination of Henry, which was not for yesterday afternoon, was postponed until this afternoon to accommodate Judge Anderson.

IN THE DITCH.

A Street Car Horse Killed at the Corner of Ninth and Farnam.

An accident occurred at the corner of Ninth and Farnam streets yesterday which resulted in the death of a valuable horse, the property of the street car company.

About 8 o'clock car number 12, of the red car line came up Tenth and attempted to turn onto Farnam. Right on the turn the severe trench had been dug and was open to the outer edge of the rails on either side of the track. Planks have been laid across for the horse to travel upon. As the team attached to the car approached the planking the off horse became frightened and crowded against his mate so strongly as to force him off of the planking and into the deep trench. The harness was strong and was instrumental in pulling the other horse into the trench and on top of the one which had first fallen.

At the time of the accident two men were engaged in shoveling in the bottom of the trench and it was only by presence of mind and great haste that they escaped being crushed by the falling horses.

A large number of men were on hand immediately to assist in extricating the animals from the pit into which they had fallen. It was not more than five minutes before both horses were dragged out of the hole, but it was too late, for the under horse was dead. The other animal was apparently uninjured. The dead horse was quite valuable, being counted as one of the best animals owned by the company.

The car to which the animals were attached was pulled from the track but luckily--as it was filled with passengers--it was not capsized and no one was hurt, although there were numerous scared looking passengers.

ASCENSION DAY.

Grand Procession of Sir Knights and Services at Trinity Cathedral.

Yesterday was Ascension day and appropriate services were held at a number of churches in this city. The most impressive services were held at Trinity Cathedral and were attended by a large number of Knights Templar in a body in full uniform.

A special train from Beatrice arrived in this city yesterday morning, bringing with it the commandery of Beatrice and that of Lincoln and numerous members from other commanderies. The commandery in this city met the visiting Knights at the depot. At 10 o'clock the procession was formed, headed by the Fourth Infantry band.

About one hundred and fifty Knights were in line and the procession moved to Trinity Cathedral. It was a beautiful sight and attracted large crowds passing the streets through which it moved.

After reaching the church a sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Clinton F. Locke, of Chicago, past grand prolocutor of the grand encampment of Knights Templar in the United States. Rev. Locke is a very able and brilliant speaker and his discourse was highly instructive.

Following is the musical programme at the cathedral yesterday morning: Processional Onward Christian Soldiers. A. S. Sullivan. Chant No. 9 Gloria in excelsis Deo. J. B. Caidin. Te Deum Laudamus. E. B. Towne. Jubilate Deo. Dr. G. M. Garrett. Hymn, Crown Him With Many Crowns.

Offertory Anthem, "O Hymn Lord," J. Barnby Hymn, The Son of God Goes Forth to War. Dr. H. S. Cutler. Professional Children of the Heavenly King. Play. At the close of the services at the cathedral the knights proceeded to Free Mason's hall where a bountiful lunch was served and a pleasant hour was passed in social intercourse.

It had been intended to give a grand parade through a number of the streets of the city yesterday afternoon, but the clouds looked so threatening and the rain fell by dashes that it was thought best to abandon the idea. Installation of officers was announced to take place last evening but as the rain interfered with the procession the installation of officers took place yesterday afternoon.

About 5 o'clock, after the officers had been installed, the clouds broke away and the wind from the south led the knights to take a pilgrimage, which they did. As the roads were quite muddy the sidewalk was used. The procession which was quite a lengthy one, was headed by the military band as in the early part of the day.

Taken as a whole the day was probably and pleasantly spent by both the visiting and resident Knights.

A YOUNG WOMEN'S HOME.

The Woman's Christian Association Present Their Cause.

A petition for a permanent home for the Woman's Christian Association of the city of Omaha is now in the hands of the committee on public property, and we respectfully ask all the citizens of Omaha who are interested in the success of this association to use their influence with the gentlemen into whose hands the petition has fallen for our benefit.

Could you see the crowded condition of the rooms in the City Hall we now occupy, and could you only realize how much this city needs a boarding home for young working women I do not believe another public enterprise would be undertaken until means had been secured for a home. There are so many young women thrown upon their own resources for home, friends and employment, and mainly homeless orphans, or girls absent from parental guardianship. "How shall we do them the greatest good?" is the question coming from earnest, zealous workers, seeking to be faithful in uplifting other lives, and relieving burdens resting upon the young or portion of their sex.

If home industry is certainly necessary that if women's Christian Associations fulfil the object for which they were organized they must provide boarding homes for those in whose interests they are enlisted, and a failure to do this must necessarily impede progress and in the end prove a total failure of their plans. If any think that the limitless number of boarding houses in this city renders the existence of a boarding home unnecessary, we have but to point them to the difference in motive power of each to prove the fallacy of the idea. The one having for its aim self-seeking and money-making, the other springing neither strength nor means to promote the welfare of the young and unprotected. This contrast in the principle of action calls for a corresponding contrast in results, and it is clearly manifest in every community where both exist.

First, then, provide for us a boarding house; but there is only one branch of the great work. There is such a variety, and there are no two associations where lines of work run exactly parallel, though there are some great features common to all.

From the report of the seventh international conference of Women's Christian Association, held in Boston last November, we learn that out of the twenty-six associations represented there were but six had no boarding houses, either great or small, but outside of this there was scarcely a branch of Christian benevolence, which did not have had some taken a part--brothers' meetings, sewing schools, industrial and educational classes, women's exchanges, training schools, day nurseries, kindergartens, children's homes, homes for the aged, reformatories, systematic visitation of the poor, free libraries, reading rooms, lunch rooms. Must be cheerful and pleasant. Yes, there was not one which did not seem to come, either directly or indirectly, under the one great head of woman's work for woman. There may be, of course, difference of opinion as to what constitutes the legitimate work of Women's Christian Association, but one of the most admirable features of the work is its elasticity, its power of adaptation to differing places and conditions. God's providence and the conditions of the field alone can determine what the work of any association shall be. And the only limitation can justly be in force, that it shall be Christian in work. We have dropped the word aid from our name, and are to be chartered as the Women's Christian Association of the City of Omaha.

The generous help we have had in the past, and the promise of future support from many of the prominent citizens of Omaha, has given us great encouragement in our work, and our hopes are bright that the day may not be very far distant when the Women's Christian Association shall have as good a home as any of our sister associations in the east, north, south or west now have.
