

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Thursday Morning, June 26.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. By Carrier... $10.00 per year.

MINOR MENTION.

Lawns at Harkness Bros. See J. Reiters spring goods. Bushnell sells railroad tickets cheap to all points.

Three drunks before the police court yesterday. The city council is to meet to-morrow evening.

See Brackett, 224 and 226 Broadway, for fire works. Carpets of all kinds at a great reduction at Harkness Brothers.

Yesterday was intended for a gala day, but proved to be a gala day. Sweet potato plants—largest stock in the west—by W. H. Foster, Council Bluffs. Send for price list.

The funeral of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Taylor was held yesterday afternoon at the Catholic church.

All the business houses are expected to close from 1 o'clock to 6 o'clock this afternoon so that all may take in the races.

It is reported that Michaels Bros. will endeavor to settle their financial troubles and then embark in business in Omaha.

The Crawford County Bulletin nominates P. E. C. Lalley, of Denison, as the democratic candidate for district attorney.

The storm was such that with tent blown down and the ring flooded with water Doris' circus did not make a show here, but left last night for Red Oak.

Charles Hamilton, the boy who was arrested for stealing a lap-robe at the fair ground, did not have a hearing yesterday, the owner of the robe not showing up.

There was no little scare about fire at the Bloomer school building yesterday. Some one seeing what he thought was a tongue of flame, with smoke near the roof. The building was entered but no blaze discovered at all.

A large number of fine horses have just been received at Mayne's sale and boarding stable on Broadway, opposite the dummy depot, and will be disposed of at private sale. A chance for bargains in good horse flesh.

Jacob Ahles, brother of the well-known John Ahles, of this city, died a few days ago at the soldiers' home in Erie, Penn. He was a veteran member of Co. B, 98th Penn. volunteers. He formerly lived here.

Glenwood sent up a dashing four-hand yesterday to the races, and as it proved, to the storm. The party consisted of H. G. Cully, Dr. W. H. Parsons, Sheriff Dan Farrell and Mayor P. P. Kelley. They made their headquarters at Bechtel's.

Mr. Hartney's famous nag, "Jack Perego," now known as "Collender," won the $500 purse at the Jonesville, (Wis.) races on the 17th inst., winning three straight heats in 2:27. Hartney still owns a brother to Collender, which is a handsome horse and gives promise of great speed.

The dear old grandmother, even if it does claim to be the organ of the republican party, was a little too previous in its editorial announcing the judicial convention for yesterday. The county convention was held yesterday and the judicial convention is held to-day.

The excavation is being made for the sewers on North Main street, and it was intended yesterday to commence on Broadway, but owing to the crowd on the street and the interference with travel, it was deemed best not to do so, hence one gang was laid off.

The following named persons were yesterday given permission to wed: George Conod to Ida M. Ferguson, of Carson; A. W. Askwith, of Walnut, to A. E. Fleming, of this city; Silas Keenan to Della Hurd, of Lewis. The last named person was granted a divorce from her husband on the 18th instant, for inhuman treatment.

M. Morris, who has come here from the eastern part of Iowa, and who has eighteen years experience in raising brick houses, has formed a partnership with W. P. Aylesworth, of this city. Yesterday they began turning the jacks raising Mrs. Bryant's house. They are also to raise Mr. Officer's brick residence on Miller avenue, also Mr. Pusey's.

Fred W. Lyons, who has been a clerk at the Union Pacific transfer for two years and a half, was yesterday married at Villisca to Miss Eva Scott, one of the most worthy young ladies of that place. Fred deserves a good wife, and has now got one, and his many friends will heartily congratulate him on the event. The newly-wedded ones will go to Denver on their trip.

The Nonpareil, in speaking of the coming congressional contest, says it has "no names to suggest," but only "asks the convention to name a candidate who will not need to be defended either as to his personal or public character." The dear old lady has evidently still clinging to even her weak memory the recollection of the way she tried to force Mayor Anderson on the people, and how she and her pet were sat down on. No wonder she doesn't care to try it again, and no wonder that she wants a different sort of a candidate.

At a meeting of the Congregational church last evening the pastor's resignation was accepted.

The circus wagons have had a hard time of it. Last night they were stuck in the mud on nearly every street running south to the C. B. & Q. depot.

Last evening at the residence of the bride's mother, 719 Mills street, A. W. Askwith, a prominent attorney of Walnut, was married to Cora E. Flemming.

Work has commenced on A. T. Flickinger's new residence on Fourth avenue. Peter Wind has the contract and the house when completed will cost about $4,000.

Yesterday Smith & Rolley, the merchant tailors, were closed. This house seems very unlucky, this being the second time this business has been shut down inside one month.

D. W. Smith, deputy treasurer of the state, is in the city, looking over the political field. He is looked upon as the coming republican candidate for treasurer, and has a strong support.

The two year old daughter of Fred White was last night found, at the C. B. & Q. depot with one of the roustabouts of the circus. She evidently had been kidnapped, as she was crying, and Officer Towns arrested the man who had the girl by the hand. She was taken home and the man refused to give him name at police headquarters. He will have a trial this morning.

Summer Hats. Hats arrived and sold daily at Auwerda & Co.'s, 317 Broadway.

STREET ROBBERY.

All Sorts of Fagin Games Kept Going Until Mayor Vaughan Stops Them Short.

Yesterday there were many people thronging the principal streets of the city, drawn by the circus, races, convention, etc., and, of course, the thieves and sharpers flocked into the city also, ready to gouge everybody and anybody who was simple enough to be enticed into their webs. The old soap games were run with impunity, there being on one corner three of these fellows standing within a radius of ten feet, and each offering three or four little bits of common bar soap for $5, and pretending to give a chance for some of the $10 bills, which were supposed to be wrapped in the packages.

The jewelry man, with his dice box, was also catching foolish flies, and even the old-time thimble-rig was resurrected. Several of these street corner traps claimed to be running under the protection of the city authority, and showed licenses to peddle soap, sell jewelry, etc.

There was a general howl among the business men and Mayor Vaughan on learning of the situation came to the front, and for once, at least, made a bold brag for decency and order. He spoke to Chief Skinner and told him to make those fellows shut up business or pull them in. The little chief said they were licensed, but the little mayor said, "I don't care what they have or pretend to have, they can't stand here and rob people." The chief went on his way and proceeded to execute the order given, and made the fellows at least get off into the by-way instead of being on the high-ways. Mayor Vaughan deserves a credit mark for his action this time, sure.

SAINT FRANCIS ACADEMY.

It Holds its Twelfth Annual Commencement this Evening.

One of the most prosperous and worthy educational institutions in the west is the St. Francis academy. The examinations closed last week, and to-night the commencement exercises take place. Heretofore these have always been held in the day-time, but it was deemed best to make the change this year for several reasons. The following is the programme arranged for to-night, the exercises to commence at 7 o'clock:

SEVEN O'CLOCK. Entrance march. Hummel. Misses May Gund, Mary Mills, Mary Barrett, Julia Sullivan, Una Nixon, Kate Sullivan.

STRANGER in the city should not fail to remember that W. T. Braun, the caterer, 404 Broadway, keeps nothing but the best ice cream and ices.

PERSONAL.

Major Anderson was in the city yesterday. D. Maltby has returned from his Dakota trip.

Mrs. Platte Overton yesterday returned home. S. B. Frum's familiar face beamed here yesterday.

John P. Organ, of Neola, was at the Pacific yesterday. Mayor Ledwick, of Avoca, was in the city yesterday.

John W. Baird has returned from his eastern trip. B. F. Clayton was in the city yesterday attending the convention.

Bob Harris, the Missouri Valley newspaper fiend, was here yesterday. Harry Hunter, city editor of The Nonpareil, is recovering from his illness.

Frank Shinn, of Carson, was among yesterday's callers at The Bee office. Harry Berkubine starts to-day on his eastern trip, accompanied by his family.

A. W. Ryckman and wife left last evening for Spirit Lake for recreation and health. Chris. Schwenger was last evening so ill that he was not expected to live through the night.

A. B. Thornell, who is spoken of as a probable candidate for district attorney, is here looking after his chances. G. Fred Selbeck, of the Des Moines Register, is here attending the races and reporting them for the associated press.

Rev. Mr. Hostetter, of Marshalltown, who has been supplying the Presbyterian pulpit at Vail, has been called to its pastorate. H. H. Field, ex-chief of police, has arrived home from the east, looking fresh and hearty. He has written some excellent letters during his absence.

Ernest Breck, who represents Perego & Moore on the road, is in for one of his brief stays. He is getting way to the front among the boss salesmen. A. W. Askwith, of Walnut, was in the city yesterday, his chief business being to secure the necessary permit for his proposed surrender to Cupid.

Mr. Ingram, of the Evening Herald, is crippled on account of a wound received in the knee from a skidde with which he was cutting some grass at his home. Rev. Mr. McMeekin, who for a time supplied the Presbyterian pulpit here, and who is now pastor in Denison, has gone to Canada for a few weeks rest and visit to friends.

H. N. McGrew, the wide awake Cedar Rapids insurance talker, was greeting his friends here yesterday. The same old "Mc"—still rustling for business, and getting there, too. A. T. Flickinger and family go to-day to their old home in Independence, Iowa, where the family will spend the summer, while Mr. Flickinger will return in the course of a week to attend to his law practice here.

G. W. Ferguson, of the Pacific house, has returned from a ten days' trip into Iowa and Keokuk counties, where he has been buying up stock for his farm near Persia. He purchased about 40 graded steers, some very fine ones, and shipped them to his farm. Mr. Ferguson now has 82 head of fine stock on his place.
