

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Thursday Morning, July 3. SUBSCRIPTION RATES. By Carrier - 25 cents per week. By Mail - $10.00 per year.

MINOR MENTION. See J. Reiter's spring goods. Bushnell sells railroad tickets cheap to all points.

George Blaxim is raising his residence on Main street. W. A. Stewart has removed his piano warehouses to 329 Broadway.

Justice Schurz yesterday married John M. Killion to Miss Elizabeth E. Ernest, both parties of this county. Several narrow gauge dirt cars being drawn through the streets yesterday, attracted considerable attention.

Thomas Ball has commenced action for a divorce from Sarah J. Ball, claiming she has not been true to her vows. W. S. Mayo has been appointed administrator of Thomas Gowdy's estate which is valued as not exceeding $10,000.

Conrad Thompson, who was arrested for obtaining $1.55 under false pretences, was discharged by Judge Aylesworth yesterday. The case of Mrs. Amy, complained of for putting up a frame building inside the city limits, has been continued until next Monday.

Tomorrow Barrett's circus shows up here and will draw a big crowd without doubt, as it is well worth seeing and people know it. Mike Nolan, while tearing a way partitions in his old place yesterday, met with an accident, a board falling on him and cutting his face badly.

A suit of clothes now being made at one of Council Bluffs' fashionable tailoring establishments, has on the coat buckles and straps instead of buttons. A large excursion will leave Omaha tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for Council Bluffs, and will be received on arrival at the depot here by the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Count Von Bulow, who has a half a dozen aliases, was yesterday held under $500 bail to the grand jury on the charge of stealing a suit of clothes and a watch from C. W. Hart. With the shooting matches, Barrett's big circus, the Hibernian picnic, the excursion from Omaha and the starting in of the prohibitory law Council Bluffs will have quite a Fourth.

M. North, arrested for an assault on his brother Nephri North, is to have a hearing before Judge Aylesworth to-day. The trouble seems to have been about the possession of a house. Doris' show, which got blown flat by the storm here, was struck by a still worse storm at Oreston Monday evening, during a performance, the crowd getting out just in time to save themselves. The Dunkards are holding services every evening at 8 o'clock, corner Sixth and Broadway streets, and on Sunday next there will be two meetings, one at 10 o'clock a. m. and another at 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 2:30 p. m. The Young Men's shooting club will celebrate to-morrow afternoon by a side-shoot between the democrats and republicans. There will also be a match between the club and the Council Bluffs gun club, and another match with the Sportsmen's club. St. Alban's lodge, No. 17, K. of P., have elected E. J. Abbott, C. C.; W. N. Young, V. C.; J. Darnell, Prelate; C. Wesley, M. of F.; C. Johnson, M. of E.; C. Tibbia, K. of R. and S.; F. B. Patton, M. of A.; J. B. Coon, I. G. E. J. Abbott, representative to grand lodge. Mrs. Elam Clark has just received a finely finished portrait of her late husband, done in crayon by the celebrated artist, Mosher & Marxson, of Chicago. It is enlarged from one left there by Mrs. Clark on her way east a few weeks ago. Mr. Marxson is one of the finest workmen in crayon in Chicago. The bids for the building of the addition of the institution for the deaf and dumb have been considered and the work let to Straub & Herman for $36,641. The other bids being J. V. Murphy, $39,575; Waver & Lawson, $36,612; S. J. Collins, $38,744; Wickham Bros., $38,500; John Hammer, $39,900; J. H. Percival, $39,635. The Crawford county Bulletin has saved the democrats the trouble of holding a judicial convention. It favors a ticket with Judge Aylesworth for district judge, R. G. Phelps for circuit judge and E. C. Lally for district attorney. R. Shawan, of Denison, who is an aspirant for nomination as district attorney, is left off the Bulletin. Charles Jacobs, the night yardman for the C. M. & St. Paul, while cutting off a car of stock Tuesday night, got his foot caught, and the wheels passed over it crushing it so that amputation was necessary. Dr. Macrae and Dr. Houghton took the foot off just above the ankle. Mr. Jacobs was promoted only a few days before the accident, and is a worthy man who has many friends who sympathize deeply with him in his trouble. Yesterday he was reported as getting along as well as could be expected.

A "STILL" HUNT. How the Prohibitory Law will take Hold To-Morrow. Much Fear and Trembling.

This is the best day for the saloons—at least so it is supposed. The prohibitory law goes into effect at 12 o'clock to-night, and no intoxicating liquors are supposed to be sold after that hour. Everybody is asking what is going to be done! Nobody seems to know. The prohibitionists have intimated that they will prosecute all offenders, and as the penalties are severe, this makes the saloonists tremble, yet so far this threat has been in the form of a hint, rather than decided organized preparations.

Some of the saloon men say they intend to obey the law strictly, but still there are some who propose going right along as if nothing had happened, relying on permits from the county board or licenses from the city council. The fact is, each side is uncertain which is the best to do, and no uniform plans have been adopted. The saloon men seem to have a hope that the storm will soon blow over. It now seems that on to-morrow all saloons will cease selling such drinks as are prohibited by state law. One after another will probably in time, get to putting in "a stick" into some temperance drink, or seeking to evade the matter in some other way, and gradually growing bolder, if no organized prosecution appears, will slowly get into the old way of doing business. The penalties are so severe that for a time at least there will be few, if any, who will care to run the risk of openly violating the law, until some expression of public opinion is manifested in other ways. The Ben man asked a saloonist yesterday what was going to be done, and immediately the question was fired back. "What are you prohibitionists going to do? You tell me that and I'll tell you what the saloon man are going to do." That seems to be the condition in which most are placed.

A large majority seem against taking out the evasive license proposed by the city council. They do not want to pay $400 for permit to sell lemonade and soda water, when in return they get no protection. On the other hand the prohibitionists, of course, think still more unfavorably of the council for thus attempting to evade the state law. It seems pretty certain that it will be difficult to get intoxicating drinks to-morrow over any bar, but how long it will remain so is a conundrum which makes them all stagger.

BALANCE ALL. The Citizens and the City Have a Oustillon About the Scales. There promises to be a lively war about the scales at the junction of Main and Pearl streets. The scales were established there about two years ago at the instance and with the financial support of a number of business men in that vicinity the cost of the scales being $350. The city council gave permit for the scales to be located there, although it was on the street and public property. Thus it has gone along, the regular license being paid for the scales. The city weighmaster has scales on Bryant street, next to the city buildings, but business is very light there and he also has made some arrangement for scales near the ones now in controversy, but business there is light too, the junction scales seeming to get the cream in spite of everything. After the paving was put down, it became apparent that the scattered hay from the wagons, which had heretofore been tramped into the mud, giving a barnyard appearance to that part of Main street, was proving a great nuisance, although it could be swept off the pavement. It was also discovered that although the street had not shrunk any, yet the teams down there by the scales were an interference with travel, and the marshals tried to keep them from going there. Some of the men doing business in that vicinity then signed a petition to have the scales removed, and others wanted a fountain where the scales now stand. The license for scales was raised from $10 to $50, but this did not cause the scales to be moved, for the $50 was forthcoming. The council ordered the marshals to remove the scales, and yesterday the other side consisting of C. E. Honn, T. J. Evans, John Mergen, James Haverstock, claiming to be the majority of the owners of the scales, filed a petition asking for an injunction to restrain the city from carrying out this order of removal. They claim that a $50 license was paid covering the time from May 1884 to May 1885, and that the city having permitted the scales to stand there, and the capital having been invested on account of this permit, that it is not for the city to keep the $50 and move the scales too. Judge Loebbour has granted a temporary injunction and the bonds have been placed at $100.

The Lovers' License. There has been much inquiry as to how the runaway young couple managed to secure a marriage license. It is said that they sent down to the clerk's note, asking for a license to be given them and stating in this note that they were both over age. To satisfy the curiosity of those who have no opportunity to examine the records, the Tax Bex gives it as it appears on the books at the court house: Charles Chaffin Mattie E. Widney. The undersigned applicant for a marriage license, being sworn, states that— is of the age of 25 years and upwards and a resident of Page county and state of Iowa, and that in the age of 18 years and upwards, and is a resident of Page county and state of Iowa; that said parties are both unmarried, and free from physical infirmities, and that no legal impediment exists to the marriage of said parties as aforesaid. F. M. HEYER, Clerk Circuit Court.

Pacey and daughter, Miss Kate Pacey, have returned from Washington. C. K. Taylor, business manager Callender's minstrel company, was in the city yesterday. Parsons, went yesterday on a two months' recreation trip to the Allegheny mountains. Chas. W.
