Is inseperably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthening qualities. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will last a month, while others will average to last not over a week. Hence for economy, buy Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Athletic Amusements.

The crowd in attendance at the cricket park yesterday was not nearly as large as was expected. A goodly number were present, however, and the programme as announced was fully carried out. Those present were well repaid, as the amusements were of a very interesting nature to lovers of athletic sports.

The 100-yards handicap race had five entries and three starters. The prize, a silver challenge cup, was by Weinbenner. Sander claimed the won, but he was charged with a foul, and the race was awarded to the second man.

Forenoon Game.

The forenoon game between the Union Pacifics and the Chicago Reserves was witnessed by 1,700 people. This game, which had been anxiously looked forward to by the lovers of base ball, was all that it promised to be. So far this season the Union Pacifics had met no club on the home grounds that was nearly its equal, and this fact tended to increase the interest in the game, as the Chicago team was thought to be a strong nine.

For the home team Rockwell and Bandle were the battery, and for the Chicago's Lee and Young.

At 11 o'clock the game was called, with the home team to bat.

McKelvy was put out at first. Bandle by an error of Carr reached first and stole second. Dwyer struck a hot grounder to short who fumbled it, Bandle scoring. Funkhouser batted to out field upon which Dwyer crossed the home plate. Whitney and Byrd were thrown out at first.

The Chicagos for four innings went out in one, two, three order, being unable to hit Rockwell who handled the sphere with great success. In the second innings no runs were made by the Union Pacifics, but in the third Bandle scored his second tally. In the fourth Byrd and Carroll crossed the home plate.

In the fifth innings Hillery made a two-baser, stole third, and came home on a passed ball by Bandle, making the only score for the Chicagos. In the ninth Rockwell tallied, making the score six to one in favor of the home nine.

The brilliant features of this game was the batting of Hillery, who made three of the four base hits for his club; a beautiful catch by Carroll of a foul fly muffed by Dugan, a difficult catch of a foul fly by Bandle in the last innings, and a wonderful throw home by Funkhouser in the seventh, after catching a low ball from Santry's bat, holding Jevne on third.

Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed during the game against the umpire, who seemed in almost every instance to give the home club the benefit of the doubt. The spectators in several instances showed their dasapprobation of his rulings in cries of "out, out" and a few indulged in hisses. In connection with this game mention should not be omitted of Graham, the first baseman, of the Reserves who is the tallest professional ball player in the United States, standing six feet eight in base ball shoes. The spectators dubbed him "shorty" and his playing at first base was quite a feature in the game. Below is the score.

Afternoon Game.

The clouds which from one to three portended a storm, cleared away before the hour for calling the game arrived, and a most beautiful sunny afternoon followed. Long before 3:30 standing room in the grand stand was at a premium, and the seats outside were all taken up. A line of carriages nearly enclosing the field was standing close to the feuce inside, and from the grand stand to the driveway all the standing-room was occupied. Between 2,500 and 2,600 people had come out to witness the game, which it was expected would be very close and exciting, owing to the unsatisfactory termination to the Chicagos of the one in the forenoon.

The Chicagos presented Crosby a league pitcher and Depaugher for their battery; for the Union Pacifics Salisbury filled the box and was supported behind the bat by Bandle. It was intended by the management that Dugan should fill the catcher's position, but his hands being sore he played at first the same as in the forenoon.

The Chicagos again won the toss, and McKelvy, Bandle and Dwyer were retired without any one of them reaching first. For the Chicagos, the first three were put out in one, two, three order.

In the second inning Funkhouser made a two base, and came home on a wild throw from center field to third base. Whitney was thrown out on first, Byrd made a three bagger and came home on Carroll's drive to right field. Four tallies were made in this inning which was closed by McKelvy going out on three strikes.

Hillery opened the inning for his nine by making a two baser. The visitors in this inning seemed to "get on" to Salisbury's pitching and batted him all over the field. The Chicagos aided by a wild throw of pitcher to first, which let in two runs and a couple of errors by Byrd were credited with seven scores. In the third innings the Union Pacifics added four more runs to the four of the second, the visitors receiving a goose egg. In the fourth the home team failed to score and the winning chances of the Chicagos were increased by one more score, making the game at this stage a tie. The visitors in the fifth piled up two runs more and one in the seventh. The Union Pacifics were credited with one tally more in the sixth and one in the eighth. In the ninth the home team, aided by terrific batting and unexcusable errors of the Chicagos, succeeded in landing safely five men over the home plate.

The admirers and friends of the Union Pacifics at this juncture rose up in the grand stand and hollowed themselves hoarse, as defeat now was no longer thought of. So confident were they of success that the bats were bagged and preparations made for leaving the grounds. The Chicagos were not at all discouraged, and aided by good batting, a couple of wild throws, three successive muffs by Dugan on first after two men were out, and a rank decision of the umpire, scored five runs, making the game at the end of the ninth innings a tie. Dwyer, the first to bat in the tenth innings, was thrown out at first, as also was Funkhouser. Whitney reached first, but Byrd was caught out on a fly. Carr, for the Chicagos, made a two-baser, and was allowed to score on Depaugher's single after two men were out.

If the Chicagos had cause to complain of Funkhouser's umpiring, the home team can justly lay their defeat to Rockwell, the umpire, who in the ninth innings unconsciously called a fair a foul ball, after which four men scored when two were out.

The usual number of free spectators witnessed both games from Tom Murray's grand stand. If some means could be taken to shut off the gaze of these people the game would be divested of one of its disagreeable features.

Death in the County Jail.

Mike Lennon, the man who gained in the last week considerable newspaper notriety through his connection with Kincaid, the B. & M. contractor, in the loss of quite a large sum of money, died yesterday at the county jail, of delirium tremens. He was taken from the city jail the fore part of the week, on account of its unhealthy condition. He continually grew worse, being past assistance from medical treatment, and died yesterday afternoon. It is claimed by his comrades that Lennon's people in Bloomington, Illinois, are very wealthy. Coroner Maul telegraphed them of his death, but as yet he has received nothing from them as to the disposition of the body.
