REV. HARRIS' SERMON.

He Denounces the Action of the City Attorney in Strong Terms.

On Sunday evening Rev. J. W. Harris, of the Baptist church, preached a sermon upon the lawyers of the city of which the following is a synopsis:

Titus III, 13, "Bring Zenas the lawyer." Some of the greatest minds of any age have been found in the legal profession.

I have attended your court, occasionally, to see the men who are in the legal profession in this city.

Every profession however has had to suffer more or less by the wrong doings of ill-reputed men in the profession.

There has been and is a prejudice against the profession. Prejudice created by corrupt and unprincipled lawyers.

Some of the strongest supporters of christianity have been born in the legal profession, Blackstone, Ferlingbushen, Judge Daly, Campbell and Webster.

The apostle Paul speaks of "Zenas a lawyer," of his day, and he was no doubt an earnest supporter of Christianity.

THE DEMOCRACY.

He was seconded in the kick by another delegate, and a rebellion in protest to the number of men present was only averted by Kelly, who gave his men some very strong talk.
