Complaint is being made that the quality of the brick being used in the sewer be not only one for pleasure, but also for work is not up to the requirements. Al- the purpose of noting such improvements derman James, on investigation, thought as are needed in the navigation of the that there appeared some ground for the Fourth ward with a view of securing a complaint. The city has an inspector who is drawing $4 a day, and it seems that there ought not to be any chance for faulty work.

J. W. Rodefer has received this week for his office a very large McNeale & Urban safe, weighing about five tons. It is finished in silver bronzs, giving it the appearance of polished steel. Besides being like a great iron vault, fire proof, it has a large burglar proof steel chest, head and out upon the other side which cannot be got at except by going through three sets of doors. The safe is one of the largest and finest ever brought into the city.

The organization of another Blaine and Logan clab in this city is just what many ported. Already there is a "Boys in Blue" club, but that is for veterans. Then there is a Young Men's club, but that has a $5 mitiation, a $5 hat, a $3 duster, and a $2 cane. That is a little too high for some of those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows. Now comes this third organization, and while in harmony wirh the two others, Tr. C. Powell, one crr cattle, 19 head, extends an invitation to all republicans to join, young or old, rich or poor, relying on the enthusiasm and generosity of its mambers for support, and having no inmembers for support, and having no initiation fee or taxes.

CONCERNING THE CREEK.

Why Campaign Promises Have Not Been Kept.

As has appeared from recent communications and petitions published in THE BEE, the citizens, whose property and health have been injured and lives jeotheir patience about exhausted. During the late campaign Major Vaughan stood upon a platform, one of the biggest planks in which was the improvement of the creek, and among his stoutest promises to the workingmen was that the creek should be improved, and that would be the very first matter to which he would give attention. The months have gone and nothing has been done, except in the eastern part of the city where Conrad Geise, one of the aldermen has valuable property interests. The fund, which was formerly known as the Indian creek fund, has been swallowed up by the sewerage fund, and the people on the bottom get no relief or proteo-

It was found that in running three miles south to the river, a fall could be had of twenty-one feet, which was considered ample for a current which would keep the channel of the river clear if once deepened and broadened. This report has laid in the engineer's office about two months and never been presented to the council, an indication of how anxious the city officials are to relieve the suffering nhabitanta Yesterday Mayor Vaughan got J. J. Hathaway to inspect the condition of affairs, and said that he would try and get some temporary relief, even if it had to be paid for by private subscription. there has been some litigation, it being a Mr. Hathaway reported that the Bicknell frame building within the fire limit, is ditch needed opening; that the Fifth being moved, and will be replaced with avenue bridge was nearly to the water's edge, that the Eighth avenue oridge was nearly choked up, and that just below the Fifth avenue bridge there was a dam. He could see no way for temporary relief, but advised some permanent improvements. The time for talking, planning, sur veying, etc., is about over. The people are tired of it and demand protection, not by words but by deeds.

Five Drowned. Yesterday there were five dogs drowned at the city Lound, the new method being tried, and tried satisfactorily. Hereto fore the dogs taken up and unclaimed have been shot, but now Captain Bateshas completed an invention which consists of a hogshead of [water, and a rope running through a ring in the bottom of the hogsone end of the rope is tied about the unfortunate dog's neck, while a man at the other end begins pulling. The dog is thus drawn into the hogshead, and clear to the bottom and held there until dead This does away with the old causes of complaint based on the fact that the officers were such poor marksmen that at of the republicans wanted, and the new organization will be enthusiastically supdoes away with the howls of the wounded

A little later in the day the German was on the street in a very drunken condition, and the merchant being afraid he would get robbed of his ring, induced him after a good deal of coaxing to go into a bank and deposit whatever valu-ables he had. There was a little surprise party when the stranger, in emptying his pockets in the bank, produced $4,000 in cash. It is a wonder that pardized by the Indian creek, have had some "kind friend" did not relieve him of it before he made the deposit.

FAILED TO PROVE IT.

Acquitted of Stealing Handley's Gold,

Yesterday there was a large delegation here from Neola, coming by special invitation as witnesses in the case of M. J. O'Connor, who was charged with stealing have reached the ripe old age of five $619 of John Handley. There were score years, and will give one of the $619 of John Handley. There were about twenty witnesses and the examination took most of the day in Justice Varghan's court. Handley testified to sylvania representatives of the bar alone, having had the money nidden in the bellows of his blackswith shop, and that it was nearly all in $20 gold pieces. Other witnesses testified that soon after the money was stolen O'Connor paid a number of claims in $20 gold pieces, but days ago a woman with a child in her O'Connor explained that he had got the money in his regular saloon business, and denied stealing Handley's wealth. Other witnesses testified to having frequented the saloon, but that they had not officials and get her a pass. He asked seen any $20 gold pieces changing hands her in and went down town for the pass, there. Justice Vaughan discharged the prisoner, and he went off vowing ven-geance against Handley for having him left for the tender care of the divine and arrested. The case has excited much interest in Neols, and much sympathy is expressed for Handley in having lost his hard earned savings.
