By Mail - - - - - $10.00 per yearOFFICE:
No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

The council has ordered Market street paved.

The Y. M. C. A. had another of its pleasant entertainments last evening.

According to A. T. Flickinger's gauge there was a half inch rainfall Monday night.

The Chicago & Northwestern railway has been ordered to raise its bridge within ten days.

Two cars of Uncle Sam's soldiery arrived here yesterday over the "Q." on route to Wyoming.

Second street has been ordered paved with cedar blocks from Broadway to High School avenue.

The city authorities have now forbidden the driving of cattle along streets which have been parked.

To-morrow evening there is to be a farewell reception to Rev. Cyrus Hamlin at the residence of W. W. Wallace.

T. J. Bennett, who keeps a boarding house on Main street, has been made special policeman at his own expense.

Eight elegant badges won by Brett and Devore, the champion horse couples, are being exhibited in Robison Bros. windows.

It looks very much as if Bayliss park would have to be filled, as the streets surrounding it are higher and the water accumulates there in ponds.

There was a washout on the C. B. & Q. tracks near the transfer yesterday morning causing a little delay in the departure and arrival of trains.

If orders, resolutions, etc., will remedy the flood troubles the citizens will be relieved right speedily, but one shovel is worth a team of the council's resolutions, Alderman Keating has placed in the window of his wholesale liquor house a sign "To Rent," and it is understood that he is preparing to move to Montana. Prohibition.

One of the military bands in attendance at the Minneapolis reunion arrived here yesterday on the C. M. & St. Paul and gave a brief concert at the depot while the train tarried.

A goodly number of the members of Abe Lincoln Post G. A. R. turned out yesterday morning and escorted to the depot the remains of Orson Lee, which were taken to Sac City for burial.

W. B. Hoover, of 816 Avenue B., was yesterday hunting about for a boy named Johnson, whom he had adopted, and who had been missing for several days. He found the boy working in one of the newspaper offices, all safe and sound.

The paving of Main street is completed to the C. & R. I. depot. The rain has delayed the work on Broadway, where excavation has commenced. The paving is still furthered a little by the sewage work not being got out of the way.

The mayor of Sioux City, who has interviewed the family of the girl brought from there on last circus day by a man who was arrested here for abducting her, writes Mayor Vaughan that her parents are willing to have some good family here adopt the girl if they will. Very considerate parents.

In the police court yesterday, Molly Murray, an African, fined $9.60 for being drunk. W. J. Russell was also fined for being drunk and threatening an officer. Craig Mordie, a farmer, paid $7.60 for learning whether liquor was still being sold in Council Bluffs. P. McGenit also paid $7.60.

Fred Bock, on Monday night, while herding cows near the asylum, fell from his pony and was dragged some distance with his head on the ground and both feet in the stirrups. The pony was finally caught, and Bock, who is fifteen years old, and resides on Damon street, was sent home in company with two boys by name of Huff, in a badly bruised condition, his face being fearfully swollen.

The case of Mike Nolan, complained of for not taking out a "pop ordinance" license, is to come off this afternoon. He is the first one complained of for not paying the $400 required by the city for the privilege of selling lemonade and pop. As he runs a strictly temperance saloon he purposes fighting the case to the bitter end.

Notices were served yesterday for the cleaning up of the alley from Hayes & Glasson's store south to beyond Kiel's hotel. The contractors who are to pave the alley are anxious to go ahead with that work, but cannot until the sewer is laid down there, the city ordering that to be done first. In the meantime, however, there should be some of the filth cleared out.

The ten cent show in the opera house this week has opened up by drawing large crowds and giving good satisfaction. For a dime entertainment it is indeed excellent, and compares favorably with many of the high priced entertainments given here. The programme is a varied one, and includes comedy, jugglery, bird tricks, and other features. An entertainment will be given there every afternoon and evening this week.

The normal institute still continues its sessions, which are growing rather than waning in interest. Among the special features yesterday were some slocutionany exercises of more than usual merit. Mr. J. A. Edwards, editor of the Iowa Normal Monthly, of Dubuque, gave some excellent recitations, and Fairbanks, representing a Boston school journal, also gave some selections. The enrollment has now reached 170, an unusually large attendance.

The city attorney has decided that the council shall issue certificates to contractors so soon as the work is completed. It will be remembered that the council lately passed a school-boyish ordinance compelling contractors to take oath that they had made no arrangement for selling the certificates less than par before they could receive them. Then getting ashamed of this flat, they hurriedly took it out of the hands of the printers, and have kept very mum about it. Now the city attorney advises the prompt issuance of the certificates.

M. G. Griffin, whose name has been mentioned as among the possible nominees for justice of the peace, informs The Bee that he is not figuring for any political position, that he will not allow his name to be used, that he will not accept a nomination and will not serve if elected. That is as strong a declaration as he can make. He says that when nominated once for office by the democrats, he was slaughtered by the very men who now protest so much about party loyalty, and who so unmercifully score him as an Irish democrat for supporting Blaine, instead of Cleveland.

In consequence of the rapid growth and future prospects of the work of the Home of the Friendless, Rev. J. G. Lemen, the manager of the home, and also the pastor of the Baptist Church, requested his church to select some co-laborer and co-pastor, and acting on his recommendation the church has called to this position Rev. T. S. Bovell, of Illinois. That gentleman has accepted and will preach his introductory sermon next Sunday. Mr. Bovell is a graduate of the classical course of Shurtleff college, and has served acceptably as pastor at Pana, and at Carroll, Ill., from which latter place he comes to this city. He has the reputation of not only being a scholarly young man, but one of unusual energy and marked ability.

Pat Lucy's lot on Main street is still a frog pond and mauls pile, a vigorous breeder of disease. Mrs. Koch, whose husband has a store next to it, with living rooms up stairs, has been quite ill of late, and other neighbors also feel that this nuisance should be suppressed. None feel like tackling Pat about it though, for he stands too solid with the city government, and although the attention of several officials has been called to it, they do not seem to care to do anything. It is said that Pat defies the property owners to make him fill it, and they do not feel like risking the expenditure of money in trying to fight him in the courts of the jail.

Mexican grass hammocks at reduced prices at Seaman's, 405 Broadway.

The Hawkeye gives a bad account of business affairs at Burlington. It says All branches of business are very dull at present, and the merchants complain bitterly of bad collections. Many country merchants are on the ver of bankruptcy, and if anything should happen to mar the excellent prospects for a heavy crop it would be a severe blow to Burlington's business interests.

Feeble ladies grow strong and happy at Siloam Springs. Read analysis and be convinced of their healing and tonic properties.

Bushnell sells railroad tickets cheap to all points.

catarrhal, or forfeit all claims to pay for treatment. See advt. in another column.

CELEBRATED POP ORDINANCE.

Mike Nolan the First Victim.

Mike says he is a good democrat, but can't stand in with some of the city officials. Mike says if he only belonged to the Bowmen and P. L. League

ring, he would be exempt from the above ordinance, and could run his place open all night.

PERSONAL.

Sheriff Marc Barr, of Oskaloosa, who was here yesterday after Reynolds, is a brother-in-law of Mr. Ed. Mott, the well-known lumber dealer.

E. W. Craven, of Glenwood, formerly superintendent of schools there, and now practicing law there, was here yesterday, and left for Newton to attend the marriage of his brother.

Charles Sprague, who has been running on the Chicago & Rock Island with Conductor Bias, has resigned his position to put on a conductor's cap on the Denver Short Line. Charlie has many friends among the railroad boys, and they don't want him to go, but still they are glad to see him prosper.

Rev. J. G. Lemen and family leave tomorrow over the Wahash. Mr. Lemen goes to Neosha, Missouri, where he will preach the dedicatory sermon of a new Baptist church at that place. He will return in the course of ten days, but his family will remain in Illinois visiting friends in Greenville, for a month or so.

Hundreds of grateful people who have been cured of Rheumatism say Siloam Springs is ahead as a specific for that disease. See advt. in another column.

Pooping at the Pages.

When the Guanella Bros., in their famous double act, got possession of the city jail and became keepers of the seals and records, they issued a manifesto that the records of the jail shall be kept locked up and hidden from the eyes of the Bee man, as they felt that they had a grievance for which they could get sweet revenge by this attempt to keep THE BEE readers from having the news.

THE BEE does not care to inspect the sacred books kept by the Guanellas, for it gets all the news without, but when THE BEE man yesterday, may be interested to some of the readers though.

The book is of high literary merit.

One prime is registered as having been used "Profane Language." Another is given credit for having "7c. and one onion." Another with having "book contended." One memorandum, evidently about some hand cuffs, reads, "Han Coops in safe." One prisoner is registered as having "3 photographs," another as having "300000," another with "variance," and still another is carrying "Concealed Weapons." One is registered as "unknown," and another is "suspectus carior." One is recorded as coming from "Massadon," and one as having "Plaster paris Enigmes." No, thank you, Messrs. Guanella, THE BEE man does not care to read any more of the records of the jail.

Lightning struck the Swedish Lutheran church in Ottumwa about half past 10 on the night of the 23d, and it was nearly destroyed by fire. The property cost $5,500, and was insured for $2,000.

So far there is evidence that twenty-three houses and barns in Des Moines were struck by lightning Wednesday night of last week.
