

MOTHER HUBBARD HUBBARD.

An Order Given to Arrest All Women Wearing Mother Hubbard Dresses.

Jennie Green Arrested Yesterday for Appearing Upon the Street Dressed in a Mother Hubbard.

Marshal Cummings' latest order is to the effect that any woman found upon the streets dressed in a Mother Hubbard dress be arrested and lodged in jail.

Pat Ford has several times spoken in council meeting against the wearing of Mother Hubbard dresses and it was probably through this that the order was given, as Ford is one of the committee on police.

Yesterday a woman named Jennie Green was arrested by Officer Buckley for appearing upon the street clad in a Mother Hubbard.

She was released upon bail and her case set for Friday forenoon. She has employed counsel and will see whether the marshal or policeman of Omaha have anything to say as to what kind of a dress a woman shall wear and when and where she shall wear it.

If this order is strictly enforced some of the leading ladies of this city would doubtless be dragged into unenviable notoriety, as many of them indulge in the luxury of a Mother Hubbard on a hot day, although few of them appear upon the street in them.

Another question arises. Now when a Mother Hubbard is belted down it has about the same appearance as any ordinary dress. How is a police officer to tell in a case of that kind whether a woman really has on a Mother Hubbard dress or not?

It is very probable that this order will not be very strictly enforced.

POLICE COURT.

An Unusual Large Business Before That Tribunal Yesterday.

In police court yesterday there was an unusually large number of prisoners. A whole gang of colored prostitutes were among the number and the sight of a woman in police court cleans the idle men off of the street and this morning the space outside the rail was crowded to suffocation.

John Morriway was the first name on the roll and he was charged with disturbance of the peace by intoxication. He said it was his first offense and he was on his way to St. Joe. The judge took all these things into consideration and fined $5 and costs, which he paid.

Charley Devlin was fined $5 and costs for being intoxicated. He went up to the county jail. Rasmus Oleson was charged by his wife with beating her. He said he could not remember whether he whipped his wife or not. He said he was not drunk. The case was continued.

Robert Hoy (colored) was charged with assaulting one Mary Doe, real name unknown. The woman was not able to appear and the case was continued. Hoy is second cook at the Metropolitan and last night near the corner of Eleventh and Jersey streets he saw the woman a frightful beating, closing both her eyes and otherwise injuring her.

Flora Benson was charged by Chas. Dare with stealing $5 from him. Flora denied the charge. The case was continued.

Eta Carr, Libbie Henry, Minnie Farrell, John Smith, Clara Thompson, Nell Brown, and Delia Robinson, all colored, were charged with being inmates of a disorderly house at the corner of Eleventh street and Capital avenue. They were all discharged.

Let Her Blow.

Allow me to say a word in reply to "Standard Time" who went off half-cocked concerning the U. P. whistle in last evening's Bee. It is evident that he is not a working man or he would have been better posted in regard to the various whistles of the city. He calls loudly for standard time from the U. P. whistle when the facts in the case are that the U. P. was the first whistle to adopt standard time and has not varied a dot from it since, and although a loud whistle it blows only at such times as are convenient for the average working man, in fact, he becomes so accustomed to waiting for the "whistle" that on days when the shops are shut down he is loathsome without it; neither does it blow at midnight or at one a. m. as charged in Monday evening's Bee. The only whistle open to such accusations is the smelters', and that being of a remarkably subdued tone could not possibly offend other than a chronic kicker. If "Standard Time" wants a job and a steady one on the whistle question, let him tackle the U. P. engines that go howling and screeching through the city at all hours of day and night. Other cities not near so large as Omaha will not tolerate such a nuisance and if "Standard Time" will relieve us from this he will have the good will of the citizens and be deserving of a pension. WATKINS MAN.

A Lie Told.

Mr. Editor.—I wish to correct a statement made in one of the evening papers with reference to the proceedings of the mass meeting held by the trades unions of Omaha, Monday evening at Cunningham hall. The report of the meeting was all right except the statement that the Bee was roundly denounced throughout all the speeches. Now, then, I wish to say to one who was present, to the best of my knowledge, that the Bee was not mentioned save in one instance and that by comparison and otherwise. We do not propose to denounce or make a fight with any of our local papers. We want their support in return as we have supported and still will support them if they stand by us in good faith as fellow workmen, which we have all reason to believe they will do.

A Carpenter.

Runaway Teams.

Yesterday at the corner of Thirtieth and Harny streets, there occurred two runaway teams, as follows:

SAVIORS OF THE SEA.

The Life Saving Service Exonerated of All Charges Against It.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Special Agent Burns, of the treasury department, charged with the investigation of certain charges against the management of the life saving service, and against Superintendent Kimball, of that service, which were made in an article published in an Erie (Pa.) newspaper of January last, has made a report to the secretary of the treasury. He finds the charges instigated by Captain Ottiger and published without malice by the newspaper; that every material allegation contained in the charge published in the Erie paper was right in adopting the life gun, as it is superior to any gun brought in by the life guard during the investigation, and fill the requirements of the service better than any of them, and every station was provided with a life car, as well as a brooches buoy, it being left to the discretion of the station tender to determine which to use on any occasion of the wreck. He states, however, that brooches buoy is used much more frequently than the car, having in the station log a record of eighty-eight instances and brought to shore 747 persons, while the car has been chosen but thirty-three times, rescuing seventy-four persons. The charges of inefficiency and mismanagement of the service, and of jealousy of Captain Ottiger and his devices, he finds to be fully disproved by the evidence, and says that on the contrary the service shows a record of success of which every citizen may justly be proud, and in comparison with such services in other countries shows to be in the lead of all.

Many imitators, but no equal, has Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy. month, and a...

TOM HE-DRICKS.

A Few Incidents in the Life of the Indiana Statesman.

Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—The following are incidents in the life of Thomas A. Hendricks:

During the war one Charles W. Hall, a prominent democrat living in Indianapolis, became a government contractor, and furnished a large number of horses and mules to the government. After awhile it was discovered that he had committed great frauds.

He was arrested, tried, found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10,000 and to be confined six months in the Ohio penitentiary. Mr. Hendricks was his attorney, and he hastened to Washington and succeeded in having Hall pardoned. Shortly after his release he was appointed to a position in the treasury department at Washington, and subsequently had him transferred to a comfortable position in New York. When he was in New York, which he held until he died, he was called to the attention of President Grant.

Mr. Hendricks was the close friend of Perry Fuller, who was appointed a President Johnson collector of customs at New Orleans. Mr. Johnson had a personal dislike for Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In the senate there was strong opposition to his confirmation, and Mr. Hendricks requested the senate to suspend action on the matter for a few days. This was done, and the nomination was withdrawn by the president before the senate acted on it. After the senate had rejected President Johnson's appointment of Fuller, Mr. Hendricks was appointed collector of customs at New Orleans, and in that position he committed extensive frauds. After his exposure and conviction, he fled to New Orleans, and was finally instrumental in procuring his appointment, went to New Orleans to defend him.

Early in French Johnson's administration one Eber, of Vincennes, Ind., was found guilty of violating the internal revenue laws, and his property, worth $25,000 or $30,000, was seized and sold. Mr. Hendricks, who could reach the case a paragraph or so, received from President Johnson, which stated that it was granted upon the recommendation of Thomas A. Hendricks, United States senator from Indiana.

The Cholera.

MARSHVILLE, July 30.—The sale of molasses has been prohibited. The cholera is gaining in area what it is losing in intensity. It has made its appearance in several villages previously exempt. Owing to a peculiar prejudice it is positively dangerous for physicians to walk alone in the suburbs at night. One instance is reported of a doctor who, while visiting a woman seized with cholera, was assailed by her son, who drew a revolver and fired at the doctor. He was killed. Several other doctors have been assaulted.

PANAMA, July 30.—Twenty deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

Arch-Bishop Ryan Translated to Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—The Catholic Standard has a cable from Rome stating that a brief informing Arch-Bishop Ryan of his translation from St. Louis to this city was forwarded on the 20th inst. Mahoney, the editor of the Standard, states the prelate will probably receive the receipt by Monday, and it is likely will start for Philadelphia a few days later. The street procession that will receive the new arch-bishop will probably embrace 15,000 men.

Well Dressed People don't wear dingy or faded things when they go out. Guaranteed Diamond Dye will make them good as new. They are perfect. Get at drug stores and economical. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

A NOTABLE MEETING.

Further of the Great Irish Baine and Logan Gathering.

New York, July 28.—The gathering of Irish-American Independents this evening in Chickering hall to declare for Baine and Logan was one of the largest political assemblies held since the campaign began. Every seat in the parquet and gallery was filled, the aisles were crowded and a great throng in the street around the hall was waiting for admission before the hour named for calling the meeting to order. The size of the meeting astonished even those who have had the best opportunity of observing the popularity of the Irish voters in the campaign. On the platform and in the body of the house were many well known Irish politicians, including James F. Finley, John P. O'Rourke, Peter A. Tappan, Gen. Dennis F. Burke, Col. Joseph P. Ryan, Capt. O'Meara, Gen. Condon, Capt. Philip Carr, J. J. O'Reilly, Hugh McEron, and others of the Irish cause. The speakers were J. B. Sullivan, Stephen F. Fallon, John Connelley, J. B. Cunningham, Arthur M. Ryan, Richard M. Daley, James J. Conroy, D. Hamilton Williams and Thomas P. Neville. An American and an Irish flag hung from the gallery. Every member of the name of the republican candidate was received with unbounded applause. The hits at England and free trade were relished, and the speakers were enthusiastically received. The hall was filled with the spirit of the day, and the speakers were enthusiastically received. The hall was filled with the spirit of the day, and the speakers were enthusiastically received.

Many imitators, but no equal, has Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy. month, and a...

TOM HE-DRICKS.

A Few Incidents in the Life of the Indiana Statesman.

Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—The following are incidents in the life of Thomas A. Hendricks:

During the war one Charles W. Hall, a prominent democrat living in Indianapolis, became a government contractor, and furnished a large number of horses and mules to the government. After awhile it was discovered that he had committed great frauds.

He was arrested, tried, found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $10,000 and to be confined six months in the Ohio penitentiary. Mr. Hendricks was his attorney, and he hastened to Washington and succeeded in having Hall pardoned. Shortly after his release he was appointed to a position in the treasury department at Washington, and subsequently had him transferred to a comfortable position in New York. When he was in New York, which he held until he died, he was called to the attention of President Grant.

Mr. Hendricks was the close friend of Perry Fuller, who was appointed a President Johnson collector of customs at New Orleans. Mr. Johnson had a personal dislike for Commissioner of Internal Revenue. In the senate there was strong opposition to his confirmation, and Mr. Hendricks requested the senate to suspend action on the matter for a few days. This was done, and the nomination was withdrawn by the president before the senate acted on it. After the senate had rejected President Johnson's appointment of Fuller, Mr. Hendricks was appointed collector of customs at New Orleans, and in that position he committed extensive frauds. After his exposure and conviction, he fled to New Orleans, and was finally instrumental in procuring his appointment, went to New Orleans to defend him.

Early in French Johnson's administration one Eber, of Vincennes, Ind., was found guilty of violating the internal revenue laws, and his property, worth $25,000 or $30,000, was seized and sold. Mr. Hendricks, who could reach the case a paragraph or so, received from President Johnson, which stated that it was granted upon the recommendation of Thomas A. Hendricks, United States senator from Indiana.

The Cholera.

MARSHVILLE, July 30.—The sale of molasses has been prohibited. The cholera is gaining in area what it is losing in intensity. It has made its appearance in several villages previously exempt. Owing to a peculiar prejudice it is positively dangerous for physicians to walk alone in the suburbs at night. One instance is reported of a doctor who, while visiting a woman seized with cholera, was assailed by her son, who drew a revolver and fired at the doctor. He was killed. Several other doctors have been assaulted.

PANAMA, July 30.—Twenty deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from cholera at Maracaibo, night, and a total of 100 deaths from the epidemic of these cities continue to decline. Three hundred fugitives have returned home in the last two days.

PANAMA, July 30.—Evening—Eight deaths from chol