

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Saturday Morning August 2.

By Carrier... $10.00 per year

OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Reiter's summer styles. Music and dancing at the spiritual social this evening.

Regular meeting of the city council next Monday night.

The normal institute will continue its session one more week.

The Methodists held a social in the church parlors last evening.

Even the heated term does not cure the roller skating mania at Walnut.

Next Friday is the last day of service for the coming term of the circuit court.

Merriam's grocery wagon yesterday dished a wheel on Upper Broadway and broke it down badly.

Leave to marry was yesterday granted Wm. J. McIntyre and Clara B. Smith, both of Underwood.

Thos. Griffin was yesterday fined $3 by Justice Abbott for insulting a woman. He got off light enough.

There will be a meeting of the Land League to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which every member, young and old, is required to be present.

Mrs. Piper, mother of Charles Piper, died at her son's residence, Ninth street and Avenue D, yesterday. She was aged 80 years.

Rev. G. J. Kelley, of Papillon, Neb., will preach in the German language next Tuesday evening at the United Brethren church on Tenth street.

B. F. Hard, who was arrested for abusing his wife, was yesterday bound over to the district court in the sum of $100, promising to keep the peace until then.

Rev. T. S. Bovell, of Illinois, the newly chosen co-pastor of the Baptist church preaches his introductory sermon to-morrow morning and will also preach in the evening.

One of Geise's wagons tipped over by the United States express office yesterday, a wheel going to pieces, and dumping the whole load of beer kegs. The driver and a small boy narrowly escaped being crushed.

Ed. Bond, the old conductor of the Sioux City, who was reported as having been fatally stabbed in a western row, is alive and well in Buffalo Gap, Dakota, where he has a ranch with his father.

The bluff City steamer was yesterday pumping out Admiral James' yachting lake on Seventeenth street in front of Mr. Miller's residence. The water has stood several feet deep there for a long time.

Spiritual circles to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening at 1 o'clock and 8 o'clock in Spiritual hall, Shugart & Beno's block. Entrance on Main and Pearl streets, two doors south of post-office.

The county board of supervisors meet next Tuesday to grant permits to druggists to sell liquors. Already fourteen such permits have been issued, five of which are for parties in this city. About twelve more applications remain to be acted on.

The query is how many policemen it takes to guard the opera house during the evening entertainments there. Three or four at a time ought to do, especially when there is little for them to do but to sit and enjoy the fun.

A most profitable social meeting and bible study for young men is held each Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, in rooms of the Y. M. C. A., No. 12 North Main street. The young men of this city are most cordially invited to be present this evening.

The Blaine and Logan club yesterday flung its banner to the breeze, hanging it across Broadway from Masonic hall to Metcalf Block. It is a large, ho banner, and goes the democratic six feet better. Still another one of equal size is to be hung across Main street from Mueller's store.

The Havens-Havens cases seem to have fallen to pieces. He had her arrested for adultery, and failing to appear against her yesterday the case was dismissed, and costs taxed up to him. The case against him for assaulting her was then called up, and his bond declared forfeited.

Giovanni, the man who has the trained birds now on exhibition at the opera house, met with a heavy loss Thursday night. After the entertainment, while the cage of birds was standing on the stage with the cage door open as usual, some of the birds came out, among them the little one who fires the cannon. One of the attaches of the show by accident stepped on the bird killing it. The bird was valued at $100.

When the work of sewerage commenced Antonio Rosner was appointed by the council as inspector of the work. By some strange freak he was informed this week that Mr. Wightman had been chosen as his successor by the committee. Mr. Rosner has lived here thirteen years, and was highly recommended and stoutly vouched for by Alderman Geise and others. He says no reason was given him for the change being made, and it seems that he is entitled to some explanation.

Quite a telegraphic "scoop" was made by THE BEE yesterday morning, and last night's Herald in publishing the telegraphic account of the New York Times' article giving away the inside workings of the Union Pacific. With the exception of the BEE and Herald here, no paper in Omaha or Council Bluffs contained the important news last night, or yesterday morning. The Globe and Grandmother Nonpareil both failed to have it. Singular fact, that such eminent organs would miss news so exciting and interesting.

The ladies of the First ward in Council Bluffs met on the 31st of July, at the residence of the Rev. J. Fisk, on Benton street, and organized a society to be called the Ladies' Harmony Mission society. Mrs. J. Fisk was elected president, Mrs. Delong, vice-president, Mrs. L. S. Moomaw, secretary, Mrs. J. M. Palmer, treasurer, Mrs. Hammer, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Bean, Mrs. Fair, Miss Mattie Palmer, Miss Iday Pruyn, Miss Carrie Burgess, and Miss Daehler were elected directors. The object of the society is to raise funds to purchase a building in which to hold their cottage prayer meetings, which were commenced last winter at the residence of Mr. J. M. Palmer, and have been in successful operation ever since.

Unprecedented success! In four years' practice Dr. Jeffers has not lost a single patient.

REAPING THE REWARD.

Those Who Claim It Multiply In Numbers.

The Chief of Police, Skinner, to Have $300 for Getting a Postal.

The capture of the desperado Reynolds was an exciting event, but in police circles the division of the $1,000 reward offered for him, is causing about an equal commotion. As has been already stated, the police force on its organization under the new city administration agreed among themselves that they would put into a pot all rewards gained, and divide even, but a short time ago some claimed that others were not putting their extra earnings into this common fund, and there was a cry of "no fair," which caused a sort of break-up. Now that the $1,000 reward is to come in a lump, there has been an attempt to revive the old plan, and let the fat be divided, but this attempt has fallen through.

It has leaked out that the agreement reached by Officers Towns and Hurley with the sheriff, who were here to the effect that the $1,000 should be divided equally between the Chief of Police Tom Skinner, and Officers Hurley and Towns. This may be a surprise to many, as in the community there seems to be a general feeling that Hurley and Towns ought to have the $1,000, and then if they want to "tip" anybody for any pointers they could do so but it seems strange that the chief of police should claim one-third-over $300 and for what? The excuse is made that he got the postal card, giving a description of the man Reynolds, and that he gave this description to the officers. He, too, is the chief of police. He has to stay about the office, receiving and answering letters. He cannot get out and hunt down these criminals for which a reward is offered for their capture. He gets no large salary, and not having the opportunity for outside business, he shall get some share of the rewards. If he shall not give the policemen the information he receives by mail they would get no pointers on which to get these rewards. In the particular case, it is said, he stood on the corner and saw the man escaping from Officer Towns, and directed Officer Hurley's attention to it, and the latter started on the run, and being more speedy than others, got there first, and downed him at the risk of being killed, the fellow having a revolver drawn upon him, and being a crack shot. For this and other reasons it is thought that Chief Skinner should have one-third.

It has leaked out that Officers Hurley and Towns were persuaded to give the chief one-third part of the reward, but not their positions on the force would be made so unpleasant they would have to resign, or else that in some way they would have their heads taken off. Tax Bex man asked Mayor Vaughan about this yesterday, the mayor being the head of the police department, and it being in his control, and the agreement having been made in his office. He frankly admitted that such was the understanding, but said that Officers Hurley and Towns voluntarily entered into it, and were not forced into it. He said that in his opinion the money, all of it, really belonged to these two officers, and it was their's to dispose of. If they did not want Chief Skinner to share it with them all they had to do was to come to him and to say so, and Skinner's name should be stricken out of the written contract, which was in his safe.

"But what if the chief refuses to give them any pointers, or show them postals, etc., after this?"

"Why, just as I say, if I find out that he is of any other member of the force I mean to them on account of their not dividing this reward, I shall dismiss the fellow that does the dirt, whoever it is."

The little mayor was quite emphatic in his assertions that the giving of over $300 of the reward to the chief was purely voluntary, and that there was no threat made, nor was it necessary to divide for them to keep their places on the force.

It will be difficult for the public, however, to see any justice in the chief getting such a slice.

Besides the slice which is thus set aside for Skinner, it is talked that $50 or so shall be given the jailer for keeping the fellow over night, a rather expensive night's lodging considering that the city provides and furnishes the place, and pays the (Guarrel) brothers each a salary for just this business.

The two railway men still claim the reward for giving pointers, and a railway conductor is also fixing up some kind of a claim for giving another pointer. All these snide claims, however, seem to have little probability of being met, but the fact of a written agreement in the mayor's safe, that the reward shall go to Skinner, Hurley and Towns, looks as if the chief was pretty sure of getting as much as if he had risked his life and really captured the desperado.

POLITICAL PRATTLE.

Some of the Ludicrous Incidents of the Congressional Confab.

There is an increase to the amount and liveliness of political gossip, as the time nears for the holding of the republican primaries, which are to meet next Monday night. Who will the Pottawattamie county delegates favor for congressman? That is the conundrum.

The dear old grandmother yesterday called her little group about her, and read to them out of her scrap book, some alleged interviews with supposed congressional candidates. She gave four names, Manning, Chapman, Sapp and Wright. The old lady gave at length what Colonel Chapman thought about his chances, gave a hint as to what Colonel Sapp and Mr. Wright thought of their chances, but did not pretend to interview Lieutenant-Governor Manning. Why was he skipped. Is it possible that the good old lady is so getting into dotage that her memory is failing her, and that though mentioning him, she forgot him before she had read half a column to her children? Can it be true that the good old lady has taken a whim against Manning because he will not buy her scrap-book? Oh, no, it can't be so.

It is said that the colonel, who was formerly guardian of the old lady, got very nervous the other day, and sent for Geo. Wright to come to his house. A lengthy interview was had (the purport of which is said to have been "anything to beat Manning.") Then the nervous colonel went up to see the old grandmother, and she getting to be quite deaf, he sat down at the table and wrote her a long communication. Was it the same that the old lady read yesterday morning to her little circle of children? Quite likely. The colonel on being interviewed, says: "I believe in giving the people a chance to indicate their preference. If they should happen to want me for a candidate, I am where I can easily be found," and then he proceeds to say that he may be over-sensitive, but he cannot bear to see office. What has brought about this sudden sensitiveness?

The interview, no matter by whom written, has caused a little comment among those who delight in discussing the political matters, and has given rise to numerous reports, one being that it is Congressman Pusey's opinion that Chapman will ally capture this county's delegation. Another that Chapman will not support Blaine, and that he will support no republican nominee for congress, unless it shall chance to be Chapman himself, and still another report is that Chapman will be put on the democratic ticket for congress. It cannot be that he is going to do all these things, but it is evident from the talk that there is a general feeling that he is willing to take almost any route to get there.
