THE MOTHER HUBBARD.

The Rise and Fall of a Garment that Took the World by Storm.

One summer afternoon, about three years ago, a man milliner stood in his parlors on the Rue de la Paix, twirling a "remnant" in his hand. There was not enough of it to make a lady's dress according to any known pattern, and yet his Gallic parsimony forbade his wasting it.

In some parts of America, too, it came to be almost as much at home as in the land of its origin. The propriety of its use as a street dress provoked much discussion, and in one place at least, a small town in Western Missouri, it became the subject of litigation, a learned justice declaring that its use was a violation of town ordinance.

"There is this peculiarity," said a lady connected with one of the popular Washington street dry goods houses, "there is this peculiarity about the Mother Hubbard. Fashions, you know, generally act like cholera in one respect—they generally follow the routes of travel. But the Mother Hubbard rage has been an exception. It raged in Paris and London, but it skipped Boston and New York, and took hold again, as nearly as I can determine, somewhere in the vicinity of the great lakes to the west of us, and not far from the Potomac to the south."

"But I think I have seen them in Boston," the Globe man hazarded. "Yes, a few sporadic cases but nothing approaching the dignity of an epidemic." "But," continued the lady, "the question of Mother Hubbard or no Mother Hubbard as a lady's suit for street wear does not exhaust the subject. Far from it. In the first place we make a good many Mother Hubbard dresses for girls and misses for whom there is nothing more appropriate. Then, too, there is considerable demand for cloaks and wraps made on the Mother Hubbard pattern. In addition to this there is the Mother Hubbard for house wear, but even with these we always send a belt or sash. Very few Boston ladies would consider a Mother Hubbard good taste for street wear. It has gone now, and gone to stay. The only thing that remains to remind us of it is the high shoulder the ladies are wearing, so much nowadays."

Fortune's Freaks—Scattered Every where. Does history repeat itself in vain? Let no man doubt it. The Louisiana State Lottery did, on Tuesday, July 15, at noon, decide the 17th Grand Monthly Distribution, who should get $255,500 in sums from $75,000 down. All information can be had from M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. No. 12,333 drew first capital of $75,000, one-fifth paid to a citizen of Canadaville, Tenn., collected throughout the East of Commerce, No. 59,204 drew the 2d capital, $25,000, and fifth to N. M. Sewell, Spring Creek, Tenn., paid through 1st National Bank of Jackson, Tenn.; another to E. B. Conner, 205 Ninth st., Milwaukee, Wis. No. 47,879 drew the 3d capital prize, sold in San Francisco, Cal. No. 12,302 and 67,522 drew the 4th capital prize of $5,000, sold in fifth to Philip Roth, cor. Locust and Calios sts., New Orleans—one to Chris. Hottinger, Memphis, Tenn., another to Mrs. Emma J. Hoggard, Norfolk, Va., etc., etc. It all goes over again on Tuesday, Sept. 9th. Let the reader obtain an interest in the next event, it will not break him and may make him. (Quin sabe?)

There are Worse Things. Wall Street Daily News. "I don't see," said an old farmer who was going home over the Erie the other evening, "how them Wall street fellows dare speculate the way they do; why I should think they'd be afraid of losing money." "Oh they do!" replied his seat-mate. "I've heard tell that some of 'em were brought down from riches to poverty." "Yes; such cases happen almost every day." "Must be awful tough on 'em!" "Yes." "But then, all sich fellers are appointed railroad presidents right off, and soon pick up again. Nuthin' so very dreadful about it after all, when you come to think over it. 'Taint like havin' a $400 barn burned by lightning and the insurance company crawl out of payment on the ground that I kicked a patent churn man off the farm two weeks afore."

Horford's Acid Phosphate Drink With Soda Water is delicious. All druggists have it. It is refreshing and cooling. Try it often! Lunacy vs. Matrimony. Los Angeles Herald. Miss Laura Bridger, of Pomona, writes us as follows: "I have just read in your local columns that J. A. Revis and Laura Bridger were licensed to be married. Now, while J. A. Revis has my most unqualified license to make a fool of himself, he has never had my consent nor never will have, to make application for marriage license for himself and me. My impression is that the next application to be made by J. A. Revis ought to be for a commission in lunacy to examine into his mental condition. I am afraid that his great possessions in Arizona and the heat of that climate have very much muddled whatever little brains he ever had."

And all of the good and pleasant things that go to make up a complete and happy existence. The town of South Omaha is situated south of the city of Omaha on the line of the U. P. Railway, and it is less than 2 1/2 miles from the Omaha post office to the north line of the town site. South Omaha is nearly 1 1/2 miles north and south by 2 1/2 east and west, and covers an area of nearly four square miles. The stock yards are at the extreme southern limit. Nearly 150 lots have been sold and the demand is on the increase. The yards are being rapidly pushed to completion. The $60,000 beef packing house is progressing finely. The $30,000 Water Works are keeping pace with the other improvements, and the Hotel and Exchange Building will be erected at once. The B. & M. and Belt Line Railways have a large force of men at work and will, in connection with the U. P. Railway, have a union depot near the park at the north end of the town. Suitable grounds will be furnished for Church and School purposes. Now is the time to buy lots in this growing city. They will never be cheaper than they are to-day.
