NELLIE BOYD.

The Energetic Little Actress who Inherits Her Superior Earnings in Nebraska Farms.

The Nellie Boyd theatrical troupe passed through the city yesterday forenoon on its way to the Pacific coast states, where Miss Boyd begins in a few days her annual season, stopping at various places on the way west.

Learning through the Bee of Miss Boyd's expected presence for a few hours in the city, a number of her Omaha friends met that talented and energetic little actress at the U. P. depot and gave her a cordial greeting. It is acknowledged by those posted that there is hardly a stage professional in the country who has more off-the-stage friends than Miss Boyd, and she deserves them all, for no actress can now be recalled shows a nobler womanhood.

To unquestioned genius in her profession she adds a business ability that has enabled her to achieve merited success as an actress and accumulate a good-sized fortune. Realizing the value of Nebraska property, she has invested some of her earnings in several farms in this state, an especially fine tract being near Grand Island, on which her brother resides. She is also in possession of a hundred-acre fruit farm near Fresno, California, where her parents dwell, and the family is generally reunited each summer at Geneva Lake, where Miss Boyd has an elegant cottage. Then there is the old home in Chicago, where Miss Boyd made her first appearance in her profession, and more than a child, in a spectacular play, on the magnificent salary of 50 cents per evening. While engaged in her perilous profession Miss Boyd has not only so carefully guarded her reputation as to eschew slander's tongue, but has used her well-earned wealth to bring happiness to all around her, and her past season has been exceptionally prosperous, and she starts out this year with several new plays in her repertoire, for which she has just completed $3,000 worth of new dresses. There are seventeen people in her company, whose handsome and distinctive appearance at the depot yesterday, as they fitted in and out awaiting the making-up of the west-bound train, made quite a stirring and picturesque scene.

TOM MURRAY'S MISTAKE.

He Tampered with a Sewer and is Fined for so Doing by Judge Bencke.

Some three days ago sewer inspector McLean lodged a complaint in the police court, charging Thomas Murray with having tampered with the sewer on the corner of Fourteenth and Harney. The case came up for trial before Judge Bencke yesterday afternoon. It was not the most clearly proven that the defendant Murray was guilty of the crime charged but it was shown no one else could have a motive to commit it. Upon the evidence before the court Murray was pronounced guilty by Judge Bencke and was fined $10 and costs. Murray, who had manifested a bold front during the trial signified his intention to appeal but was informed by the court that he could not. He next stated he would go up on error but was told such a proceeding would not lie in his case. Not making any great effort to produce the $18.55, he was placed in the custody of Officer Sullivan who lodged him in the city jail. It is reported that he shed tears while there, but the rumor is wanting good authority. He finally asked Jailor Gorman if he thought the community could live without him and was informed by his keeper that his death even would cause no great distress in the city.

Mr. Murray finally concluded, after being so advised by his attorney, that his power to locate where he would was much dearer to him than the paltry sum of his fine and costs and purchased his freedom by giving the jailor a $5 bill and his check for $13.55.

Colored Men's Meeting. A public meeting of the colored American Blaine and Logan republican club will be held Thursday evening, Sept. 4, in the council chamber, at 7:30 o'clock. The officers and members of the republican clubs of the city are invited to attend. The meeting will be addressed by Hon. J. M. Thurston, and W. H. C. Stephenson. By order of the club, PETER WILLIAMS.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The records of the fire department for the last month show that thirteen alarms were turned in and water thrown eight times.

Raymond, the Fifteenth street jeweler, has his big show window filled with watches, and they are attracting a great deal of attention. It is certainly an elegant display.

Francis Nall yesterday instituted suit in the U. S. circuit court against the Union Pacific railway to recover $10,000, damages alleged to have been sustained by the loss of a horse on the Oregon Short line in October, 1883.

Architect Low, of the supervising architect office at Washington, D. C., is in the city looking over the alleged need of repairs in and about the government building, and reports that none are necessary to the heating apparatus. He will report at a later date upon the other talked of improvements.

Fire Chief Butler and several of the boys of the department have been busily engaged for the past several weeks upon the new building on Eleventh and Dorcas, to be known when finished as engine house No. 4. The roof has been completed and the work of putting on the siding is now in progress. It is intended to complete it before cold weather and occupy it this winter.

An action was instituted in the district court yesterday by Daniel J. Martin against Thomas Murray for $100. Martin is the man who was found in the county jail a short time since on a mittimus to warrant his detention by the jailor, and who was liberated by Sheriff Miller without taking him before a magistrate. The suit is one of false imprisonment, and Martin lays his damages at the above amount.

A LEGEND.

Attorney Baldwin Receives Another Mysterious Letter.

Attorney Baldwin yesterday received another mysterious letter from "Ferri." It is quite romantic and is appended:

A LEGEND OF THE GAMBLERS. Forth from the homes on the hillside, from their dens by the river, leaving their spouses and their children in a mist of tears, they came, clad in martial array, each one with his bow and his quiver, and their steps toward the center, to the council room of gamblers. The moon was clear and bright, and the air was cool, and the warriors, assembled in jealousy and wrath, with envy and hatred kindled.

First came Cleaver, their chief, whose faith in ardent spirits was mighty. On his right was Wampus Belt, tall and straight, and a noble, whose clear voice when he spoke rang on the air like a trumpet. The next was Hammer Stroke, or double name, with his nose as broad as a hammer head, and his mouth as wide as a grin. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

Then came the old man, who was the best of the best, and his name was known to all. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

Then came the old man, who was the best of the best, and his name was known to all. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

Then came the old man, who was the best of the best, and his name was known to all. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

Then came the old man, who was the best of the best, and his name was known to all. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

Then came the old man, who was the best of the best, and his name was known to all. He was the best of the best, and his name was known to all.

fatal. The increase is attributed to the excess of Sunday free day. A veritable panic prevails. Disturbances are frequent. Hundreds are flying to Rome.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The report of the resignation of General Campan as minister of war is impending. General Millot who has had command of the French troops in Tonquin will embark at Saigon the 22d inst. on his return to France. His successor will be appointed by the cabinet cabinet after prime minister Ferry returns from Saint Pie. Le Temps urges the government to give command of the French troops there to officers holding important positions in the country and to accustom them to having large bodies of troops. The preparations are completed for dispatching 2,500 marines and 6,000 regulars to China, if circumstances render it necessary.

A delegation of the extreme left has sent a letter to President Grevy, pointing out that France is conducting the war without the vote of the chambers and expending money without the sanction of the national parliament. The disposition of the country's forces, the letter continues, is wounding the national defense and personal power being affirmed with obstinacy and audacity unworthy of the republic. The constitution remains a dead letter, and the government acts without informing or consulting the representatives of the people. The letter concludes by demanding a convention for the chambers and appointing Grevy's high political policy. It is believed Grevy will simply acknowledge the receipt of the letter, making no further reply.

Kansas Prohibitionists.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Sept. 2.—The prohibition state convention met in this city today about one hundred and fifty delegates were present with credentials, and of this number about fifty were permitted to participate as members of the convention, the remainder being refused because they refused to pledge themselves to support St. John for president. A. M. Richardson presided over the convention. Presidential electors were nominated. It was moved to nominate a state ticket with John A. Martin at the head. The motion was lost. It was then moved to turn the matter of a state ticket over to the state committee to report in October. Lost. It was then moved that the convention endorse John A. Martin, republican candidate for governor. Lost. A resolution was then passed as follows:

Resolved, That we believe it to be our best interests to leave our power nominating state officers to leave the matter to each member to act individually and that we use our best endeavors to secure the election of the national prohibition ticket.

The convention adopted the following platform: Whereas, it is customary for party organizations in appealing to the people for their support to announce the principles which they espouse and maintain, therefore resolved, first we regard the construction and statutory prohibition of liquor traffic both in the state and with nation as the most vital and important political issue of the present time.

Second, we pledge ourselves as a party to use our best endeavors to secure the election to office of men who believe in prohibition as a principle, and who will use their official power for its adoption and enforcement. Third, we propose to modify and amend the prohibitory law of our state so as to render its enforcement thorough and effective and certain. Fourth, we insist that the government should use all its constitutional power to abolish polygamy and traffic in intoxicating liquors in the territories and in the District of Columbia. That it should issue no revenue permits for the sale of such liquors, and should prohibit interstate traffic in the same. Fifth, we believe in civil service reform and that capacity and honesty, and not party ties or personal favoritism should govern the selection of men for office. We believe the postmasters and postmistresses of the country should be chosen by the people whom they serve.
