NATIONAL MOURNING.

The Death of Secretary of the Treasury, Charles J. Folger.

His Unexpected Demise Spreads General Gloom

Throughout All the Diplomatic Department.

The Unsettled Question of an Immediate Successor.

President Arthur Recieves the News at Newport.

Government Buildings and Vessels Fly Their Flags at Half Mast In Token of Mourning.

GENEVA, N. Y., September 4.—Secretary of the treasury Chas. J. Folger died suddenly at 4:55 o'clock this afternoon.

GENEVA, N. Y., September 4.—Secretary Folger died at 4:55. The only persons present were Miss Hart, his deceased wife's sister, Dr. Knapp and some law associates, his family physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, and his colored servant, James. Dr. Smith and Captain J. S. Lewis left him but a few minutes previous. Dr. Henry Foster, who had been here two or three times as consulting physician, arrived on the 4:45 train and was conveyed to the Folger mansion by Dr. Smith. Mrs. Ernst, the secretary's sister, arrived by the same train. After the three last named had entered the dying man gasped twice or thrice and all was over.

Secretary Folger's two daughters are in the Adirondacks. The elder is in very feeble health. His son, Capt. Chas. V. Folger, is at Alexandria, Va. All had been written to come to Geneva, the telegraph not being earlier resorted to as so sudden a termination of the father's malady was not apprehended. Capt. Folger will arrive tomorrow.

The secretary returned for the last time to Geneva Wednesday evening, the 20th ult. He callep his family physician next morning, who gives of the case—great feebleness of the heart's action, congestion of the middle lobe of the right lung, and capillary congestion of the bronchial tubes, torpor of the liver, albuminous discharge of urine, showing disease of the kidneys. The doctor was informed that the secretary had had a hemorrhage of the lungs three times of late, before his return. The first was while out yatching with frends at New York, on which occasion he discharged about a quart of blood.

Secretary Folger rode out daily until and including the 29th ult., since which time he kept his room, but did not wholly abandon official work. He continued to answer important letters and telegrams up to yesterday and seemed reluctant to give up, yet he was by no means unconscious of

HIS CRITICAL CONDITION.

He entrusted to his personal friend, Captain Lewis, the final messages to his family and other directions of a confidential nature.

Within a few moments after the secretary expired, telegrams announcing the sad event were dispatched to President Arthur at Newport, Assistant Secretary Coon, Frank Sperry, Folger's private secretary, Hon. Thomas C. Acton, assistant treasurer, at New York, and Judge Andrews at Syracuse. General gloom pervades the people of Geneva over the sudden removal of their beloved townsman. Men of all parties and all conditions of life alike, join in expressions of sorrow. The first.

displayed were above the entrance to the quarters of the 54th separate company, Folger's corps, N. G. S., N. Y., at the Geneva national bank, and upon the large Cleveland and Hendricks banner suspended across Seneca street. The secretary will be interred in Geneva, by the side of his wife, who died seven years ago.

THE NEWS AT WASHINGTON.

The first news of the death of Secretary Folger received in this city was conveyed in an associated press dispatch from Geneva. Upon it being shown to Assistant Secretary Coon, who is the acting secretary, he immediately notified the chiefs of the bureaus in the treasury department and invited them to meet at his office this evening. As the news of the death of the Secretary spread about, it was received with a general expression of regret. The officials of the treasury department especially were shocked by the suddenness of the event. The generally expressed opinion of these officers was that Mr. Folger's death was

DUE TO OVERWORK.

"He sought to supervise all the details of the service instead of leaving the merely routine routine work to his subordinates," said one prominent official, and all others who were spoken with on the subject ascribed the Secretary's illness and death to the same cause. Treasurer Wyman said that for some time before Folger left the department he had been complaining of a pain in the region of the heart and difficulty in breathing. The watchmen and other employes of the department on duty to-night, as well as minor officials, who heard the news expressed their sorrow and spoke of Folger's uniform kindness to them. At the meeting in the assistant secretary's office this evening there were present Mr. Coon, who presided, Comptroller Lawrence, Commissioner Johnson, Treasurer Wyman, Commissioner Evans, Fourth Auditor Beardsley, Supervising Inspector Bell, General Dumont, supervising inspector of steamboats, Mr. Mimmo, chief of bureau of statistics, Mr. Alexander, fifth auditor, and Judge Crowell, acting sixth auditor.

Mr. Coon on calling the meeting to order, announced the death of Secretary Folger, and stated that he had called the officials together to advise with him as to proper action to be taken. In the an executive order to close the department could not be had, and he was doubtful of his authority to close it informally, even for a day. He said that if there were no legal obstacles in the way he would to-morrow and also on the day of the funeral. Judge Lawrence, first controller, Judge Johnson, the commissioner of customs, and Mr. Alexander, fifth auditor, gave it as their opinion that the acting secretary had the authority to close the department informally. Mr. Coon, after hearing from these advisors, announced that he would issue an order closing the department to-morrow informally, and stated that he had already ordered the draping of the building. He afterwards informed the reporters that when the department is informally closed all mail and express matter is received as usual but that nothing is sent out of the department, and nothing goes on record as having been done on that day. He said that the relations of the treasury department with the business world were such that it was important that it be closed as seldom as possible. He thought that by the direction of the president the sub-treasuries and outside bureaus of the department could be closed for a couple of hours at least on the day of the secretary's funeral.

Mr. Coon upon receiving the news of the death of the secretary, notified the postmaster general, who is the only cabinet officer in the city and both sent informing the latter that they had received the news of the death of Mr. Folger.

Assistant Sdcretary French, of the treasury, has been in Europe for some time. His absence leaves Mr. Coon as the only assistant of the secretary here, and he has been acting secretary since Folger left. Under the law he will continue to act as secretary, unless the president should make another appointment, for ten days from to-day. The death of a cabinet officer during his term of office has been in this country. Webster died while secretary of state, and two secretaries of war, Rollins and Upshur, and two postmaster generals, Brown and Howe, have died while in office. Folger is the first secretary of treasury who died while holding office.

Assistant Secretary Coon said that he had received several letters recently from Secretary Folger, in which the latter wrote rather despondently. In one, alluding to the burden of the work in the department. The secretary said that while he was about useless, still he would pack his trunk and return to duty if he (Coon) felt that too much was laid upon him. In another he remarked that he was

"IN A MISERABLE PLIGHT."

While the third letter closed abruptly with the remark that he had set out to write at length, but felt too weak and listless, other letters, since received, were dictated to an amanuensis and while containing clear directions concerning important departmental matters, also conveyed the intelligence, inserted by the writer thrt the secretary was a very sick man and capable of only the smallest physical and mental exertion. In one letter, acting Secretary Coon was advised to send a cable message to Assistant Secretary French, asking him to return immediately. Judge French was then on his way to Liverpool.

In regard to the question of filling the vacancy by a temporary appointment, Mr. Coon submitted the question to the attorney-general. On the death recently of Sixth Auditor Ela, the attorney-general gave his opinion that a vacancy occurring by the death of the head of a bureau expiration of the ten days, either by temporary designation or permanent appointment, and that such temporary designation if made could be only for ten days. It would follow therefore that the vacancy in the treasury may be temporally filled by an appointment for ten days from the 17th inst and must be permanently filled not later than the 28th inst, Sunday not being counted.

A meeting of the heads of the treasury bureaus will be held tomorrow to draft appropriate resolutions of respect to Folger.

ARTHUR RECEIVES THE NEWS.

NEWPORT, R. I., September 4.—President Arthur received the telegram announcing the death of Secretary Folger at five o'clock and was greatly affected by the news. He will attend the funeral and hopes to be able to attend that of Senator Anthony also. He has telegraphed his condolences to the father of Secretary Folger and ordered the flags on all government vessels and buildings in this vicinity and at Fort Adams to be placed at half mast until after the funeral. The president had intended giving a dinner to an English admiral Saturday night but that is now probably indefinitely postponed.

In the first heat, Johnston took the lead and held it to the end, though crowded close by Richball, and won by a length; time, 2:13. In the second heat Johnston again took the lead but broke badly at the head of the stretch. Richball won in 2:20½. The third heat was a splendid race, Johnston again took the lead, but Richball was even with him at the first quarter. From there to the last it was an even race at a very fast pace. The China Row.

HON KONG, September 4.—The Chinese have cut the military road through the French cemetery at Canton, destroying the mausoleums and rifling the tombs.

China yesterday paid the French consul at Hong Kong $27,000 idemnity for losses incurred by the French subjects in the Canton riots in 1883.

PARIS, September 4.—The Republique Francaise says: "It is probable that Admiral Courbt twill occupy the island of Formosa in force. This action is necessary in order to secure the ratification of the treaty of Tien Tsio and the payment of idemnity for the Langson affair.

BISMARCK AND CHINA.

PARIS, Sept. 4.—La Matin makes the following statement on diplomatic authority: "Bismarck agreed to give France the support and influence of Germany in the attack on China, on condition that the treaty with China of 1860 be revised so as to enable Germany to obtain equal concessions with England, America and France. Bismarck asked the Pekin government to give such a concession at Shanghai, but the request was refused on the ground that the consent of all the contracting parties to the treaty of 1860 was required. Bismarck also aims to form a trading and naval station at Cape Shang Tong, south of the gulf of Petchili."

LONDON, September 4.—Advices from China state that three Chinese armies are marching to invade Tonquin, one from each of the three southern provinces of China. The army from Kwang Si numbers 25,000; from Yun Nan 20,000 and from Kwang-tung the same. The Yun Nan army will join the Black-flags at Lookai, on the Tonquin frontier. There are said to be over 10,000 Blackflags at that point. These combined forces will march down Red River to attack Hunghai.

LONDON, September 4.—A Times Hong Konz dispatch of yesterday says that the French are shelling Kelung again. It is presumed they intend to occupy the city. Its possession will be of no value as it will absorb all their available landing force without affording any corresponding advantages.

The Kwang Si army will march into Tonquin by way of Coo Binh, in company with a Canton army now at Langson. They will attack Ban Ninh. Six thousand French hold Ha Noi. Hung Hoe, Sontay and Bacninh.

AN ARMISTICE PROPOSED.

LONDON, September 4.—Admiral Courbet will suspend operations in China until Patenotre, French minister in China, has made a report of the political situation at Pekin. Telegraph communication with Shanghai ceases at Tsining. The opposition of the peace and war parties is reaching the pitch of a civil war.

COURBET HAS DISCRETIONARY POWER.

PARIS, September 4.—It is semi-officially reported that Admiral Courbet has received a carte blanche as to his operations against China. It is stated that he will not undertake further hostilities for ten days until reinforcements from Saizon reach him in sufficient numbers to enable him to seize and occupy some of the northern ports.

BLAINE ON BUCOLICS.

He Addresses a Vast Gathering at the New England Fair, Confining his remarks to Industrial Matters.

MANCHESTER, N. H., September 4.—The ourth day of the New England fair opened with fine weather. James G. Blaine, ex-Governor Smyth, George B. Loring and Mayor Portman entered the grounds at noon, followed in other coaches by many distinguished citizens. Blaine was received with cheers. When the party was seated the president of the New England Agricultural society, George B. Loring, introduced Blaine, who spoke as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen: It is pleasant to find ourselves in an assemblage where all bear name of higher honor than any partisan designation, an assemblage in which American citizenship and rejoice in the title, as in its self-constituting a civic distinction of priceless value. An agricultural fair is a farmers parliment. On this day and on this occasion the most independent class of citizens speak to the world by word and deed for that great fundamental interest, on which the republic rests for its security and its prosperity.

It has become a trite saying that agriculture is the basis of all wealth, but the full measure of the statement may be comprehended when we remember that in this year of grace, 1884, the total value of the product from farm and flock in the United states, will exceed $3,000,000,000, an amount brought forth in a single year, vastly in excess of the national debt at its highest point. We are not in the habit of considering New England as specially distinguished for agriculture, and yet the annual product from her soil is greater in value than all the gold taken from the mines of California and Australia, in the richest year of their fabulous yield. The farmer is always more successful than the miner in extracting money from the earth, a fact most strikingly shown in the history of California whose splendid march to wealth and power only fairly began when the energies of her people were turned to the production of bread for the world instead of gold The prodigious consumption of 56,000,000 people is brought strongly before us when we realize how vast a proportion of our aggregate product is used at home and how small a share is sent abroad. The one hundred and some odd millions of New England farm products do not support her own people, and the are compelled to exchange, the fruits of mechanical industry to an enormous amount annually for the means of subsistence, so lavishly outpoured from the granaries of the more fertile west; and this fact is but one of many which show the independence of our people, and the vast extent of our intertual exchanges. The scene to-day has enhanced the interest, when we reflect that throughout the gorgeous autumn upon which we have just entered, it will be reprocued in countless communities throughout our land, from ocean to ocean, from northern lake to southern gulf—richness of harvest, contentment and happiness of people will be shown on fields as in fairs by displays, as brilliant as those which now delight our eyes and gladden our hearts. Nor will autumn exhaust the inspiring scenes.

When the chill of winter on the northern border of the union shall make the southern sun seem genial and welcome, our brethren of the cotton region will continue the wondrous story. They invite us to witness the commercial emporium of the south, the great triumph of southern agriculture in the production of that single plant which has revolutionized manufactures. They have the finest in the world which has placed the United States beyond the reach of imagination, and has added incalculably to the comfort, health and luxury of the human race. Standing as I do in the face of New England States, it is an agreeable duty to extend my congratulations to the New England farmers on the results of this year's labor, and on the general and more important fact that at no period in the history of New England husbandry has intelligent labor been blessed with more profitable results than during the present generation.

If there be any one who doubts this I wish he were here today and could hear what I have heard and seen what I have seen [applause.] I heartily congratulate the New England society on the brilliant success of this exhibition, and I beg to return my sincere thanks to all for the personal kindness and cordiality with which I have been honored."

At the conclusion of Blaine's remarks he was given three cheers by the crowd, to which he bowed his acknowledgements. Blaine was then escorted to his carriage and driven directly to the residence of Ex-Governor Smythe.

The American Association of Science at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, September 4.—The thirty-third meeting of the American association for the advancement of science opened to-day in the Academy of Music before an unusually large assemblage of members, noted specialists, and a fair number of citizens. Many members were accompanied by ladies of their families. J. P. Lesley presided. The welcome to the association in behalf of the stats of Pennsylvania was then extended by Governor Pattison. Mayor Smith, on behalf of Philadelphia next made some welcoming remarks.

The addresses were replied to by President Lesley. Dr. Edward J. Nolan, of the local executive committee, states that delegates were present from the principal scientific societies of the world and acknowledgements had been received from others unable to be present. The chair read a cablegram from the Scientific congress of France, wishing for prosperity and extending compliments amicable and fraternal

The following was prepared to be cabled: "The American association in session at Philadelphia, the home of Franklin, greets the French Congress in session at Blois, birthplace of Pappin,—may steam and electricity which join in proclaiming and realizing the ideas of science unite nations in good will for the welfare of all mankind." After a general meeting the sections met in respective quarters and listened to the customary opening addresses.

Government Telegraph Rates.

WASHINGTON, September 4.—The postmaster general today, acting under provisions of the act of 1866, which requires the postmaster general annually to fix the rates to be paid for government telegraphing, issued an order fixing the rates for the remainder of the present fiscal year, as follows: The reduction ordered is the greatest reduction made in any one year or series of years. Rates promulvated are those reported by the senate committee on postoffices and postroods last winter in their postal telegraph bill. The postmaster thinks it is fair to adopt them for the government service.

The Fire Record.

NEW YORK, September 4.—The Daily Commercial Bulletin, of September 5, reports the loss by fire during August at $10,590,000, exceeding any previous known fire record of that month and making a total of $74,999,000. The destruction wrought by fire this year, so far, is $311,000,000 in excess the same eight months in 1883, the total of which year was in excess of any previous year, except 1871 and 1872, when the great Chicago and Boston fires occurred.

Plagues in Italy.

ROME, September 4.—At Nicasio, Sicily a fire broke out in the sulphur mine. Twenty persons perished. King Humbert contributed two thousand dollars to aid the sufferers of cholera at Spezia. He will visit Naples where three cabinet ministers are already visiting the worst quarters, destributing relief.

LONDON, September 4.—The Rome correspondent of the Times says the cholera panic prevails throughout Italy, each town taking measures of protection regardless of government. The post guards prevent travelers entering precincts until after a quarantine of twenty days. Villages have established armed cordons, and many have closed their estates to everyone. Result, many parts of the peninsula are practically isolated from the world.

PANICKY FEELING.

ROME, September 4.—The evidences of a cholera panic throughout Italy continue to multiply. The populace at Cazzanoli attempted today to stop the railway service from Naples. The mob here in Rome drove a priest who just arrived from Naples away from the city. All travelers are refused entrance into the city. In some places the popular agitation began in favor of abolishing local quarantine and establishing houres of observation for travelers suspected of illness. In consequence of this plan being forbidden by the government the people of Civita Vecchia attempted to destroy railways.

NAPLES, Italy, September 4—Further heavy rainfalls have increased the mortality here. Roman candles are burned on the streets to purify the air. The statute of San Genaro was carried in procession to day. Troops have been sent to Casino, Aboli, and other towns which refuse to admit persons from Naples.

The Pleuro-Pneumonia Scare in Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kas., September 4.—State Veterinary Surgeon Halcomb has filed with Governor Glick his report of the cases of pleuro-pneumonia which he has been investigating in Illinois. He declares that the disease exists, and that cattle has been sold from affected herds which have been sent to other states, notably Kentucky, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Texas. He did not learn that any exposed cattle had been sent to Kansas, but in view of the insufficient measures taken in Illinois under the operations of the quarantine established by Governor Hamilton, he recommends that, until all localities in which the disease exists have been made public, that Kansas shall quarantine against the world and admit no cattle except that they undergo strict quarantine for the period of twenty days. The live stock sanitary commission will consider the matter. The meeting will be held in Kansas.

Municipal Crookedenss.

NEW YORK, September 4.—An indignation meeting was held tonight, Mayor Edson presiding, to demand the action of the board of aldermen in giving away the franchise to the Broadway Surface railroad. The resolutions adopted declare that no franchise for a city railroad should hereafter be granted except to the corporation which should pay the highest price for it at auction; also providing for the appointment of a committee of fifty citizens and taxpayers to be known as "the city franchise committee," to be charged with the duty of protecting the franchise of the city.

Upon learning the true fact he says that prosecution was immediately discontinued.

In the police court yesterday afternoon Judge Beneke adjadged William Alexander guilty of assault and battery and fined him $5.00 and costs. It appeared that this defendant, who is a small colored youth and works in Higgins' gambling house, got into an altercation with Walsh, a man twice his size, and administered to him a good sound beating for which he was arrested and convicted. NEBRASKA CENTRAL R'Y.

A Loan Secured and the Road an Assured Fact.

The interest which the Nebraska Central railroad scheme created some time ago has again been aroused and now looks something more than a thing of paper. The projectors of this new railway have concluded negotiations for the loan of $10,000,000 from the Farmers' Loan and Trust company of New York city, which insures the construction of the road. On every five miles of railway line this company has agreed to loan $100,000, to be secured by a first mortgage on the road bed, rolling stock, etc., of the road. The managers of this project are already filing mortgages to this effect in all the various counties through which the line will pass.

The east terminus of the road will be in Decatur and the line will extend west about 476 miles, terminating in northwestern Nebraska, in Sioux county, the exact point not having yet been determined.

The Shakers Shaking.

What makes a man feel as shaky as chills and fever? It is shake, shake, shak, until you almost rattle you teeth out and shake the buttons off of your coat. What drives chills and fever out? Brown's Iron Bitters. If you have never tried it get some at once, and don't shake any more. Mr. Chas. M. Newell, of Tettington, Va., says, "I used Brown's Iron Bitters last fall for chills and fever, and derived great benefit." It is the best tonic known.

R. T. Shannon, the contractor, has had for several days a quite large force of men at work on Ninth and Dodge, where a Waring sewer of 800 foot length is being laid to take the place of the one running under the bluff at the foot of the street. This sewer is of the same diameter as the old one but the work of laying it is much greater, the trench in some places being 27 feet deep.
