ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

THE FEDERAL BUILDING.

Work Began On The Same Yesterday.

The steam pile driver began work at the corner of Broadway and Sixth street yesterday morning. The piles are sixteen feet long, and it will require about 500 for the foundation of the building to rest on. It will probably take all of this month to complete the driving of these piles.

Mr. Frank Wise, the foreman of the driving gang, had two of his fingers on his right hand mashed early in the morning, but amputation will be unnecessary.

At the completion of the driving of the third pile the cap that protects the top of the pile from being struck by the hammer, was found to be split, and it was taken away to be bolted together, until a new one could be made. Seventeen piles were all that were driven yesterday.

Mr. O. J. King superintendent of the building and his assistant Mr. O. Bell were kept busy most of the day answering questions put to them by outsiders, all being anxious to know what kind of a building it is to be and if he starts in on the plans for a $100,000 building or a $200,000 one. He (Mr. King) stated that the only correct account of what he proposed to do was published in The Bee and that he was simply following instructions from Washington. His instructions are to proceed under the last plans received by him which widens the building fourteen feet on Broadway. He will continue on the foundation and if the next session of congress appropriates the additional $100,000 asked for, the superstructure will be of stone instead of brick and the foundation will not have to be changed.

It is thought that ten or twelve feet below the bottom of the foundation that there is quick sand as when the piles got down that far they sprung up some. The building is to be eighty-six feet on Sixth street and one hundred and six feet on Broadway. The government ground on which the building is to be erected is 120 by 190 feet.

"BUGGY JIM."

The Bunco Steerer—He Falls to Fool a Council Bluffs Man.

A gentleman who has just returned from the state fair at Des Moines reports to one of THE BEE force his experience with a fellow known as Jim Ballard but by his pals and the crooks generally as "Buggy Jim." It seems this "Buggy Jim" once kept a stable in Chicago and would not allow anyone to have a buggy that was finer than his, consequently they called him "Buggy Jim."

The gentleman reports that this crook tackled him and tried to steer him against a scheme in which the Council Bluffs man was sure to win several hundred dollars and had nothing to lose—all that was necessary to win this "pile" was simply to go with "Jim" to a room where a lottery was being carried on and buy one hundred dollars worth of tickets and he was sure to win as they were willing to let him win in order to get some other "bite." The man from this city "caught on" to his racket and went with him. He says this "Buggy Jim" uses more slang than any man he ever heard, so much so that he could hardly tell what the fellow was talking about. On their arrival in the room where the business was supposed to be carried on, the man behind the desk gave Jim "the laugh" at trying to "down" this man in whom he recognized an old acquaintance. They then talked over matters, and the gentleman left them. "Buggy Jim," in meeting the Bluffs man on the street told him he had fared well in Des Moines and was coming west the next day and intended to take in Omaha during the fair week. It is stated that "Buggy Jim" is the slickest bunco steerer between Chicago and San Francisco.

That Beer Garden.

Complaint is continually being made by the residents of Upper Pierce street about the beer garden, which is said to be managed by one Bohning. Yesterday one of the residents of that part of the city told a Bee man that from 9 o'clock Sunday night until 3 o'clock Monday morning there was continued fighting, that the place was packed with the very worst class of men and women in the city, that prostitutes and pimps were driving up and down the street in front of Casper's and Keell's residences shouting, cursing and using all the indecent language at their command that the neighbors are afraid they will fire their residences, and that police protection is too limited for that part of town. The gentleman said he was going to try and have the place closed up, at any rate on Sundays. It seems that some effective move should be made to close up this garden, as this is not the first time that complaint has been made through newspapers nor by second time by any means. And in the name of law and order THE BEE demands the place be closed.

A Bold Burglary.

Last evening at about 9 o'clock a burglar entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Benedict in the rear of Mrs. Benedict's hair store, No. 337 Broadway, while they were sitting just outside the front door. The entrance was effected by prying open the screen door. The burglar opened the drawer of a dressing case and found and carried off a lady's hand bag with nine or ten dollars in cash, a diamond set that cost six hundred dollars. Also a garnet set and some rings, in all about eight hundred dollars. The theft was not discovered until half an hour later, when the family was preparing to retire for the night. No clue has been found to the burglars.

Wealthy Woman of New York.

Philadelphia Record. One trouble about the owners of Broad way property is that at least two thirds of them are non-residents and quite a large number live abroad. The owner of the Boreel building at Cedar street, for instance is Madame Boreel, who has lived in Paris for a quarter of a century, and has brought up her children as Parisians. This building yields her a revenue of $300,000, and all matters of revenue are profound indifference to the owner. The Broadway, from Fourteenth street to the Battery. It is valued at $850,000 and has nearly one thousand different owners so widely scattered that it is difficult to obtain an opinion from a genuine majority of them. They are aware, however, that rents on Broadway, between Canal and Fourteenth streets, have not advanced since the elevated railroads were built, and that business has deteriorated, and they begin to feel like welcoming a horse railroad or anything else that will restore trade to the thoroughfare.

Quite a number of the owners of property there are women, and they show in the main an excellent capacity for business. In their case the wealth is inherited, and such women are rarely spendthrifts. It is said that New York holds the richest woman in the country in the person of Miss Catherine Wolfe, whose benefactions have always kept pace with the growth of her riches. Her father married successively two sisters of the late Peter Lorillard, and acquired a dowry with each wife. Catherine Wolfe, the oldest of the children, is now advanced in years, and the real estate she owns in this city is said to be worth six or seven millions and her total yearly revenue is nearly one million. Of course she has had many, but she has found that her fortune was the objective point, and she has kept them all at a distance. It is a heavy penalty to pay for wealth, but she bears the loss well—at least outwardly. Newport people sometimes have a dispute as to whether Miss Wolfe or Mrs. Sam. Colt, of Hartford, widow of Sam Colt, of revolver fame, has the most money in her own right. Mrs. Colt was the daughter of Rev. William Jarvis, a Baptist minister, and her husband left at her almost absolute disposal an immense property, which has rapidly appreciated under her hands in the last twenty years. Colt, by the way, was a man of abominably bad temper and equally evil morals; but his wife has always spoken of him as if he were an angel of goodness, and even defied him in a small volume published after his death. Miss Wolfe might have done equally well. Both ladies are Episcopalians, and their benefactions to that church have been right royal.

Nothing Made in Vain.

We are told that nothing was made in vain; but what can be said of the fashionable girl of the period? Isn't she maiden vain? Hood's Sarsaparilla is made in Lowell, Mass., where there are more bottles of it sold than of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier. It is never taken in vain. It purifies the blood, strengthens the system, and gives new life and vigor to the entire body. 100 doses $1.
