The interests of tragedy appear to be picking up. Intelligence comes from Europe that since Mr. John McCullough began to test the waters at Barlebad his lungs have gained an inflative power of seven inches. When Mr. McCullough comes down the stage next winter with a white paper cambric toga thrown up over his left lung it is expected that his "S'death, variets, and would ye die a craven's death!" will be powerfully suggestive of a boiler factory in full blast.

Madame Patti now has her Castle of Craigy Nos, in Wales, lighted by electricity. The installation, says The Electrician (London), consists of seventy-two candle-power incandescent lamps, distributed in the winter gar-den conservatory, dining hall, boudoir, etc. In the winter garden and conservatory the lamps hang by twisted silk cord from the roof, and have tinted green lilies over them.
The effect among the various climbing and other plants which are festoned above the roof is charming. In the dining, drawing and billiard rooms and the bouldor the lamps are partly attached to the existing gas fittings and partly hung by silk cords from the ceilings. The lamps are all covered with tinted opales cent ruby and other shades.

La Petite, a phenomenal child actress and vocalist, and a protege of Nilsson, has been engaged for next season by A. G. Summer, who is forming a juvenile opera company. Bijon Fernandez and Mabel Stephens will be members. The first named is but eleven years old.

A camp-meeting under the auspices of a colored people within the auditor, recently opened at St. Ronan's Well, Flushing, Long Island, is not likely to be of much benefit to the colored race. At the Sunday afternoon services there were 200 white people and only twenty colored people present, the whites all men and the colored all women. The preacher emarked this as a remarkable feature. A collection was ordered and counted before the assembly. After corting out fifty buttons there was just $1.50 in coppers and nickles. The preacher said the church was poor and that they must pony up at least fifty cents more or the whole thing would "bust" up. Another levy upon the worshipers yielded eighty cents, without counting the buttons. The preacher now discovered that his members. The first named is but eleven years old.

The actual yearly expenditures of all moneys for public schools in the whole country is at this time just about $80,000,000.

The number of students in attendance at Boston university has steadily increased the past four years, the summaries being as follows: 505, 555, and 619. Over a hundred schools in Paris are now provided with workshops. At present they turn out articles of wood from planing benches and lathes. It is proposed soon to add iron to the material to be operated on.

German physicians are claimed by many to be the most skillful in the world. They study thirteen years, in an ordinary college for five years, then attend a medical school six years, and end up with two years in a hospital. Dickenson college, Carlisle, Pa., is the next institution to benefit by the liberality of a private individual, Jacob Tome of Port Deposit, Md., having promised $25,000 for a scientific building, with a library also to be filled by and with rich tomes.

The school savings banks of France have been wonderfully sucressful. In 1879, five years after their foundation, there were 10,440 schools provided with such banks, and 224,200 depositors. The numbers have now risen to 21,484 schools and 442,021 depositors.
