THE GREATEST THING YET.

A Paint That Defies the Elements and Stands Unrivaled.

A Stock Company formed in this City to Work the State of Nebraska.

For years the people of this community have been looking for something with which to cover their roofs, buildings and fences that would successfully resist the ravages of fire and water and not succumb to the influences of age and mould and decay.

The brain of man has not been idle during all these failures, but rather profiting by the failure of others.

Col. O. F. Parsons, of Adams county, Iowa, has patented a material known as "Eureka" Fire and Water Proof Roofing Paint.

It is especially adapted for manufacturing new roofs at one half the cost of shingles or tin; also for the purpose of stopping leaks and preserving old shingles, tin, iron, gravel and felt roofs.

It is not a liquid form and consequently finds its way into every crevice and crack. It hardens rapidly and at once becomes a hard and durable enamel.

It is not a mineral but a chemical compound, and is not affected by heat, cold, rain or snow.

It will preserve wood or metal and arrest rust or decay already begun.

It is put on hot in a liquid form and consequently finds its way into every crevice and crack.

An evidence of its goodness is the fact that the government gave Mr. Parsons the contract for painting the roof of the post office in this city with his preparation.

Messrs. Ball & Hall, one of the leading firms of Council Bluffs, had a roof painted and have forwarded, unsolicited, a recommendation speaking in the highest terms of the material and its good work.

Having seen the workings of this new paint, and being impressed with its merits, Messrs. Joseph Barker, George Barlow, C. E. Mayne and Augustus Frank have formed themselves into a stock company, with an authorized capital of $50,000, of which $25,000 is already paid in.

A FLEEING WIFE.

She Prefers the Driver of a Butcher Cart to Her Husband.

Mr. John Yerga Deserts her Husband and Goes to Meet a Man in Kansas.

New York has been shaken from center to circumference by several lightened young ladies eloping with coachmen, butchers, etc., and it seemed as if that state had a monopoly upon the eloping business, but such is not the case.

On Monday night Mrs. John Yerga, wife of the Farnam street butcher, took her departure from this city without even stopping to say good-bye to her husband.

Several months ago a man named Ed. Shaffer was in Yerga's employ and it is said that he and Mrs. Yerga got quite cozy upon each other.

Lowenstein's Troubles.

Last evening about 5 o'clock Matt Goodwin, assistant secretary of the Nebraska and Iowa Insurance company in this city received a telegram from a man named Andreas Thompson, who lives in Janicot, Cuming county, in this state.

The sender desired information from the company as to whether one B. K. Lowenstein, its agent in this county, had authority to sell a horse and buggy he had been using in his business, and the property of his employers, and stating that he had purchased them from him.

Upon receipt of the telegram Mr. Goodwin went to the St. Paul depot expecting Lowenstein on the evening train.

For the year commencing October 1, the following instructions are published for the guidance of this command:

During the month of October, when the weather will permit, there will be target practice twice each week, with the view of qualifying as many men as possible as "marksmen" and for the "first class."

In November and December, weather permitting, there will be two drills every week of one hour each, in estimating distances; if weather is inclement, instruction will be given instead in principles of rifle practice, aiming and pointing in the bayonet exercise, or in gymnastics.

In January, February and March there will be for each company, troop band, twice each week, gallery practice at targets 8x12 inches, with 1 and 5-16 inch bullets, with reduced charges and round balls--at distance of 50 feet.

During January the position will be "hitting down" with 600 yards sight raised, aiming at an imaginary bull's-eye about 12 inches below the true bull's-eye of the target.

Records on form 30-c of the ten best shots (two scores of five each) will be furnished here headquarters. On each will be noted the kind of target used, whether paper, wood or iron--if the latter, whether the bullet was solid or cut out.

From October 31 to March 31, there will be no practice on the rifle range, but it will commence on April 1, 1885, and continue during the remainder of the target season (to September 30), in accordance with existing orders.

All officers and men who qualified as marksmen for the year ending September 30, 1884, will (on April 1, 1885) begin practice at 200 yards, all others at 100 yards, and the latter will be advanced to 200 yards when the company commander deems it proper that the soldier will be able to qualify for the second class at that range.

After being advanced to the 200 yard range each man will be required to practice first at 200, 300 and 600 yards to qualify for the 2d class; then at the same distances to qualify for the 1st class; then at 200, 300 and 600 yards to qualify as a marksman, and having qualified as a marksman, to begin practice for the purpose of qualifying as a sharpshooter.

While practicing for qualification in the first and second classes all will be required to make three qualifying scores at 200 yards before being advanced to 300 yards, and at 300 yards before being advanced to 600 yards.

Estimating distances will be practiced at least once in each month.

Men will only be advanced to first and second class on making four points in eight consecutive estimates in the previous classes.

In each company or troop target practice will be always conducted under the supervision of a commissioned officer, who will be present during the continuance of the practice.
