

MATERNAL INDIGNATION.

An Interesting Story of Youthful Society Gossip—A Solemn Fact.

They were pretty enough to attract at least passing attention as they occupied the fare-box corner in a Saunders and Twentieth street car. Both were at that charming skirt-at-the-shoe-top age where, for a season, the alternate pleasures of youth and social maturity can be, with propriety, enjoyed.

"Oh, it's just too funny" snarled Hazel Optics, "as she made a valiant effort to control herself, but you must promise never to give it away. You know Willie—my Willie. Well, last Wednesday night, Ma made me go to prayer meeting with her. Well, as we were coming out, there stood Willie on the sidewalk. My, I was just paralyzed, but I didn't look at him. Willie never calls on me at home and don't know Ma, since she had her well-down. Well, Willie, foolish thing, followed us. We had walked about two blocks, when Ma noticed him and guessed what it meant. Goodness she was mad. Ma is awful spunky anyway. While we were crossing a street she picked a big rock and hid it under her shawl. About half way down the block, Willie caught up with us, and walking up by his foot he hid his hat and says 'good evening, ladies.' I drew up to Ma's side and a haughty like, but Ma she just banged away with the rock and hit Willie right in the mouth. Mercy me, he jumped about six feet straight up and then ran away just like a streak. I felt kind of sorry when I saw Willie next day with his mustachashed off and a big piece of plaster on his lip and the gold eye knocked out of his front tooth. But it was just too awfully funny after all. And what do you think Willie don't know it was Ma and blames me for going out nights with a circus female Sampson."

PROVIDING FOR ONE ASSESSOR.

Mr. Bism Framing an Ordinance Looking Toward a One Man Assessment.

Mr. Bism, councilman from the second ward, has been at work for some time past framing an ordinance by which it is intended to do away with, if possible, some of the difficulties that have arisen from the assessment of city property in Omaha. This ordinance provides for the creation of the office of city assessor taking the place of the six now elected annually. It further defines the powers and duties of the incumbent and provides for the appointment of deputies, who are to be appointed by him as he shall deem best.

It is feared however by the framer that the state statutes may interfere with the legality of this ordinance and prevent it becoming the law of the city. This should be the case measures will probably be taken at the next session of the legislature to induce the Douglas county legislators to secure the passage of a law providing for the creation of such an office and laws governing the same.

The ordinance will probably be introduced to the city council at an early date.

The President of the Cambridge, Mass., Fire Ins. Co., recommends Hood's Saraparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy.

A Meeting of the Board of Public Works was held Saturday evening at which all members were present.

The ordinance passed by the city council at its last meeting authorizing the paving of Ninth street in paving district No. 25, and Sixth street between Lincoln, Nicholas, and St. Mary's avenues between Twentieth and Twenty-third streets, was decided by the board that the paving on these parts of streets should be laid upon a broken stone foundation one half foot in thickness covered with a layer of sand to the depth of two inches.

After taking steps to comply with the directions of the council in several matters of minor importance the board adjourned.

THROWN FROM HIS BUGGY.

James Bingham Narrowly Escapes Severe Injuries.

Yesterday afternoon Lucius Stetson and James Bingham, two young men well known in Omaha, went out riding to Fort Omaha. After viewing the sights they started for the city. It appears that a couple of other "citizens" whose names could not be learned, from this city, had also been visiting the post. These last two men had become embroiled in a quarrel with soldiers at the barracks, and left the post with a flying start, the nation's protectors in hot pursuit.

THIEVES FALL OUT.

Quarrel Over a Division of the "Swag" and Land in Jail.

On Thursday night Officer Mostyn picked up James Thomas near Thirtieth and Jackson streets, in an intoxicated condition. He claimed to have been robbed and showed a cut on his wrist that he claimed to have received from the robber who attacked him on that corner. The officer thinking he was a suspicious character, as he knew there had been no fight there, arrested him, but no evidence being forthcoming he was released next morning.

These facts coming to the notice of Mr. Joseph Nagel, who had been robbed by two burglars of clothing, wine and other valuables, at once caused him to suspect that Thomas was one of the parties, and that the cut on his wrist was caused by his breaking the glass of a cellar window in his house. He at once had a warrant issued by Judge Boneke for his rearrest, which was served by Officer Buckley.

The officers spoke of occurring between himself and his pal over a division of the swag, but at a different corner from the one where he was first arrested. The officers have also arrested his pal and think that they have sufficient evidence to convict them.

THE GERMAN THEATRE.

Great Success of "Die Kohlenschurz'n" Last Night.

Last evening the German theatre was crowded with an enthusiastic audience to witness the representation of Michaelis' "Die Kohlenschurz'n." Old Mr. Grossman appeared as Baron Von Baerenklau, and many of the frequenters of the theatre were delighted to see the old gentleman on the stage again.

Mrs. Lindenmann as Iduna enacted her part excellently, and Mr. Molchin as Beatrain elicited much applause. The charming Miss Spahn personated the role of Anna very effectively, and Mr. Von Filitz showed up well as Von Berg.

Mrs. Bussner as Leonine Schultze was well received, and Miss Pechtel as Lottie was a great success. Mr. Pechtel represented the character of Schamwaber splendidly and was vociferously applauded.

Mrs. Puls-Ahl showed up in immense shape as Betty, and Mr. Puls as Jean, received quite an ovation.

All the minor parts were well received and the manner in which the piece was put on the boards, reflects great credit on the management. The musical union orchestra rendered some valuable services during the evening.

Things Worth Knowing.

There are a great many such things. One is, that there is no use in having dyspepsia unless you really like it and the manner in which the piece was put on the boards, reflects great credit on the management. The musical union orchestra rendered some valuable services during the evening.

The Liberal League.

It may not be generally known, but, nevertheless, it is a fact, that quite an intelligent gathering assembled every Sunday morning at St. George's hall to discuss questions of more or less importance to the entire community.

The subject was "The Tariff," in the discussion of which some able speakers took part, and among them were Mr. J. P. Potter, Gen. O'Brien, Mr. J. P. Jones, Messrs. Emery, Quinn and Bartlett. The question was very exhaustively handled and great interest was evinced on the subject. These social talks do more good than is commonly supposed, and a morning spent at one of the liberal meetings is calculated to benefit those who attend in more ways than one.

The finest mayonnaise dressing for all kinds of salads, cold meats, raw tomatoes, pickled salmon, cabbage, etc., is Dorko's Salad Dressing. It is besides, more economical than home-made.

Mr. Henry G. Richter, the well-known furrier, celebrated his fortieth birthday yesterday and entertained a number of his friends. MOROSINI MADNESS.

Victoria's Leap Causes the Mother to Attempt Suicide.

The coachman's bride to go on the Stage While the Family Go to Europe. Special Dispatch to This Bee.

New York, September 20.—It is transpired that the illness of Mrs. Morosini, which was the result of three attempts to commit suicide by taking laudanum. On the night of Thursday, September 19th, the day after the elopement of her daughter Victoria, she swallowed a draught from a four ounce vial newly employing it. She was detected in the act by her son Attilio, who took the vial from her and summoned a physician at once. The draught proved an overdose and the lady was seen out of danger. On Friday, and again on Saturday, she renewed her attempts to kill herself, despite the watchfulness of her family and servants. The prompt use of emetics and a stomach pump, however, prevented fatal results, and the physicians resorted to the use of the same convalescent and her mental condition was restored.

It is known that Mrs. Morosini, with her two remaining daughters and her servants, is confined on an ocean steamer on Wednesday last for Europe, their destination being Florence, Italy, and it is said that Mrs. Morosini and her two sons will follow them in the same vessel. Her husband, however, is here, never to return. Mrs. Schilling said to a reporter last night that if her father does not relent within a week she will record in his name the name of the man, to sing in concert for twenty nights at $500 per night. This she will probably do as she has already done in the case of her father, who has fully determined not to receive her back or recognize her in any way unless she abandons her husband, which she declares she will not do under any circumstances.

It is believed that Mrs. Schilling's intention of going upon the stage is induced by a realization of the fact that her husband's inability to support her has reduced her to the position of a beggar, and she has fully determined not to receive her back or recognize her in any way unless she abandons her husband, which she declares she will not do under any circumstances.

THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

President Eggar Rushes Into Print With Another Political Card.

LINCOLN, Neb., September 20.—The statement having been widely published that thirteen members of the Fort Dodge branch of the National league had withdrawn, Patrick Eggar today sent the following letter to the State Democrat, relative to the matter.

To the Editor of the Daily State Democrat.

Some of your issue last evening you give prominence to a letter signed by thirteen Irishmen who describe themselves as members of the Fort Dodge (Iowa) branch of the Irish National league, and who are so troubled about the personal opinions of Rev. Father O'Reilly, of Detroit, Mr. Alexander Sullivan and myself, that they have taken the extreme of withdrawing from the league. By reference to the books I find that the interest taken in the cause of Ireland during the past year by the entire Fort Dodge branch which has numbered among its members some of our best citizens, is as follows: $100.00 in honor money, and ninety cents, the amount transmitted to the general committee of the league, for the purpose of resuming those gentlemen regarding the safety of their investment and to inform them in the most positive terms that there is not the slightest probability of the withdrawal of either one or the other of the political party. I remain, sir, yours truly, Scramblers Burned.

The fire was extinguished by the fire department, and the boats were towed out to the lower landing. The damage to the boats is estimated at $100,000. No lives lost.
