

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Tuesday Morning September 23.

Subscription rates: By Carrier 30 cents per week; By Mail 1.00 per year.

OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENION.

See J. Reiter's new fall stock of cloths. The United States court is expected to open business to-day.

Charles Austin, a tinted young man, was arrested yesterday for thumping his wife.

The new Home of the Friendless building will be ready for occupancy this week.

John Nicholson will open the saloon on Broadway next to the Union avenue hotel.

Nick Webber, arrested for beating his wife, was yesterday let off with a fine as a plain drunk.

The land league have a dance at the rink this evening. Supper will be furnished there also.

Justice Schurz is said to be perfecting what promises to be a profitable invention—a noiseless automatic break.

The "X. Y. Z." club is to give a reception and supper at the Congregational church Friday evening. Admission free.

One of the policemen brought in a drunken prisoner on a wheelbarrow Sunday night. "Dandy" calls it "the one-wheeled control wagon."

Mrs. Harris, the well-known pianiste, who has many friends and acquaintances here, is giving a series of recitals in the college chapel at Tabor, the last to be this evening.

The Semi-annual meeting of the Council Bluffs association of Congregational churches all will be held in Tabor commencing to-day, and continuing three days.

Arrangements are being made to have a night gang of workmen put onto the work of paving Broadway, electric lights to be used. The object is to hurry up the work.

The improvements being made on Mr. Hancock's residence, corner Third avenue and Eighth street, make it one of the most pleasing residences in the city in appearance.

Michael Boyle was before Justice Abbott yesterday on a charge of threatening to shoot Patrick Linney, but the justice did not deem the evidence sufficient, and discharged him.

Yesterday afternoon there was a lively row in Bokemeyer's saloon, on Main street, in which Still Bates and Bill Culp were the participants. A billiard cue and six proved effective weapons.

Mrs. H. A. Miller, the aged mother of the late Mrs. Dr. Lice, yesterday suffered a paralytic stroke and it is feared she will not recover. She is eighty-two years of age, and has been in poor health for some time, but lately has seemed much better, until yesterday morning when she received this stroke.

There was a lively racket at Mollie Wallace's house yesterday, the land-lady being absent and the girls having their own way. They gave a lively chase to two white men, who had come "foolish" round and excited them. They chased the fellows clear to Broadway threatening them with bottles and bricks.

Hiram Black was yesterday put under bonds by Justice Schurz to keep the peace. A. C. Brazee was the complainant who claimed that Black had threatened to kill him. It appears that Brazee has lately been getting a divorce from his wife, and claimed that Black had taken some part in destroying the family felicity. This has caused some ill-feeling between the two.

There is a patrol wagon being built for the city by H. F. Hattenhauer. A patrol wagon would prove quite a convenience, but will be quite expensive if an additional horse and driver is needed, and just now it is said that the city needs a new horse wagon even more than they do a patrol wagon. The horse wagon driven by Chas. Nicholson is almost ready to tumble down, and a new one is needed there.

A meeting of the city council is to be called for Wednesday evening, and Mayor Vaughan will present his report of sales of bonds then. It was supposed that the purpose of calling the citizens together Saturday night was to state these facts, but it appears that his official report is to be made to the council, and will then be made public.

It matters not whether the republicans turn out one hundred or five hundred men with torches, the democratic globe always follows it up with its stereotyped statement that there were "only 50, and these were bought up at fifty cents each, and the parade consisted of a few men, darkeys, and boys." If the democratic glimmer must tell some sort of a lie, let it tell a new one occasionally, just for a change.

It seems a good deal of a puzzle as to what can be done with Parkias park. The sidewalks about the park have been raised by filling, so that the whole park is left below grade, making a large basin for standing water in rainy times. It will cost a great deal of money to fill the entire park and raise it to grade, besides destroying the present sod. The city officials do not seem to know what to do about it. In rainy weather the walks are so muddy and the southwest part of the park so flooded that people cannot pass through.

A wild steer yesterday did his best to stir up sensations on Broadway. Where the steer came from or where it finally went to, or to whom it belonged is not known. The first noticed of it was on upper Broadway, where it came running along, and made for a boy who was on the sidewalk. Then at the corner of Main and Broadway, the steer made for two ladies, and run one of them, Mrs. Win. Hardin up against Officer & Peasay's bank, but strangely enough she escaped serious injury, although she was pressed against the wall and between the horns of the beast. The steer then continued its wild career, and as he made for one of the workmen on the paving, he having a heavy lever uplifted in his hands, dropped it on the animal's head and skipped out. The steer did not seem to be affected by the blow, but continued a gallop down Broadway toward the better lands.

FIGHTING OVER THE TILL. Some of the Fourth Avenue Property Owners Enjoin the Collecting of Special Assessments.

A petition has been filed in the circuit court signed by Samuel Underwood, H. E. Metcalf, E. E. Woodbury, J. J. Dickey, James Patterson, George Marshall, A. T. Fickinger, Thomas Officer, and others, setting forth that they are owners of lots in Bayliss' addition, and that the city in 1883 passed an ordinance ordering Fourth avenue filled to grade, and that the cost of the same to be charged up to the respective lots abutting on that street. The filling was done in November and December, 1883, and in January, 1884, and plaintiffs claim that at that time there was no law authorizing said proceedings, and hence it was illegal. They pray that the city issued notice to the property owners to appear at a meeting of the council and show cause, if any, why such cost of filling should not be taxed up to their property. They did not appear, and filed written objections, which were disregarded, and the taxes were certified up to the board of supervisors. The petitioners asked that a temporary writ of injunction be issued, restraining the collection of these amounts until the legality of the proceedings could be passed upon in court. Judge Lyman has granted the temporary writ.

Another injunction case concerning improvements came up yesterday. It was Joe M. Smith vs. James and O. P. Wickham. Mr. Smith sets forth that he is the owner of a lot on North Main street, and that he has now on hand stone for crushing as required by the city ordinance and that he has been ready to put it in place for two months past, but that owing to the city digging trenches and doing other work, he has been prevented, and now the Wickhams who are the contractors, are getting ready to put in the curbing. He wants to put in his own, and claims that the only interest of the Wickhams is to put in their own curbing and obtain an exorbitant price therefor, and have the same taxed up to his property. On this showing Judge Aylesworth yesterday granted a temporary writ of injunction restraining the Wickhams from putting in the curbing.

Wherein Barnum Differs. The Chicago Tribune in a lengthy article praising Barnum's show which is, to be here Thursday, says:

Barnum is a smarter man than the king of Siam, who is said to be the lord of many elephants, for, though it costs as much to feed and clothe an elephant in Siam as in America, the great American showman makes his stables of these expensive beasts pay him a profit. It pays better to have the genuine article. For instance, there are those Nubian Arabs. Nobody doubts they are genuine. Speaking of elephants, it seems that Jumbo has had his nose or trunk put out of joint by the white elephant. Though since last season the old favorite has seemingly added some inches to his height, the crowd seems to gather mostly about the huge animal whose color is that of a bright stone-front house.

There seems to be something about Barnum's show that brings out the better class of people. Yesterday in the chance could be seen the same faces that one is familiar with at Herby's hall, at Central Music hall, or at the theatre. The great canvas, itself a curiosity, is capable of sheltering 15,000. The sawdust is the cleanest, the tan-bark the freshest. There are three rings and a large stage, and performances going on in each at the same time, so that the eyes are almost wearied with the constant succession of acts. Two or three matters common to the old-time circus have been removed. The clown with his vulgar joke has been suppressed in his loquacity, though something like a dozen wearers of the motly are permitted to tumble about for the amusement of those who like it. The vendors of peanuts, lemonade, etc., are forbidden to enter the tent.
