COUNCIL BLUFFS. ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS. FIRST KNOCK-DOWN. The Injunction Asked For by the Prohibitionists is Refused by Judge Lyman.

The Constitutional Question. About ten days ago two cases were brought before Judge Lyman testing the prohibitory law. Capt. A. Overton was the signer of the petitions asking the injunctions to be issued restraining Kuhn, of the Colorado house, and William Lanthrop from selling liquors.

His chief reasons for refusing the injunction were two, one because of defects in the petition, the other because of the unconstitutionality of the proceeding. The mere technical faults in the papers are of little interest to the public, and little stress was placed on these by the judge himself.

Why, the fact is I do not spend so much money on clothes as they do—not near as much—but you know James Frainey? Well, I get him to make my clothes, and I not only always get a good fit, but they wear a long time, always look nicely, and it's economy in the long run. I tell you that man Frainey is the best cutter west of Chicago, and he has the best cloths that I can find anywhere."
