The King of Siam, who is credited with 263 children, ought to make a good Mormon.

GOVERNOR DAWES' likeness appears in the Chicago Sunday Telegram.

The latest reports from Ohio are of the most encouraging character for the republicans, and the prospects now are that they will carry that State next Tuesday by over 10,000 majority.

If the law is enforced a large number of persons who have wagered money on the election will be prevented from voting.

ONE of the latest tricks of John Chinaman to evade the United States restriction laws, is to go to Cuba, get himself naturalized there, then invade this country as a Spanish subject, and boldly say, "What are you going to do about it?"

EX SENATOR TABOR, of Colorado, is said to have lost heavily during the past year through the depreciation of his mining property, and some important speculations, among which may be mentioned the investment in the campaign for the gubernatorial shoes.

JUDGE TOURNER, author of "A Fool's Errand," who was opposed to the nomination of Blaine, now comes out heartily in his support.

The Chicago Sunday Telegram pays its respects to a distinguished citizen of Omaha, as follows:
Dr. George L. Miller, of the Omaha Herald, has lately been to New York, and while there visited some of the leaders of Tammany and the county democracy, at which interviews he was pleased to make some weather predictions and other prophecies.

PREPARED gum-wood is being given a fair trial as a pavement in St. Louis. In speaking of pavements the St. Louis Republican says:
"The west end of the city now offers to the public four parallel streets constructed with great care, and for the present in excellent order.

The word "dude" has at last found its way into court. A young man in Montreal has made complaint against another for insulting him by calling him "a dude." The plaintiff's appearance in court satisfied the spectators that so far as he was concerned the defendant had not seriously maligned him even if he applied the epithet in question.

The proposition made by the county commissioners to the voters of Douglas county to sell the old court-house property and devote the proceeds to the construction of retaining walls and approaches to the new court-house and to pay for the necessary grading, does not contemplate the absolute disposal of the ground.

THE new gas company in San Francisco has been consolidated with the old corporation, and competition in prices has come to an end of course.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS.

The republican convention yesterday for the nomination of a candidate for congress in the Ninth District was probably the most disgraceful gathering of that kind that has ever been known in St. Louis.

It is rather a surprising fact that the method of electing the president of the United States seems to be not fully understood by a great many persons, and an explanation may prove interesting to a large number of our readers at this time.

There is an excellent opportunity presented for some honest and capable man to enter the field as an independent candidate. That is perhaps the only solution of the matter.

Such an emphatic rebuke to the political bosses—"who have got a technical control of the party machinery"—from the leading republican paper of Missouri is very significant and affords sufficient proof that it is high time for reform within the party.

When such a paper as the Globe-Democrat makes such a vigorous protest against bosses it certainly ought to be heeded by every republican who has the interest of his party at heart.

THE Philadelphia Record, having been criticised because it has bought a large quantity of coal at a big discount and is selling it to poor people at a price much below the retailer's rates, in order to fight the coal monopoly, says that "great newspapers in these latter days have become more than mere purveyors of current intelligence."

BIG HEADS BY THE THRONE.

Cabinets That Long to Astonish the Country.
The Men Selected by the Presidential Candidates to Assist in Feeding the Nation.

According to the best opinions to be obtained yesterday Mr. Blaine, if elected, will give the country a cabinet that will be truly representative of the talent of the party he leads.

For secretary of state—The Hon. William M. Everts, of New York.
For secretary of war—The Hon. Thos. Bayne, of Pennsylvania, now a member of congress from that state.

For secretary of the treasury—William B. Allison, of Iowa, or William Windom, of Minnesota, both of whom are known as expert financiers.

For secretary of the interior—J. B. Chalmers, ex-senator from Colorado, and an acting member of the republican national committee.

For postmaster-general—Joseph H. Hawley, senator of Connecticut, an old journalist and hard worker in the campaign.

For secretary of state—The Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, senator from Delaware.
For secretary of war—General George B. McClellan, of New Jersey, who organized and formed the Army of the Potomac.

For secretary of the navy—B. F. Jonas, senator from Louisiana, a working member of the democratic national committee, or Mr. Leopold Morse, a leading merchant of Boston, Mass.

For secretary of the treasury—Samuel J. Randall, of Pennsylvania, or Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia.
For secretary of the interior—Allen G. Thurman.

For postmaster-general—Francis Kernan, ex-senator from Illinois.
The statements say that neither George William Curtis nor Carl Schurz, who engineered the independent republican movement in favor of Cleveland, has a chance for a place in the cabinet.

General Butler's cabinet, should he attain the position he says he is fighting for, will contain:
Mr. Plimpton, of Massachusetts, as secretary of state; secretary of war, Colonel French, of Massachusetts, Governor Butler's right-hand man in his campaign for the governorship; secretary of the navy, Charles A. Dana; secretary of the interior, John H. Brown, of New York, a dealer in drugs and medicines and the president of the anti-monopolists; secretary of the treasury, Lee Crandall, of Alabama; postmaster-general, General Bogie of Michigan; attorney-general, General Parsons of Maryland.

Mr. F. B. Thurber and other anti-monopolists will be rewarded for their services by custom house positions or foreign missions.
Candidate St. John, of the prohibitionists, has not given a hint, as yet, of his intentions, but it is thought that his cabinet, should he be lucky enough to be elected, would be composed of the following: Secretary of state, Neal Dow, of Maine; secretary of war, Senator Gibbs, of New York; secretary of the navy, John B. Gough, the great temperance lecturer; secretary of the treasury, D. L. Moody, of Massachusetts, the revivalist; secretary of the interior, Francis Murphy, of New Jersey, the blue ribbon temperance crusader.

For other important places Mr. St. John might draw upon the party for any quantity of talent. Billie McGilroy, a recent convert, is open to any inducement beyond the limit of fancy the business of news-gathering, will no longer be tied down to old methods. The people have learned to expect advantage as well as instruction from trained and perfected newspaper enterprises.

That eloquent editorial entitled "Let it die," referring to the democratic party, which appeared in the Chicago Times about four years ago, will live long after the democratic party has ceased to exist. In the present campaign it is being constantly reproduced in the republican papers, and is continually starting the demerits in the face. It is a powerful campaign document for the republicans, and it is no wonder that the democratic papers are now overhauling the Times. The Chicago Telegram says that the Chicago Times has long outlived its usefulness, and "in the language of its own idiom: 'Let it die.'"

THERE is no question but what politics enters largely into the conditions of trade, and it is generally an admitted fact that during the presidential year, particularly if there is any probability of a change in the administration, business is dull and unsettled. However, the fall trade is picking up in a very encouraging manner throughout the east, and should be an additional revival in business "as an evidence of the faith of the public in continued republican administration," as a leading eastern journal is led to observe.

THE new gas company in San Francisco has been consolidated with the old corporation, and competition in prices has come to an end of course. The price of gas has suddenly jumped from $1.50 to $2.50. It is the same old story of corporate greed and robbery over again. The press of that city recommends that the people return to the use of lamps and candles.

Bold Highwayman.

GOLD IN CALIFORNIA.

James Wilson Marshall Who First Found Gold in California.
To James Wilson Marshall the world is indebted for a discovery which started the nation's prosperity and made California an empire in modern history.

James Wilson Marshall was born in Hope township, New Jersey, in 1812. After receiving a plain education he learned the trade of a coach and wagon-builder. He was smitten with the "western fever" when about 21 years old, and having traveled in Indiana and Illinois, bought a farm on the Platte River.

On the 18th of January following, Marshall was superintending the building of the mill race. After shutting off the water at the head of the race he walked down the ditch to see what sand and gravel had been removed during the previous night. He strolled to the end of the race and stood looking at the mass of debris. At this juncture his eye caught the glimmer of something that lay lodged in a crevice on a pile of soft granite.

He stooped and picked up the substance. It was heavy, of a peculiar color, and different from anything he had seen in the stream before. He reflected as to what kind of mineral the specimen could be, and finally concluded that it was either mica, sulphates of copper or gold. It was too heavy for mica, was not brittle, as are sulphates, and remembrance that gold was malleable, he placed the nugget on a flat stone and began striking it with a flake, but simply flattened under the blows, and Marshall was satisfied that he had indeed made an important discovery.

In several days he collected a few ounces of the precious metal, and as he had occasion to visit Sutter's fort in a short time, he took the specimens with him. He informed Sutter of his discovery, but the general was incredulous, and it was not until chemical experiments had settled the question beyond any doubt that he would admit the mineral was gold. As last all doubt faded, and the excitement began to spread. The news flew over the country like wildfire, and those whites who were then in California went into the quest for gold with great ardor and energy. Additional revelations were made daily, and the news of the discoveries was spread. Then came the great rush from the East and Old World. It was a furious race for wealth. In 1849 every sailing vessel and steamer landing at San Francisco was crowded with adventurers. They knew that gold had first been found at Coloma and marched thither. Without inquiry or negotiation they quitted upon Marshall's land about the 1st of January, and worked for food, cultivated his horses, and marked the land off into town lots and distributed them among themselves.

Thus robbed of his property, he perforce became a prospector, but never succeeded in finding much gold. The neighbors who had despised his possessions added insult to injury by presuming that he knew the whereabouts of rich deposits of gold and refused to give information of them, and persecuted him on these false suppositions. To add to his troubles, his title to the land he had purchased prior to his great discovery was questioned, and he lost it all. Poor Marshall still lives at Coloma. The state has helped him a little, in his hard fight against poverty, all the more severe by reason of advanced age.

Changes Taking Place.
A gentleman gave a beggar ten cents for the expressed purpose of buying a drink of whisky. A little later he saw the beggar emerging from a saloon shop with a load under his arm.

"You told me you wanted that money for whisky," said the gentleman.
"I knew it did," the beggar replied. "If I had told you I wanted it for bread you wouldn't have given it to me. The sympathy dodge is played out and frankly I have taken it in place. People admire for kindness. Could you give me ten cents more?"

SWIFFS' SPECIFICS
I have cured Blood Taint by the use of Swift's Specifics after I had been finally failed with the Mercury and Potash Treatment.
F. A. TOMPKINS, M. D. Perry, Mo.
"Swift's Specifics" has cured me of my blood taint 12 years standing. I had some 100 lbs. of mercury and every one thought I was doomed. Swift's Specifics cured me after physicians and all other medicines had failed.
A. L. HIGG, Lenoir, Ark.
I would not purchase from a man who had cured me of my blood taint by the use of "Swift's Specifics" unless I saw the name of the man who had cured me.
ALLEGED THIEF, Spottsville, Tenn.
Our Treatise on Blood and Brain Diseases mailed free upon request.
