

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Thursday Morning October 9.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. 25 cents per week. 100 cents per month. $3.00 per year.

OFFICE: No. 7 Pearl Street, Near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Reiter's new fall stock of cloth. Call at H. Friedman's new cloak rooms, 341 Broadway.

The contractors expect the sewerage to be completed on Broadway so far as the Methodist church in the course of four days, if the weather is favorable.

John Hale was brought before Justice Schurz yesterday on a charge of stealing a horse belonging to John Price. He gave $100 bail for his appearance for examination to day.

There was a temporary lack of sand, which caused the paving work to be stopped on Broadway yesterday afternoon. Usual work is expected to be resumed this morning.

Herman Reichant and Miss Maggie Teigin were married Tuesday evening at the residence of August Schultz, corner of Eighth avenue and Ninth street, the ceremony being performed by Justice Schurz.

Capt. Hayes, the ex-policeman, has filed an information against Paul Lacy, charging him with keeping a gambling house. It will be difficult to make Mr. Lacy's many friends believe that he is guilty of any such offense.

The streams in the eastern part of Pottawattomie and Shelby counties are higher than they have been since the flood of '81. At Avoca a great many families on the low lands were compelled to leave their homes and take to dry land for safety.

The anniversary ball of the Royal Arcanum is to be held in Ben's hall tomorrow evening. Fidelity Council has secured the reputation of giving some of the best social entertainments of any organization in the city, and this one will doubtless be in keeping with that reputation.

Mr. J. A. Borham, the photographer, arrived in this city yesterday and will at once proceed to fit up the rooms which he has procured over No. 31 Main street. Mr. Borham has had galleries in Milwaukee and Detroit, Michigan, where he had the reputation of being one of the best artists in the state.

Justice Abbott yesterday dismissed the charge of larceny lodged against William Lawler. It appears that a bull belonging to a relative of Lawler's went astray and was taken in by Ezra Matt, who advertised it according to law. Lawler made an affidavit as to the ownership of the bull, but failed to pay Matt the required fee, and went into the latter's field and took the bull away. The court held that an action for trespass might be made to stick, but not a charge for larceny.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hensley, wife of Jonathan Hensley, of Council Bluffs, was buried at Dow City, Friday, September 26th. She had a stroke of palsy two days previous and died in a few hours. She was born in Wabash county, Ill., and was over 63 years of age. She was married to Jonathan Hensley in Edwards county, Ill., and they moved from there to Galland's grove, this county, about 1868. They lived in Des Moines a short time, and from there they moved to Council Bluffs. The deceased was a devoted Christian, having been a member of the Campbellite church for many years. She was a sister of Hiram Earnst and leaves a husband, two sons and a daughter to mourn her loss. Rev. H. H. Barton delivered the funeral address.—[Crawford County Bulletin.]

Exposition. Fall and winter millinery goods at J. J. Auwerda & Co.'s, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Dr. H. J. Whitney, of Cheney, W. T., was among yesterday's arrivals at the Pacific.

W. Ed. Elam, of Keeline & Felt's, returned last evening from Petersburg, Ill., with his better half.

Mrs. J. A. Churchill, who has been ill since her return from her trip, has so far recovered as to be able to ride out yesterday.

Si Parker, the letter carrier, starts to day on a two weeks' vacation. He will take in the St. Louis exposition, and started for there yesterday.

Mrs. C. L. Felt returned from the east yesterday in company of Mrs. Henry, of Wheeling, W. Va., who will visit Mr. and Mrs. Keeline, et.

The Coming Concert.

The musical treat promised for next Tuesday evening at the opera house will be a treat indeed. The many readers of THE BEE who have watched with so much interest the career and success of that wonderful young pianist, Miss Neely Stevens, will gladly improve this rare opportunity of hearing her—an opportunity which will not probably present itself again, for a long time at least, as Miss Stevens has made engagements in the east which will keep her absent from this city. In this coming concert Miss Caldwell, of Omaha, will sing, as will also Mr. Cain.

CLOSE CALL.

Three Italian Sportsmen Save Themselves by Climbing into a Tree-top.

J. G. Tipton returned last night from Harlan and from him we learned the particulars of a very narrow escape that three of the prominent citizens of Harlan had on Monday evening. Mr. J. I. Myerly, a prominent young lawyer there, and Mr. Wheeler, of the east side, hardware store, and another prominent young merchant of the postoffice book store, started out for a duck hunt, going in a boat down the Nishnabotna river, their object being to reach the little town of Corley, six miles down the stream, at which place they had sent a man with a team and wagon to bring them with their boat, game and equipments back to Harlan. The Botna river was very high, being tank full, and in many places running over the bottoms for hundreds of yards. Things passed along nicely and the boys had bagged a fine lot of Mallard ducks but finally before they had reached their destined point of land, night with a cloudy sky came on them. The boys were moving along at a lively rate of speed as possible when all at once the bow of the boat ran up on a maple that had grown out from the bank at an angle of about forty-five degrees, and capsized, throwing its occupants into about fifteen feet of roaring current. The two merchants occupied the stern of the boat, and by a dexterous movement they made fast to a tree and crawled up into the branches, but Mr. Myerly being in the bow of the boat was thrown out head first and went under the boat coming up on the opposite side. He had on rubber hip-boots, and nothing in the world except the fact that he was an expert swimmer saved him from drowning, but fortunately he swam to a tree and all were saved, but they each lost a $50.00 breast-loader, hunting coats and all the paraphernalia. The boys remained perched on the tree for some time, hallooing for assistance, with a pretty fair prospect to remain there for the night, when a friendly passerby happened to hear them, and procured help who finally got them safely landed, procuring dry clothing from the neighbors. They got a man to take them home late at night.

THE ALDERMANIC TROUBLE.

Judge James Still Refuses to Apologize and Time is Up To-Day.

The difficulty between Ald. James and the city council is in such shape that it is hard for an adjustment to be reached. Judge James in handing in his resignation several meetings ago, apparently had no very strong desire to have the resignation accepted, for after tendering his resignation and leaving the council chamber, he appeared at the following meetings and took part as usual. In tendering his resignation he stated, as a reason, that he had not been able to secure the proper amount of improvement in his ward. It seemed more like a little bluff in the interest of the Fourth ward.

The unexpected turn which the committee has given the matter places it in a strange fix. The committee reports that the reason assigned by Judge James for resigning is an insult, and he must file a written apology with the city clerk before 10 o'clock this morning or the resignation would be accepted. In other words, Judge James must acknowledge his great transgression or get out.

Judge James has been known as an anti-Vaughn democrat, and has been rather a thorn in the flesh, not only to the mayor but to the mayor's pets, especially Ald. Mynster. They are by no means sad at the opportunity which Judge James has given them of pinching him, for if he remains it will be through a retraction and an apology, and if not they will be rid of him.

Judge James was yesterday as firm as the evening before in his expressed determination to take back nothing. He expressed himself not merely as disgusted with the futile attempts to get any work done in his ward but also with other proceedings of the council. He does not like the way in which the resignation order work done, without action of the council and the way bills are allowed by being rushed through without being presented and read in open council, and seems tired of the whole outfit.

Alderman James has been enthusiastic over the raising of the grade, filling of streets, etc., and much of this has been done in the Fourth ward. There have been enough improvements of this sort in that ward, but what he complains of is the lack of crosswalks, filling of holes, making repairs, improving the creek, preventing overflows, etc. Many are now feeling that there has been too much street filling and grading, and if the experiment proves a failure it will be just as happy a condition for Judge James out of the council as in it. Perhaps he sees a threatened storm and is going to seek shelter. The complaints already made by citizens of that ward have about tired out Judge James now.

A HEAVY HOUSE.

Not Only Financially, But It Has Hundreds of Tons of Iron.

Council Bluffs can now boast of having as heavy a heavy hardware house as any in the west. W. S. Keeline and C. L. Felt have joined under the firm name of Keeline & Felt, and their main establishment at No. 117 Main street is indeed a complete one. The building is a fine brick structure, with stone trimmings, and has been built with a special view of having it so strong as to stand easily the tremendous weight, which so large and heavy a stock brings to bear. It has a frontage of 25 feet and a depth of 100 feet, and has four floors, making in all 10,000 square feet, filled with all kinds of iron, steel, heavy hardware wood stock—in fact everything useful to wagon and carriage builders, blacksmiths and mechanics. Besides this building filled there are two large warehouses, also crowded with goods, thus making the largest stock in this line carried by any house this side of Chicago. As to the variety and completeness of the stock a glance through the main building is sufficiently convincing. Commencing on the basement floor are found nails and horse-shoes, nuts, chains, and the celebrated Riverside steel nails, piled on in great quantities, and also pile upon pile of hubs.

An attractive and commodious office, indicating "business" in every detail. On this floor are fully 300 tons of iron and steel. Here also is a stock of emery wheels and stands, bolts of all descriptions, wood and log screws, tools of all kinds, horseshoe nails, etc., etc. On the next or second floor there is a large quantity and endless variety of bent wood stock, springs, anvils, vises, Buffalo blooms, malleable and wrought iron, and numerous other classes of goods of that sort.

On the upper floor is found a full line of spokes—the largest stock, without doubt, carried by any house this side of the Mississippi. Here are to be found the justly celebrated Woodburn-Sarven patent and wood hub wheels; buggy and wagon singletrees, doubletrees and neck-yokes, both finished and plain, fellows, gears, wagon, carriage and buggy boxes, etc.

One would think that in this building there was enough to supply the larger portion of the west, but there are the two warehouses besides, one on the track of the C. B. & Q. railway, the other in the rear of the main building. These are filled with oak, hickory and poplar lumber, bolsters, reaches, axles, tongues, sawed fellows, etc. Keeline & Felt have also secured the agency for the Buckeye ironfences, office railings, guards, etc., made by Mast, Foss & Co., Springfield, O., catalogues containing full descriptions of which will be sent to anyone on application. The firm also carries a full line of the best kind of buggy bodies and finished jobs. With such an extensive, varied and complete stock this new firm starts in with every prospect of reaping rich success, and having their enterprise appreciated. Their traveling salesmen are covering the territory included in western Iowa and in Nebraska, and the practical encouragement which the new enterprise has already received, are ample assurances that the heavy hardware house of Keeline & Felt will prove one of the most popular and successful of any in the land. Council Bluffs may well feel proud of having such a house located in its midst.
