The Ancient Order of Hibernians will give a ball at the Masonic temple October 23.

Mel Gregory is serving as mail carrier on St. Parker's route during the latter's vacation.

Subscribers to the piano concert are requested to select their seats at Bushnell's to-day.

The beer garden case has been postponed two weeks. In the meantime, shall the dance go on?

Ladies you can save 25 per cent on cloaks by calling at the new cloak store of H. Friedman, 341 Broadway.

Tony Gerapacher has been appointed pound-master for fifteen days, and the raid on stray cows has commenced.

The cleaning of the mud from Main street is a great improvement, and now that the street is cleaned it should be kept so.

L. B. Gannon, the democratic candidate for attorney general, is to be here on the 18th inst., the same day on which Mr. Carlisle will speak here.

Mrs. E. Dorland, who fell down stairs at her home on Vine street a few days ago, is suffering greatly, her injuries being more serious than at first appeared.

The man McErvin, who lost a leg in the C. B. & Q. yards, is recovering so rapidly that he will soon be able to be able to be removed to his home in Nebraska.

The democrats made quite a showing of enthusiasm last night, and had a large crowd out to hear D. O. Finch, one of the democratic candidates for election-at-large, and D. F. Miller, of Keokuk.

C. L. Peller, who was arrested for stealing a pair of shoes from J. M. Phillips' store, was yesterday sentenced by Justice Vaughan to twenty days in jail, and ten days more for jumping his board bill at the Ogden house. His companion, W. H. Barnes, was acquitted of the charge of larceny, and sentenced to ten days in jail for beating his board.

A large number of Crescent folks were here yesterday attending Justice Abbott's court in the case of Abel vs. Thompson. Twenty-six witnesses were examined yesterday and the case not concluded. It is a case of landlord's writ of attachment, the claim being that the crops on a rented farm have been neglected and ruined.

The New York "Musical Items" says: "It gives us pleasure to record the successful appearance of another of America's young pianistes in the piano recital given by Miss Nelly Stevens. Most worthy of mention are her excellent technique and brilliancy in rapid octave passages, her adequate power and the earnest study displayed in her interpretations."

O. J. King, the superintendent of the new government building, is having his office fixed up on the inside so as to be more comfortable. The water, which has accumulated in the excavation for the foundation of the government building, was being pumped out yesterday. There will be no work done at present, there being a necessary wait for the bids on the foundation to come in. They are to be opened October 18th.

The prohibitionists held a conference in Malvern recently. The members were divided as to the propriety and advisability of placing an electoral state and congressional ticket in the field, and no definite action was taken at this point. It was unanimously agreed, however, to put speakers at work showing up the course of prohibition in as strong a light as possible.

The second grand annual opening of the roller skating rink will take place next Monday evening. During the afternoon the rink will be open for the admission of ladies free. The rink has been thoroughly refitted, and floor smoothed and polished. The rink will continue under the proprietorship of H. H. Martens, who has secured as manager, A. F. Schanck, of Peoria, Ill.

A fellow giving his name as Hill was yesterday trying to pawn an overcoat for fifty cents. Detective Clatterback arrested him on suspicion of stealing the coat, and as he was taking him to jail, Henry McCampbell, a porter at the Pacific house, noticed the fellow and recognized the overcoat as one stolen from him, and made him take it off and give it back. An information charging larceny has been filed against him in Justice Schurz's court.

There were special services at the Catholic church yesterday in memorial of Rev. Father Mulholland, who died just one month ago yesterday. The service was what is known as "The Month's Mind," or, "Month's Memory." Besides the pastor, Rev. Father McMenomy, and his assistant, Rev. Father Haley, a number of visiting clergymen participated. In the mass Rev. Father Moran, of Missouri Valley was celebrant, Rev. Father Haley deacon, Rev. Father McAdams, of Cornelia, sub-deacon, Rev. James Foley, of Stewart, master of ceremonies, and Rev. Father Clark, of Sheboygan, preached the sermon, on the merits and virtues of the deceased. Rev. Father Dollard, of Walnut, and Rev. Father Emblan, of Omaha, also participated in the services.

Mr. J. A. Gorham, the photographer, arrived in this city yesterday and will at once proceed to fit up the rooms which he has procured over 31 Main street. Mr. Gorham has had galleries in Milwaukee and Detroit, Michigan, where he had the reputation of being one of the best artists in the state.

DASHED TO DEATH.

A Fatal Accident at the Railway Crossing on Vaughan Avenue.

A Train Runs Into a Horse and Buggy, Killing the Driver.

A fatal accident occurred at the Chicago & Rock Island railroad crossing and Vaughan avenue, the victim of which was J. W. Downey, of Chicago, who has been stopping at Kiel's hotel since the latter part of August. Downey's business was peddling silks and cloths, and he started out yesterday morning with a horse and buggy from Dr. Patten's livery stable. In crossing the railway track and Vaughan avenue a freight train from the east run into the rig, killing the horse and throwing the man backward out of the buggy, causing injuries which led to death within a few hours. The train was freight No. 17, with S. C. Burchard conductor, and Chas. Traver engineer. The head brakeman, S. Wiley, was in the cab of the engine at the time, ringing the bell, while the fireman was busy putting in coal. All the trainmen declare that the whistle was blown fully 300 feet west of the crossing, and the bell was rung. At that crossing the view is very much obstructed, anyone driving along the road being unable to see a train approaching from the east, and the trainmen not being able to see the crossing. The train was only about forty feet from the crossing when the engineer first saw the man in the buggy, who was then about fifteen feet from the track. The engineer reversed his engine, but it was too late. The horse was struck, and thrown free from the harness and buggy, quite a distance to the south of the track. The buggy was at the same time lifted off the ground, and the man fell out backward, while the harness catching on some part of the engine dropped the buggy a little ways before it broke loose. The man was picked up in an unconscious condition but still alive, and was at once taken to his boarding place, Kiel's hotel. An examination showed that the man was seriously hurt, he suffering from congestion of the brain and internal injuries. The only fracture discovered was that of one rib.

The man lingered along for about two hours and then died. But little is known of the deceased beyond the facts stated. He had on his person a letter headed "Grand Lodge of Caledonians," dated at Edinburgh and signed by John Downey, and several bills from Gilmartin & Doyle, Chicago, from whom he had evidently been buying goods.

Coroner Connell held an inquest, the jury consisting of F. W. Spelman, Ed Schickentunz and D. Jerman. The testimony showing that the train was at the time of the accident, running at the rate of sixteen miles or so an hour, the question arose as to whether the crossing is within the city limits, and it was deemed best not to render a verdict until this could be determined.

Among the papers in the possession of the deceased was a letter from Wynandotte, signed Mrs. S. E. Fay, also several letters signed William Hunt. He had also some printed cards reading "A. T. M. Downey, late of the firm of A. T. Stewart, Satin Department, 153 Broadway, New York."

Exposition. Fall and winter millinery goods at J. J. Auwerda & Co.'s, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Notes From the Institution. The institution for the deaf and dumb has entered upon another year, which promises to be a prosperous and successful one. There have been a few changes in the corps of teachers. Professor Downing has gone to Austin, Texas, to teach articulation in that city. Professor Roberts, of Oskaloosa, has taken his place here. He is an experienced instructor, and has been connected with the institution at Olathe, Kansas. Miss Shaw has resigned, and is now living in the eastern part of the state, caring for a school of one. Miss Cramer, of Dunlap, has also resigned, her health being too poor for her to continue her work.

The building improvements are progressing nicely. The new school house building is now up to the cornice, and the new chapel is ready for the slate on the roof. The buildings will soon be so that the work on the interior will be started.

The printing office, an excellent one by the way, is this year under the charge of Mr. George S. Landis, Mr. Richardson, who was in charge last year, having gone to Little Rock, Ark., to take an important and lucrative position in the Gazette office at that place. Mr. Landis is a good workman, and learned his trade in the Lancaster, Pa., intelligence, and has two years' experience in teach mutes.

Exposition. Fall and winter millinery goods at J. J. Auwerda & Co.'s, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Took a Tumble. Yesterday morning Ernest Stroker, a bricklayer employed by Chris Straub on the new buildings at the institution for the deaf and dumb, fell from a ladder a distance of several feet, receiving quite serious injuries. His left thumb was broken, his back hurt and one leg bruised. He was brought to the Creston house, where he has been boarding for some time past.

Serious Loss. From the Malvern Leader are learned the following particulars of Mr. Norris' loss of stock: Wm. Norris, Esq., had the misfortune to lose five head of valuable horses in the following manner: A quantity of rye had been threshed and placed in a bin on his farm just west of town. The cracks in the granary had been stuffed with hay to keep the grain from running out. A herd of horses that had been turned into the field to browse collected about the rye bin, ate the hay from the cracks and let the rye in sufficient quantity to founder and kill five of their number as stated above. Two more of the animals are in a precarious condition. The total loss will amount to several hundred dollars. Mr. Norris was in Nebraska at the time and knew nothing of his loss until he returned.
