

THE DAILY BEE.

Monday Morning October 13.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Can it be that this is Indian summer?
—The republican county central committee has been called to meet in this city next Saturday at 2 p. m.
—The B. & M. company is now running its construction train across Tenth street and will continue to do so until the new line is completed.
—The weather is again warm enough for August and still the merchants are not happy. They say that they must have cold weather before they can do any business to speak of.
—The wreck at Elkhorn has been all cleared away and trains now run over the old track and passengers who now pass the place have no means of telling that a fearful accident occurred there on Wednesday last.
—Friday evening about 5 o'clock a little girl seven years of age, named Edna Vanderborg, left her home, No. 1413 Davenport street, and has not yet returned. Any giving information of her whereabouts will confer a lasting favor upon the parents.
—In the police court yesterday four men were fined $5.00 and costs each for being drunk. A woman was also fined $1.00 and costs for having been drunk and fighting. An old fellow charged with carrying concealed weapons was discharged.
—The regular monthly meeting of the Nebraska Women's Indian association will be held in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church, corner of Seventeenth and Dodge streets, on Monday, Oct. 13th, at 3 p. m. The topic to be discussed will be the "Wrong and the Need of the People."
—Geo. Brutto, alias Miller, who stole a trunk and contents at the Paxton hotel in May last has been captured in St. Louis. Brutto was a porter at the hotel and the trunk and its contents were valued at $500. Sheriff Miller left to bring him back Saturday. He will return without the usual requisition.
—Miss Carrie Southard was the fortunate winner of a sewing machine Friday evening which an agency in this city gave to the person guessing nearest to the number of needles driven in a ten inch wooden ball shaver. In its drive it may interest those who guessed and failed to hit it to know that the exact number was 2,735.
—Mrs. E. P. Ewing will give a free lecture this evening, October 13, at Falconer hall. The lecture will be followed by four demonstration lessons given at the private school of Mrs. Edgar and Miss Wyman the following Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Tickets for the lessons can be had at the school building. Terms, $1.00 for the course, $1.00 for single lessons.
—The coroner Friday empaneled a jury to inquire into the cause of the death of Richard Norris, the fireman of the engine No. 2, which was wrecked at Elkhorn on Wednesday. Saturday a number of witnesses were examined and the inquest was then adjourned until Monday morning to give an opportunity to procure some important testimony which could not be had to-day.
—Mr. Thomas Parker removed his quarters yesterday, and with his usual generous feelings thought it would be an excellent opportunity to entertain his friends. With that object in view he managed to get together the following gentlemen: M. Harris, M. L. Phillips, John Schroeder, Louis Collins, Hans Young, Pat Desmond and J. Wilson. The time was pleasantly spent in singing songs and general festivity. The boys all agreed in parting that "Tommy" was a real good boy.

A New Church Building.

The new church building of the South-west Presbyterian church, of which Rev. T. C. Hall is pastor, will be opened for service next Sabbath in the evening at half past seven. A parting service will be held in the old building in the morning, when the Lord's supper will be administered. This will be the last service in the little building that has served as a church so long. The new church stands on the corner of Twentieth street and Leavenworth. It will seat about four hundred. The ceiling is of handsome burnished hard wood. This matches admirably the wainscoting and pews of like material. Two rooms, right and left of the pulpit, run the whole length of the building and can be thrown into the main room by opening large sliding doors. The pulpit stands out of one corner of the square, and behind this is a large room. The whole design is very peculiar, but seems to suit most admirably the wants of the congregation. The whole cost is said to be about $8,000 for the building and the lot cost $4,000 more, though some reduction was made at the time of purchase. On the following Sunday the church will be dedicated. Dr. John Hall, of New York will preach the dedicatory sermon at 11 o'clock. In the evening five Presbyterian churches will unite in an evening service in the opera house. Dr. Hall will preach the sermon, and invitation will be extended to all to be present.

The Apollo Social Club.

At a meeting in the parlors of the Millard hotel the above named social club was organized and the following officers were elected: Jno. A. Booth, president; Geo. J. Sternsdorff, vice president; W. J. Ward, secretary, and A. B. Cook, treasurer.
The motive of this club is to give a series of social parties during coming season. It is comprised of many of the leading young gentlemen of the city, and it will no doubt act as an incentive to the organization of several other clubs which are now in progress. Their parties will be very select, only members being admitted. The club numbers about sixty and will no doubt surpass any organization of this nature ever gotten up in Omaha. Their first party will be given in the near future, and we predict for them nothing but success.

THE CONVENTION CONCLUDED.

The Annual Laborers of the W. C. T. U. Closes.

An Able and Eloquent Address Last Evening by Miss Willard.

The closing session of the tenth annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Nebraska was held in the opera house last evening. Long before the hour appointed for the exercises to begin the auditorium was crowded from top to bottom and many went away, being unable to obtain even standing room.

The programme of the evening was opened by an anthem sung by the choir. Mrs. E. M. J. Cooley, of Valparaiso, then read a passage from the scriptures, premising her reading by the statement that people often say that when temperance folks are gathered together they state many rabid things, but she would read something to them that had never been said by men except as it came from the lips inspired of God. She then read a Scriptural passage showing the evils of intemperance.

A fervent prayer was then offered by Rev. Marsh, of the Eighteenth street Methodist church.
A song was then sung, after which came the address of the evening by the president of the W. C. T. U. National Temperance Association.

MISS FRANCIS E. WILLARD.

A human being is like an organ full of stops and keys, the music from which depends largely upon the player.
This has been called a great crusade. In olden times there was a crusade to gain possession of an empty sepulcher. They had come before with charity for all and malice toward none. Richard Cobden had said that "Temperance lies at the bottom of all reforms." This was a large generalization, but it might be true.

She then compared the human brain, which is the basis of temperance, to a watch. The majority of men who commit suicide are drinkers. From the saloons of the world thousands of lunatics are turned out, and for this reason they were warning against them, and to attain their end they relied upon an educated public sentiment. They now had thirty lines of work, to describe any one of which would require a whole evening.

One of these lines is the Sunday school and another is the National Educational association. In striving for prohibition, the consummation devoutly to be wished, the steps which lead up to it should not be forgotten. The children in the schools should not only be taught the malice of the Scandinavian coast, but also the malice of intemperance.

Why is it that two lives raised by the same heartache? Look at the inter-mediate schools, the Bible class and the church, and the great majority of them are young girls and women. To say it is the nature of boys to loaf about saloons and grog shops always raised from her a vigorous protest. One source of this opinion is the wrong standpoint taken by society. The heartache should be complemented by a pure priest in return for a pure priestess. Abstinence should be met by abstinence.

The artisan, the doctor, the lawyer and woman all performed their ministries in the compact of society. Ask a saloon-keeper what he does in this compact, and if he is honest he has nothing to say. She had once asked this question of a liquor-vender; what he ministered to society, and he replied, "You put a poison in me."

They looked forward to a time when the people would declare by their ballot that their object had been gained. A prominent politician in Ohio, when requested by his wife and daughter to cast his vote in accordance with their opinions returned for the purpose saying, "The family has voted, the ballot is cast, and it is for prohibition." The question is often asked, "Does prohibition prohibit?" In return she would ask, "Does license regulate?" Prohibition should not be judged by this city or state, but by that one where it has ruled for 32 years.

When there comes an issue which touches the heart as well as the brain then prohibition will follow. The poisoned habits of a nation can be cured by an appeal to its intelligence. She remembered well the war to free the slaves and now they were waging another one to free the intellect. An Englishman had once said that the steamboat could never be a success but the first copy of his book came to America in a steamboat. When she thought of Washington at Valley Forge and many other brave acts of Americans she thought God was leading this nation to an end by ways they knew not of.

At the conclusion of Miss Willard's lecture the temperance doxology was sung, after which the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Savage.

OTHER SUNDAY MEETINGS.

In the morning a temperance love feast largely attended, was held by the convention in the First M. E. church. At 11 a. m. the regular Sunday services of the church were held. Miss Willard filling the pulpit in place of Rev. Savage.

In the afternoon Mrs. E. M. J. Cooley of Valparaiso, State organizer held a meeting in the A. M. E. church at which a unit was formed.

Services were held in the county jail being conducted by Mrs. Parker of Lincoln and Mrs. Collins of Loup City. Songs were sung and prayers offered after which the pledge was passed around fifteen of the inmates signing it.

Later Saturday night the business meeting was held, the first subject taken under consideration being that of finance. Mrs. Pollock, state treasurer, made her annual report, showing the receipts of the year to have been $444.63. The expenditures were $254.53, leaving a balance of $190.10. A resolution to render all possible services to the political party embodying the best platform of political principles was adopted without dissent.

The officers for this ensuing year were elected, Mrs. Jennie Holmes, of Tecumseh, being chosen president, Mrs. Mary K. Folsom, of Gibbon, corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. M. Davis, of Lincoln, recording secretary, Mrs. C. M. Woodard, treasurer, and Mrs. E. M. J. Cooley, Valparaiso, state organizer.

Mrs. Ford, Kearney, Mrs. Hitchcock, Fremont, Mrs. A. S. Soule, Omaha, were elected delegates to represent Nebraska, who with the officers of the state association with the exception of the recording secretary will represent Nebraska at the W. C. T. U. at the annual convention at St. Louis. Mrs. C. B. Parker and Mrs. C. M. Leighton, Lincoln, and Mrs. J. B. Jardine were chosen alternates.

Miss Willard, who arrived in the city Saturday to attend this convention, will

LEVI-SPEIGLE.

A Brilliant Wedding Between Members of These Two Families.

Perhaps one of the most popular Jewish weddings that took place in this city recently that was consummated between Mr. J. Levi and Miss Basie Speigle. The solemn ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Harfield at Falconer's hall. Messrs. A. Lewis, J. Harris, Jacob Levi and Charles Grunbaum were the best men and Misses Nellie Speigle and Annie Abrahamson were the bridesmaids.

After the ceremonial knot had been tied an enjoyable time was held by the invited guests. The musical union orchestra had been engaged and discoursed some of its sweetest music. Mr. Julius Meyer, the manager of the orchestra, was present and rendered material aid in making the affair a complete success. Without doubt this is one of the most brilliant social affairs that has occurred for some time in this city.

The presents were very numerous and were both costly and useful. The wedding party was served with an elegant lunch in the hall, and it remained until early morn tripping to the music of the orchestra. The guests, after wishing the happy couple long life and prosperity, repaired to their homes.

THE RIVER COMMISSION

That body arrive in Omaha Saturday morning and inspect the river work.

Saturday morning the members of the Missouri River Commission arrived in this city. It is composed of Major Charles R. Sator, Major O. H. Ernest, and Lieutenant Fiske, of St. Louis; Major A. McKandale, of Rock Island; Professor G. C. Broadhead, of Pleasant Hill, and Mr. W. J. Broatch, of Omaha. These gentlemen left St. Louis Wednesday night. They spent Thursday in Kansas City. Friday they were at St. Joe and at both of these points they were met by committees of citizens, and conducted to the riverfront, where they inspected the banks, looked over the work which had been done and gained an idea of what is now needed.

Upon the arrival of the commission in this city Saturday they were taken in carriages by a committee of citizens and driven to the river bank, where they looked over the work which had been done from the bridge to the water works. They were then driven around the city, after which they went to the Millard hotel, where they took dinner.

After dinner a reporter called upon Mr. Fiske, the secretary of the commission, and gained from him some information. He said that the commission found the work which had been done here in good condition, and there were only a few small breaks. He said the commission had not decided what would be done for any of the points which they had visited yet and would not make any decision until the next meeting in St. Louis. He said that they are simply looking over the ground and getting a good idea of what is needed. It is now so late in the season that it is not probable that any work will be done this season. Under the old system, where the river was divided up in districts and one commissioner had charge of each district, it was possible to have work done a little sooner, but Mr. Fiske thought the present system, of having the whole river under one commission the better plan and would work more satisfactorily. The commission held a short session in this city Friday afternoon, after which they adjourned.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers were filed in the county clerk's office yesterday and reported for Tax by the Ames' real estate agency October 10, 1884:

Steele Laid Out.

George W. Steele, pipe-man of Engine company No. 3, has been suspended by Chief Butler. Steele had formed a co-partnership with another young man and had opened a temperance billiard hall on Farnam street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets. In accordance with a city ordinance, which expressly stipulates that no policeman, fireman or other person in the employ of the city shall engage in any business other than that of the city, Chief Butler suspended him, subject to the approval of the council.

Blaine and Logan Rally.

There will be a grand rally of the Irish American Blaine and Logan club on Wednesday evening, at the city hall. The A. O. H. band will discourse their sweetest music, and Hon. John Rush, Prof. E. A. O'Brien and Little Mac, the poet laureate of the west, will be the orators. Arrangements will be made for the club to take part in the grand torch-light procession Thursday evening. All Irish Americans who wish to be present will be heartily welcomed by the committee.

AN UNGRATEFUL FELLOW.

Like A Snake, He Bites the Hand that Feeds Him.

How Byron Clark was Bitten by a Bat—The Thief Captured in Sidney.

Sometime since a man giving his name as Hill came to this city and renewed acquaintance with Byron Clark, a saloon-keeper on Douglas street. Acquaintance ripened into friendship and finally Clark and Hill left together for Sidney where the former intended making a visit. A few days after their departure Clark's bar-tender received a telegram purporting to come from his employer, requesting that a hundred and fifty dollars be sent to him at Sidney, care of Doran & Tobin. The bar-tender shipped the money by express, and notified Clark of the fact by telegraph, addressing as directed. Three days afterwards Baldwin and Kennedy, Clark's partners, received a telegram from him asking for $150. They were on the point of sending it when Clark himself walked into the establishment and was a much astonished man when he heard what had been done.

It appears that Clark left Sidney shortly after his arrival there, going to Grand Island, and had written neither of the requests for money, and they are supposed to have come from Hill, whom, it is thought, "laid" at Doran & Tobin's, whoever they may be, and caught on to the cash. The aggravating part of the affair to Mr. Clark is that in Sidney Hill went broke and borrowed money from him, and then, just about the time the first $100 must have arrived, paid it back with a great flourish and the remark that he had "received a remittance."

Mr. Clark at once related the circumstances to Deputy Sheriff Crowell and he immediately telegraphed to the sheriff at Sidney to arrest Hill. Friday morning he received the gratifying intelligence that Hill had been arrested and was held subject to orders from this city.

Deputy Sheriff Grebe took the noon train Saturday for Sidney and will bring Hill to this city. The grand jury is now in session and Hill will at once have a hearing. He will probably be indicted and tried at the present term of court and will doubtless take a trip to Lincoln as soon as court adjourns.

An Old Lady Cane.

On yesterday a number of gentlemen headed by Jerome C. Pentzel, the genial clerk of the police court, and followed by James O'Brien, the favorably known veteran driver of the Hook and Ladder grays, entered the dwelling of Mr. Jones without warning, for no alarm had been sounded. What their intention could be was not easily determinable from this sudden and surprising ingress, but gentle men of their occupation do not usually stop for ceremonies, as it is their business to obey orders, and therefore their unexpected appearance.

From their actions it was soon discovered that Steele was in their eye, and as a result under such circumstances Graves must follow. The time proved short to Windom, for a Herald soon brought the news that they had discovered a Salter, when, as a foreigner would say, the whole thing became too Blake for comfort, when Grebe by his management had them extramitted by a Webb. It was then plainly announced by Mr. Pentzel that they, as Strong, athletic men had then suddenly presented themselves to cane the old lady of the house, Mrs. Elizabeth Reeves, and then began a demonstrative exhibition of positive execution. This brought Mr. Jones to his feet in the defense of the infirm and helpless veteran of eighty-five years, which had the desired effect to terminate the execution in a pleasant and amiable spirit, the result of which is that Mrs. Reeves now perambulates the streets leaning upon a beautiful, appropriate and substantial gold headed cane inscribed "Mrs. E. Reeves, age 85 years, presented by the firemen of No. 3 Engine house, and as a consequence the whole thing ended in a smoke."

Benefit Concert at Saratoga.

A good audience gathered Friday evening to listen to the very excellent concert under the auspices, and for the benefit of the Union Sunday school, and were repaid by a musical treat such as our burg has not had for months. The male quartet, composed of Messrs. Northrup, Wilkins, Deuel and Smith, sang very acceptably, notwithstanding that the arrangements were a little hurried. The gem of the evening was Miss Lizzie Pennell's "Summer Shower," at the close of which she received a rapturous encore, when she sang "Daisy and Joan" very sweetly. Mr. W. B. Wilkins was at his best in "Only I Can Know," and was well received. Mr. Pennell in "The Boatman's Story" was deservedly encored as was also the duet "Messenger of Spring," by Mr. and Miss Pennell. Mr. Northrup was unfortunately in poor voice but was recalled after his "Good Night" but declined. A report of the above would not be complete without the mention of the accompanist, Miss Clara M. Pierce, whose part, although a silent one, was none the less creditable.

After the musicale, lunch was served when the young people indulged in a promenade to the delightful music of the Fourth infantry orchestra. The beautiful floral anchor was voted to Miss Belle Cheson, of your city, over a number of contestants in an aggregate of over five hundred votes. The Harrieten was presented to Miss Perrell as a token of appreciation for her services. The designs were the handiwork of Mr. D. H. Christie, who has become quite celebrated for his taste and talent in this direction.

In the Street.

John Erick, a sixteenth street hardware merchant, has had his old frame building moved out and placed upon Webster street, at the intersection of Sixteenth street. The building stands directly in the street and leaves only a narrow driveway on one side of it, next to the sidewalk. He will erect upon the ground where the old building stood a new frame structure, and the old building will remain in the street until his new one is ready for occupancy. Parties owning brick blocks upon either side of the ground which Mr. Erick proposes building upon, object decidedly to his building a frame building, and have called upon the city council to restrain him from so doing.

At Falconer's Hall.
A social party was given by a private social club at Falconer's hall Friday night. A large number of persons were present. Messrs. T. H. Cotter, E. T. Shelby and C. J. Smyth acted as a committee of arrangements, and the excellent manner in which the different parts were carried out reflected great credit on the work of those gentlemen. The party was given in return for the leap year reception which the ladies tendered the gentlemen near the close of last season.
