FRANCO-CHINESE WAR. A REILLIANT PRENCH VICTORY.

Panis, October 15,-General De Lislo tele graphs from Chu, on the upper Loo Chuan, as follows: "Colonel Dennier, after a brilliant engagement Friday, carried the heights ommanding Fort Chu, forming point L'Ap put and an entrenched Chinese camp which was defended by casemated forts. The Chi-nese force was large and their loss heavy. On Satur lay they assumed the offensive, but our artillery strewed the ground with their bodies. They fied to Sanson, halting near Chu, Truong and Khanh. The French lost twenty; one and Khauh. The French lost twenty; one officer and ninety men were wounded. Our troops were animated with ardor. The Chinesr engaged were part of the best troops of the empire, manoeuvered and armed in European style. The Chinese loss was three thousard killed, including the chief commander. The Chinese invasion of Tonquin has been arrested in the direction of Lansang.

The War in the East,

The question which now absorbs the attention of officialdom in this part of the world is how China should be treated by the Japanese government, says a Tokio, Japan, letter to the New York Sun. An uneasy feeling seems to be abroad that if Japan does not qualify her neutrality in China's favor the latter country will attempt to revenge her suppositi-tious wrongs in the near future. That old bug-bear, the interminable Loo Choo ques-tion, is certain to take a new lease of vexatious life if Japan does not step warily. The facts are simply as follows: There are two parties in the Loo Choo islands, one known as the white party the adherents of the Japa-nese, the other known as the black party, favoring China's claims. Numerically the par-ties stand about the same, perhaps slightly more Japanese than Chinese. The northern part of the contested group is definitely under Japanese jurisdiction. It is known as Okinawa Ken, or the prefecture of Okinawa, and the officials are all appointed by the Japanese the officials are all appointed by the Japanese government. Some years ago Japan claimed the whole group, and on incontestably valid grounds at that. But the Chinese, having commercial interests of considerable importance in the Loc Choos, denied Japan's right of possession. A most vexatious and seemingly interminable litigation ensued, which I may add heaven the striptory and the second seeming the contraction of the second seeming the second second seeming the second sec add, has even yet come to no satisfactory con-clusion. Japan proved in a succinct and com-prehensible manner that the islands had been practically under her jurisdiction for centuries; that she had regularly appointed prefects and governors, and that for many years China had governors, and that for many years China had raised no objection to anything of the kind. The Pekin authorities, however, with their usual obstinacy, contested each of those points. The "king" [of the Loo Choos, they urged, always received official recognition of his right to the throne at the hands of China before entering upon his reign; the jurisdiction, whatever it might be was one that had to receive official is a Lauit. might be, was one that had to receive official sanction from China, and the Loo Choos were, therefore, just as much a Chinese possession as Corea or Anam. And as to their raising no objection as to what Japan did, why, that no objection as to what Japan did, why, that was merely an act of politeness! A true Chinese argument, invalid and unstable.

The Loo Choo controversy was carried on in Japan in the polite and most decorous manner. Not so in China. There were bluttering disparches sent to Tokio, and the Pekin authorities said that Japan had insulted them by the president of the control of the co rekin authorities said that Japan had insuited them by trumping up a fictitious and wholly unjustifiable claim. In fact, it very nearly came to blows. The question was temporari-ly settled by a division of the disputed terri-tory. Japan took the northermost and larg-est portion; China held the rest. But be it re-membered that this was done under protest on the part of middle kingdom. Though act-ually out at one time an agreement to this effect, and after placing fast and loose with the Japanese envoy in Pekin for a number of months, the imperial council refused to ratify their own proposition and went back on their solemn promise. And so it comes that things are to-day no better than they were at the outset of the controversy. No wonder, then, that Japan, who has acted most honestly all along, dreads the revival of the old argument. She has to reset with an unsecurations adver-She has to meet with an unscrupulous adver-

She has to meet with an unscrupulous adversary, for China is a nation—or rather say the leading advisers of the youthful emperor are unscrupulous men—that she will never keep her troth unless forced to do so. But it is well to remember that the fault does not lie with the Chinese as a people. The Tarter dynasty is at the bottom of all this braggadocic policy. They know that the Tartar line is doomed just as soon as its thorough inefficiency becomes evident to the Chinese at large; and therefore the censors, "Imperial Guardians," and the Tsung li Yamen hang together in one common cause, for fear of hav-

BLAINE IN MICHIGAN.

BRIGHTON, Mich., October 15.-Blaine left Detroit at 10 this morning for a short trip through the state. Several hundred people were at the depot who cheered Blaine when he appeared. In the party were Gen. Fre. ment, Senators Palmer, Conger and Hill, M. J. H. Manley, of Augusta, Maine; Hon. R. G. Orr, Judge Isaac Mareton, Chairman Vsnsie, of the republican state committee; Collector J. Y. Stone, Charles T. Gorham, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and several prominent citizens of the state. The first stop was at Plymouth, where there was a large crowd. Blaine was introduced and the peo-ple cheered and called for a speech. Blaine bowed and merely said, "The only speech in order to-day, my friends, is congratulation on Ohlo's vote of yesterday," (Cheers.) Gen. Fremont was then introduced and was hearti-ten beared. heered.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN, October 15 .-This day's journey was a long one, covering 267 miles and as there were a great many stops, each was of necessity short. There were twenty nine places at which Blaine and were twenty fine places at which Blaine and General Frencont were called out, but there were really no speeches made. In each case, Blaine merely congratulated the people up in the Ohio victory and called upon them to limitate it in Michigan, and then General Fremont was introduced. At most of the points where stops were made the crowds were points where stops were made the crowds were remarkably large, considering the population of the region braversed. In the upper flat in a small room he found sixty men were confined, all under restraint, handcuffed and strapped to chains. In other parts of the building he found cells without windows, and with wretched ventilation. In a totally dark cell he discovered a man stark naked lying on straw, and handcuffed to a belt. In another, he found a man deaf and dumb, similarly manacled in an empty cell, without bed or bedding. The woman's room he described as a chamber of horror and even more terrible than the pottion where the men were kept. than the portion where the men were kept. In conclusion he says it is amazing that a colony of England can present such a spectacle as he describes. The asylum is under charge of nuns and government inquiry will be in-

They did not give up the fight, however, but insist that with New York, Indiana, and the solid South Cleveland can and will be elected. Lipphard left Washington last night on a mission under the auspices of the democratic management to the member of the order which he assumes to represent in several of the New England states and in Froy, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Geneva, N. Y., and in certain localities in Pennsylvania. He is freighted with all the exploded slanders the democrats have coined to injure Mr. Blaine and will use them unscrupulously. Mr. Lipphard has "A Book of Facts," as he calls it, nearly ready to be published and cir-culated among the members of the order of the American union. If his claim does not miscarry he proposes to distribute the book among the Protestant clergy of the United

The dwellings extend a mile along the ragged jutting sides of the canon far down its walls, and yet are hundreds of feet from the bottom. They are constructed in tiers one above the other, and occupy each side of the gorge. There are six tiers in all. The ancient city is accessible from only one or two points, and for only two per-sons at a time. It is the largest pueblo known. Although it has been visited by tourists and travelers from every quarter of the civilized world in the past season, many of its dark caverns are yet a mystery and have never been entered by a white man. Having once gained access to one row or tier, it is necessary to travel to the end of it before gaining acces to the one above or below it.

While it is an accepted theory that these ruins are the former homes and dwelling place of some race now extinct. it seems more reasonable to suppose that they were the retreat of some vanquished people, who here sought refuge from the ierce nomadiac tribes tribes that roamed these wilds at a time so remote that his tory bears no record of their wars.
