

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Friday Morning October 17.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. By Carrier... By Mail...

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Reiter's new fall stock of cloths. The city council meets next Monday evening. The last $25,000 sale of bonds is said to be "a flash."

The closing out of this stock, and the losing of Mr. Seaman from the business circles of the city, is indeed to be regretted.

The large delegation of the Council Bluffs Boys in Blue, and the several Blaine and Logan clubs of our city, that participated in the grand rally in Omaha last night, report a fine time, and say the enthusiastic reception they received at the hands of the Omaha clubs was only equalled by that which greeted the arrival of the famous old hand engine, "Rescue No. 3", and the noble volunteer boys, the night the Grand Central was burned, together with four or five brave fire boys, who perished in the flames.

The dear old grandmother as usual gobbles what she clips from the scrap book. Why she did not give in full what was said by the Editor reporter as follows: "The Omaha Bee, the leading republican paper in the west, openly advises the election of Pusey. The Bee has been advocating the cause of Lyman until lately, and it has more circulation in western Iowa than any Iowa paper, it will have a great influence on the election."

The Bee has no apologies to offer, for the position it has taken. It hoped that the republicans would precisely by the defeat of two years ago, and nominate a man whose record was clean, so that Mr. Pusey would be defeated and the district wrested from the democratic grip. Mayor Lyman was nominated in a reckless, thoughtless manner, in a convention where each faction was trying to give the honor to Lyman rather than have the other faction succeed.

The nomination, though made under such circumstances, seemed one which the Bee could endorse, and it spoke favorably of Lyman until his record was shown up, and in such a manner that the Bee could not consistently with its openly-avowed policy, give him its support nor endorse such a record. The Bee never has and never will knowingly support a defaulter for office, even though he is a staunch republican. A goodly number of affidavits and counter-affidavits have been made public, and the last batch in the Nonpareil, was brought out with a flourish of trumpets, a shout of "vindication," and a wild whoop charging Pusey, the Baldwins, and others of Lyman's opponents with perjury, forgery, and slander. The Bee would be only too glad if a complete vindication could be presented, but these very affidavits brought in for the defense, admit that there was a shortage in Lyman's accounts as revenue collector. They do not state the amount of the shortage, but simply claim that it was fixed up so that the government did not lose anything, and that Lyman was not arrested, and that no criminal prosecution was started. At a public meeting John N. Baldwin presented the original draft of about $2,500 with which it is claimed the shortage covered, and the mortgage by which Lyman's father raised the money, and no denial is yet made as to the genuineness of the documents. Now so long as it is conceded by all that there is actually a large shortage or defalcation in Lyman's accounts as a public official, the Bee cares little to the amount, or the details as to how it was patched up and smoothed over. It is the main fact which still seems to stick as the dark spot on the record. As the readers of THE BEE know, it has no special love for Pusey, and cannot in common with the following masses, it even more of an icicle, than Lyman, and his little appreciation of anything done for him, but during his long residence here he has gained and held the respect and confidence of the people as a citizen, a neighbor, and business man. The republicans are forced to face the question whether they will endorse a man who has in other public positions, been short in his accounts, at which the republican party can afford to put itself on record as approving each official action. The Bee cannot consistently, honestly do so, and does not believe the party can. There are other charges made against Lyman, but the one grave charge, which is conceded to be true in substance, if not in detail, is sufficient to cause THE BEE to take this position, and in doing so, it cares nothing for what little slurs "the dear old grandmother" may indulge in. With the record she made two years ago, in attempting to force Anderson on this district, silence would be more becoming to her dotage.

Notwithstanding the repeated assertions of the Nonpareil that Lyman's private character has been attacked in the contest, it is evident that thus far all the charges made have been on his official record, which is public property, and should be closely scanned, and sharply criticized.

The Maiden Huffs. About fifty Blaine and Logan torch-bearers went to Minden Wednesday evening to join in the demonstration there. They were delayed in returning so that they did not reach here until about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, so that they got little sleep or rest, and were not in very good trim for going on the Omaha trip last evening. They report a glorious time though. There were by actual count 385 torches, so that the press in accordance with the usual rule, adopted by both parties, shall state that there were 1,000 torches in the line of march. There were nearly 3,000 people at the open air meeting, and stirring speeches were made by John Lindt, William Sears, and C. F. Adams, of this city, J. P. Organ, of Neola, and W. F. Rightmire, of Graceland. Delegations were present from Avoca, Shelby, Neola and Council Bluffs, and the enthusiasm was great.

A Missing Man. The friends of Morgan O'Brien, living on Eighth avenue near the Northwestern track, are quite worried about his mysterious disappearance. He has been employed as foreman of the car repairs at the transfer, and on Sunday last went over to Omaha, and returned late in the evening, went to a friend's house, and did not return home until early in the morning. That day he worked as usual, and Monday evening got $21 of his wife, saying he was going up town to pay some little bills. He did not return, and it was learned that some one saw him on the Sioux City train. That is as far as he had been traced, and nothing has been heard from him by his wife. He owns a farm in Dakota, and the supposition is that he is temporarily out of his head, and has started for that place in a bewildered state of mind. O'Brien has an excellent reputation for steadiness and industry, and there seems no reason for his sudden disappearance.

A Whelp. A beastly sort of a fellow at heart, though wearing a pleasanter exterior, was sitting in Baylis' park yesterday, talking with the park policeman, Mr. Covalt. He claimed to be from Dubuque, and in talking about the park inquired if there were many free-and-easy girls who frequented it. He was informed that when known they were not allowed there, and soon after, noticing a little school girl sitting on one of the benches, asked who she was. Mr. Covalt told him that she was a little girl from a very respectable family, but despite this information a short time after this the fellow tried to get the little girl to leave the park and go with him. The little girl became frightened, and as she was telling Mr. Covalt the fellow hurried away. Later in the day, however, he had the cheek to return to the park, and the policeman promptly took him by the collar and showed him the way out. It is a pity that such a rascally whelp could not have been punished in some way commensurate with the offence.

Real Estate Transfers. The following are the real estate transfers filed for October 11 and reported to THE BEE by P. J. McMahon.

W. G. Blair and wife to M. Gallagher, lot 4, block H, Curtis & Ramsey's addition, $1,400. J. M. Palmer and wife to Francis M. Compton, lot 5, block 10, Eubanks' second addition, $276. J. M. Palmer and wife to Mary Welch, lots 1, 3 and 24, block 29, railroad addition. Christian and Albertine Eberhart to Charles Kay, part of 13, 76, 41, $750. Samuel Clinton and wife to Maria E. Jensen, lot 7 and 8, block 12, Stutsman's second addition, $200. Jas. Hillpack and wife to Molder Clark, southwest fractional quarter of northwest 45, 77, 42, $350.

Hungry Till-Tappers. Two young fellows went into Kramer's bakery on Broadway yesterday, and after buying some cakes, asked for some water with which to moisten the lunch. Mr. Kramer was alone in the store, and had to step out to get some water. When he returned the cake-eaters were gone, as was also about $40, which had been in the till.
