JOHN McCULLOUGH. His Personal Appearance and Stage Presence—An Instance of Generosity.

A correspondent of the Memphis Appeal writes as follows of John McCullough: It is the habit of newspapers to speak of McCullough as a man of "gigantic" or "herculean" frame.

There is an actress who traveled one season with McCullough's company who says: "He was the hardest working actor I ever saw."

His most fatiguing labor was at rehearsals. I have known him to work hard for six continuous hours at a rehearsal doing his own part and showing others how to do theirs.

It is imagination of a kind that has detrimentally increased the price paid in his blood. Let him take a Turkish bath at once, if his doctor will permit it, and live by rule again.

The living by rule includes a certain amount of exercise in the open air. Without this, no rheumatic person can expect to be long free from aches and pains and weariness.

For breakfast let tea and coffee both be avoided, substituting cocoa or chocolate, with milk and sugar. At least be eaten, or if bread is preferred, it should be brown bread and butter and the bread should be stale.

THE ELOPEMENT EPIDEMIC. A Statistician Gives Some on the Subject.

Philadelphia Record. He was a steady-looking man, ready from the toes of his unpolished boots to the top of his shabby old beaver, and even his hair, which came down on his coat collar behind, looked as if it had run to seed also.
