The slight wave of the bloody shirt by Blaine at Fort Wayne has had the same effect upon the democrats as a red rag has upon a bull.

GROVER CLEVELAND depends too much upon the Beecher family for his election. The latest campaign document is his letter to "My dear Mrs. Beecher."

MINNIE CUMMINGS, formerly of Omaha, has obtained a judgment of $25,000 against a New York policeman and a dressmaker for false imprisonment.

VAN WYCK'S little crowd assures us that throwing rocks at their chief does not help Jim Laird. Bless your soul! Jim does not want any help.

Reep right on, Van Wyck can stand it. When the people have to choose between Jim Laird and Van Wyck we know the result.

MR. WEAVER had better keep cool, or he may lose that $10,000 which he is offering so generously to any man who can substantiate a questionable transaction either in his public or private affairs.

THE REAL QUESTIONS AT ISSUE.

According to the Omaha Republican John M. Thurston, the Union Pacific windmill, spoke at Seward exclusively on the tariff because his audience was an agricultural assembly.

In England, where he has lived the greater part of his life, Sir Moses Montefiore is universally loved. In 1837 he was knighted by the queen, and in 1840 she created him a baronet as a recognition of his services in behalf of his race.

BORROWED AMMUNITION. We have been asked why we don't keep on pitching into Morton. We simply answer that the fool friends of Mr. Dawes won't let us.

OMAHA, NEB., October 23, 1884. To the editor of the BEE:—I wish to say a few words to Mr. McSweeney's friends in this city through the columns of your paper.

I did not intend to have any thing to say on this subject if it was not a fact that the friends of this imported fraud had the audacity, to hoist his name on their transparencies, in this city on last Tuesday evening in the democratic parade.

I would like to ask these gentlemen a few questions and have them answered: In the first place in what way was Mr. McSweeney connected with a society called the Irish exiles of San Francisco, California?

Second, I would like to know what became of all the money collected by these eleven men who were the notorious Colonel James H. Flynn was the leading light?

Thirdly, why did Mr. McSweeney leave California and go back to the old country? I would like to have these questions answered. It is time that Irishmen in this and other lands began to think and act for themselves.

Under the circumstances it is no longer the province of the BEE to keep up its feud, while it is between two fires. The state board of agriculture and the Lincoln Journal have kindly relieved us from this duty.

We have done all that could reasonably be expected from an anti-monopoly paper. We have furnished the ammunition, and they find it more effective than any they can get up, for the people don't believe anything they say.

WHY WE OPPOSE HIM. We oppose James Laird because he always is the boon companion of bar room bums, political dead beats and disreputable characters.

When it was shown by an abundance of proof that Laird had been a party to the Stinking Water pre-emption frauds perpetrated by Simon Kelley, the Haast's saloon keeper and a gang of Laird's strikers, our high-toned congressman tried to shoulder the whole job upon his brother.

We oppose Mr. Laird for re-election because in congress and out of congress he is a railroad lawyer. A man cannot serve two masters, and whenever the corporations that employ and own Laird command him to desert the people on any question he will do so.

We oppose Laird for re-election because his career in congress is worse than a blank. A congressman who has been absent from his post of duty more than half the time and either voted against the known wishes of his district or has dodged nearly every important issue has no right to ask for a re-election.

Last but not least, we oppose Laird on account of the infamous methods by which he secured his nomination. Against these methods more than 10,000 republicans entered their solemn protest through the ballot-box two years ago.

In a district which gave Garfield nearly 15,000 majority Laird received less than 13,000 votes altogether, and only got through by a plurality. In defiance of this rebuke Laird insists upon being sent back for another term. This is the height of impudence.

During the next four years four generals of the regular army will reach the age of sixty-four years, which will put them on the retired list. These generals are Brigadier-General Augur, who will be sixty-four years old on July 10, 1885; Major-General Pope, who will reach the age of sixty-four years on March 10, 1886; Inspector-General Sackett, April 14, 1886; and Major-General Hancock, February 18, 1888.

The retirement of General Augur in July next will probably promote either Colonel Wesley Merritt, of the Fifth cavalry, or Colonel John Gibbon, of the Seventh infantry, to be brigadier-general. Colonel Gibbon is commanding the department of the Platte in the absence of General Howard. He is the ranking colonel of the army, his commission bearing date July 28, 1866, or ten years in advance of that of Colonel Merritt, hence the chances are greatly in his favor.

General Pope will probably be succeeded by General Howard, who is first in the list of brigadiers, although there is some talk of General Terry, commanding the department of Dakota, securing this promotion. The successor of Inspector-General Sackett will be an officer of his own corps, and as Colonel Nelson H. Davis, the ranking colonel, is marked for retirement on September 30, 1885, Lieutenant Colonel Jones is very likely to become Inspector-General.

THE NEW YORK STAR, "which shines for all," does not, however, shine for Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, October 23.—The private banking house of H. D. Cooke & Co. displayed the following notice at their usual opening hour this morning: "Owing to our inability to meet pressing demands, we deem it better for all interests concerned to suspend temporarily."

WASHINGTON, October 23.—The failure of H. D. Cooke & Co., bankers of Washington, D. C., is due to outside speculation. They have been promoters of the Florida Canal company, and Washington & Ohio railroad, both of which were heavy drawers on their resources.

A PATRIOT'S PROTEST.

Mr. William Mulhall Propounds a Number of Questions to Irish American Democrats.

McSweeney Denounced as a Fraud and Mrs. Parnell Condemned—The Severe Effects of the Late Procession.
