MINOR MENTION.

The council is to meet to-night. The police made 122 arrests in October. See J. Reiter's new fall stock of cloth. Only three drunks spent Sunday in the calaboose. The republican rally at the Masonic temple to-night. Permit to wed has been given James Quillon and Clara Waite, both of Minden. A serenading party of young ladies and gents were making the rounds Saturday evening. The three electric lights hung across Broadway last night were used by permission of three Pusey men. J. M. Adams has returned from an eastern trip, having been purchasing more goods for the Boston shoe store. Mr. Reagan has concluded to go on with the paving of the dummy depot and will put a large force on Monday. A new turn-table was put in yesterday at the Ogden house by the street car company. It was made in Denver. A twelve pound daughter arrived at the home of J. P. Filbert Friday night. Mother and daughter are doing well. A man giving his name as Fitzgerald was arrested yesterday for sneaking a pair of pants from Marcus' second hand store. The democracy holds forth at the opera house this evening with Congressman Pusey and John N. Baldwin as speakers. There was a row at the Colorado House last evening in which beer glasses were thrown lively. Only one man was arrested. Charles Riley was thrown from a horse the night of the parade, striking heavily on the stone pavement, but luckily escaping serious injury. Some one burglarized a bee tree belonging to W. B. Cuppy, of Avoca. He had C. Swift arrested for the larceny of the honey, but a jury acquitted. Some of the friends of young Walker, the telephone manager charged with embezzlement, are trying to club together in furnishing the required bail to secure his release. Mr. Rice has so far recovered from his illness that he was able yesterday to hold services at the jail for the benefit of the prisoners it being the first time in nine weeks. Some fellows who probably thought they were funny, but who were really downright dirty mean, stole the gas jet letters in front of Bixby's store on Hollow 'een night. The republican clubs have passed resolutions asking the business men to close their stores and offices to-morrow, and all turn out to aid in a fair election and honest count. The democrats are trying to rob County Clerk Street of his good name. Some thieves broke into his house Saturday night. The only article missed was Mrs. Street's cloak. Mr. Robert Beecroft and Miss Nancy Conn, of Winterset, Iowa, were united in marriage Saturday evening at the residence of the groom, 728 Mynster street, the Rev. T. S. Bovell officiating. William Richardson, who has been employed in the city's surveying party of late, died yesterday at the residence of John Nicholson. He had been ill but a few days, pneumonia being the cause of his death. Weatherbee & Bennett have purchased for their city livery stable on Main street the finest five light landau over brought to this city. It is, indeed, a beauty, and was manufactured by James Cunningham & Son of Rochester, N. Y. There was a very happy surprise party upon Miss Emma Palmer at her residence on Bluff street Saturday evening. About twenty-five couples were present, with Glen's orchestra, and dancing and feasting, and a general good time ensued. Col. Root, the United States marshal of this district, who, while in the city, said that the saloons do not close in Council Bluffs on election day he will see to it that they are closed up for a good many days after that, and closed tight, too. The mayor says the saloons must and shall close tight to-morrow, and seems determined to have the election conducted properly in all respects. If he succeeds it will put to shame those who have talked so much about Council Bluffs being a riotous city. Burglars on Friday night gained an entrance to the residence of Mr. French, of Casady, Orcutt & French. They secured no plunder having been apparently alarmed. Burnt matches were found on the stairway and the door had been forced open with a chisel. THE BEE man met yesterday a quiet commercial tourist who has traveled lately 1,700 miles in this district and mingled with many men of both parties, not as a politician but as a business man, and he declares that the fight between Pusey and Lyman is a close one, and that neither one will get 200 majority over the other. The mayor's orders for election day appear elsewhere. He seems disposed to see that order is preserved, and all parties treated fairly. There was a rumor last night that a large number of deputy sheriffs and United States marshals will be appointed. The mayor says that in such a case he will change his orders as regards the number of police. Crockwell's awning caught fire the night of the demonstration, and one man started to turn in an alarm, which would have caused a sad disturbance of the parade, but Marshal Guanella, though a democrat, ran after him and stopped him. The burning awning was suppressed quickly, without the department turning out. Tally one for Guanella. The Globe had to spend most of its space Saturday in bowing about the republican demonstration being a failure. Why can't there be a little decency and fairness even in politics? A paper which makes such statements which the people in the city know to be false, just makes a laughing stock of itself, and as it has no readers outside of the city, it misleads no one, and does not help its own cause. Sunday was largely devoted to politics here. At the hotels and on the street corners were little groups of excited talkers. At the corner of Main and Broadway there were about fifty who blocked up the sidewalk and spent an hour or two in chin music and making a few bets. The money put up was even, no odds being given on either side. Most of the bets were on New York state and the congressional contest. The police have arrested a man named Fred Brown for stealing the horse of the emigrant, Jackson, last week. The horse was sick and while Jackson was over to a drug store for remedies, Brown was walking the horse around, and attempted to ride the animal off, but on the road the horse dropped dead. Brown came back to the hotel Saturday to get his valise and overcoat, when he was captured. All fair-minded, honest citizens, of whatever party, and there are plenty in both, are anxious for a square, honest vote. The republicans have canvassed the city, and have prepared lists so that they may know who have the right to vote. They propose to look out sharp for repeaters and illegal voters, and if any such appear they purpose to have them arrested and purpose to prosecute them. In doing so they should be sure they are right, and then every honest man will be glad to have them go ahead. No one who has a vote need be intimidated, however, or afraid of trouble, for there are enough true citizens in both parties to see to it that every voter has a chance, and that every crooked move on either side is checked. THE MAYOR'S ORDER. Whereas, on the 4th day of November, 1884, occurs the important election of a president, vice president, congressmen, state, county and township officers, and as good order should be desired by all patriotic, law-abiding, honorable citizens that a full and honest vote can be intelligently polled, and recognizing the fact that the name and reputation of our city is of more importance than the election or defeat of any special candidates, and fully realizing the responsibility resting on me to see that the people's rights are fully protected. Therefore I have ordered the chief of police to select five competent special policemen, regardless of their political ideas, for each voting place, or a total of twenty special, and I have also ordered him to secure five light express wagons with reliable drivers, to be used alone for police duties, to-wit: Taking prisoners to jail and conveying police to places where they are needed. One of the regular policemen will be placed in charge of each set of specials. In fact the department will be fully competent to preserve the heat of order. It is my further order that every saloon, or place where beer, wine, whisky, etc., is claimed to be free for sale, that all of such places must close their front and back doors, and must not sell anything that is intoxicating from 5 a. m. to 8 p. m. on November 1, 1884, and any policeman who fails to see this order obeyed, or neglects to arrest any person drinking liquor in the street, or in any manner refuses to see that the ordinances of our city are fully complied with, such police officer will be immediately discharged from the force. "FOLLOWING EXAMPLE." Rev. John Todd's Sermon at the Congregational Church Yesterday. The services at the Congregational church yesterday morning were especially interesting. Rev. John Todd, of Tabor, a veteran preacher and pastor, officiated and delivered an excellent sermon, very appropriate to communion day. His theme was, "Christ as an Example." In his opening he dwelt upon the power of imitation. The boy was always trying to do what his father did. He was always trying to put on boots, would spend hours upon hours learning to whistle, wanted to ride a horse, just as his father did, and the little girl directed her baby talk to her doll, prepared its dresses, got her little broom to sweep, would try to sew even with a pin, and was continually copying and imitating the maternal acts of her mother. The contrasts and strong impressions on the mind were made through the senses. The music, the bright colors, hunger, pain—such made impressions through the senses, and it was only when the mind was more advanced that abstract ideas were gained. The kindergarten system has been founded upon the recognition of the power of object teaching. God in his dealings with men, had recognized the great need of object lessons, symbols, etc., in conveying and impressing truths. It was in accordance with this principle that "God was made manifest in the flesh," and Christ was given as an example for man to follow. The speaker then dwelt upon various points in Christ's character which his followers should pattern after. He then spoke of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and the use of the bread and wine as simple symbols. Previous to the administration of the sacrament three new members were received into the church. The music for the service was furnished by a male quartet consisting of Messrs. Judd, Fitch, Belden and Stacy, with Miss Fitch as organist. Window shades at cost to close them out. P. C. Miller 13 Pearl street. A brakeman on the Q., while climbing on his train after leaving Charitan, was knocked off by a post. He is not expected to survive his injuries. Order hard wood of P. Overton. It is claimed that street-paving contracts have been awarded in Des Moines in a very loose and extravagant manner. One firm alone is said to have cleared $50,000 on a single contract. Platte Overton is selling screened Centerville coal for $4.50 per ton and throws in a bundle of kindling. COMMERCIAL. COUNCIL BLUFFS MARKET.
