The Steamboat "Missouri U. S." Moored at the Foot of Farnam.

The Captain's Reminiscences of Tom Benton.

Yesterday afternoon while about 500 persons were gazing intently upon the workmen engaged in placing the derailed B. & M. switch engine upon the track, a steamboat was seen coming down around the bend of the river.

The boat proved to be the "Missouri U. S." which went up the river three years ago last spring. It is a stern wheel steamer with a twenty-five foot beam and one hundred and forty foot keel.

HIS VULNERABLE SPOT.

An Ex-Policeman Shot in the Heel by a Liquor Vender.

Saturday night at about 7 o'clock Alexander Black entered the saloon on the corner of Thirteenth and Center streets of which premises he is owner, and lets to a party for liquor vending purposes. Black demanded of the bar-keeper, it is said, certain advances upon rent not yet due. Being refused Black seated himself near a pool table at which Hon. I. S. Hascall, city alderman, and John Stevenson were playing pool. A quarrel was in some manner engendered between the latter gentleman and Mr. Black, wherein blows were exchanged until Black feeling that his pugilistic prowess was not equal to the exigencies of the case and producing a pistol he shot at Stevenson, but missed in his aim and, as Stevenson ran behind the bar to obtain the pistol belonging to the bar-keeper, Black, however, secured two or three shots at the fleeing Black, one of which took effect in the fugitive's heel. Before Judge Anderson, a short time after, Alderman Hascall swore out a warrant for Black's arrest, which was served and the prisoner released upon $300 bail. Subsequently suspicious rumors came to the ear of the bondsman, and in company with an officer he went to Black's house, where the culprit was found and started to jail. En route, however, by some adroit ruse Black evaded his captors and fled. He is still at large.

THE GERMAN THEATER.

Last evening the enlarged Stadt theater was filled both up and down stairs when Adolf Mueller's popular play, "Der Meindelbauer," was presented. One of the principal attractions was the first appearance of Herr Julius Kessler, the famous German comedian, who sustained the role of Mathias Ferner. It was very apparent from the first that Mr. Kessler had created a very favorable impression on the audience, and the applause which greeted him was both hearty and frequent. He is an excellent actor in his line and will prove a valuable acquisition if he stays in the gate city.

The full force of the stock company very ably supported the guest, as the German style of acting actor, and taken as a whole the performance last night was an eminently creditable one and was received with great favor.

CONGREGATIONAL SERVICES.

In this church, at the regular morning service, Rev. Sherrill preached his usual able Sunday sermon to a large congregation. The pulpit was beautifully adorned by a floral decoration made by Mrs. Clark Woodman and Mrs. M. G. Cole. The decoration consisted of a mass of beautiful out-flowers interwoven in such a manner as to make the numbers "1889" and "1884" plainly visible upon them, the first being the date of Rev. Sherrill's taking up his work in this church.

Yesterday's sermon was the beginning of Rev. Sherrill's sixteenth year of labor with his Omaha congregation, and the members of his church in grateful remembrance of his past work had presented him with this token of esteem. Rev. Sherrill in returning thanks for the same was deeply moved.

In the evening a young people's service was held. The meeting was first addressed by George T. Houser, who was long identified with the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, and who, after serving that organization for two years in Chicago, has been elected to the general secretaryship of that association in Cincinnati, entering upon his duties at an early date.

THE BICYCLE RACE.

The 100 mile race between Miss Armande and William Patterson took place Saturday afternoon, the contestants starting at 3.25. On the fifth mile the tire to the lady's bicycle broke, and she fell from her racing machine. Another one was offered her, but she refused to use it, saying she had hurt her knee in the fall. Frank Parmelee, the referee, decided to withdraw the stakes, and declared Patterson the winner of the race. Mrs. Armande's objections to this contrary notwithstanding.
