

THE DAILY BEE.

Tuesday Morning November 4. LOCAL BREVIETIES.

Vote early and you will be sure you are there. At least two notary publics should be at each polling place in order to facilitate matters and see that all voters who are not registered can be sworn in.

The night mail service on the B. & M. will not be put on for five days as yet owing to the lack of sufficient postal clerks to properly work the mails.

If you want to vote today, vote early, as there will be a big jam. In the Fourth ward it will be necessary to cast one ballot a minute in order to cast the full vote.

There will be no meeting of the C. K. of A. this evening. The regular meeting, owing to election, will be postponed until Tuesday, the 11th inst. T. F. BRENNAN.

The street railway company yesterday received a number of new cars to run upon the new lines which will be put in operation soon. The new cars are of a little different pattern than the old ones, but are equally as attractive.

The articles of incorporation of the Home fire insurance company, with Charles L. Barber, Jas. L. Lovett, Alvin Saunders, Jonathan F. Gardner as incorporators, were filed in the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon.

The polls open at 8 o'clock this morning and close at 6 o'clock p. m., so far as national, state and county tickets are concerned. Upon the city bonds the polls will be open until 8 o'clock. The polls will open and close by sun time.

Sunday a young man named Frank Evans, received a severe scalp wound while fighting with another party, whose name could not be learned. He was carried into Dr. Spalding's office, on Farnam street, where a gauze trench in length was sewed up.

The Swedish Baptist church on tenth street, between California and Webster, will hold meetings Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30. Different speakers will be present, among them, Missionary Miss Anna E. Nelson. All Scandinavians are invited.

THE MONTHLY MEETING.

The Board of Education Allows its Usual Bills.

Fixing up the High and Iard School Grounds by Re-estimating Walls.

The regular weekly meeting of the board of education was held last evening. President Long in the chair, and members Conroyer, Livesey, Gibbon and Copeland present. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

From City Treasurer Buck, presenting his official report for the month of October, as follows: Total from last report and money collected in October, $73,304.77; paid out in warrants, $21,087.33; balance in treasury, $52,217.44; balance in sinking fund, $207.87; bonds on deposit, $67,000.

From Margaret W. Morley, offering her services to teach elocution in high school, and it is not feasible to teach there to instruct the graduating class. Referred.

From Belle H. Law, asking that her salary be increased to $80 per month, as she is doing extra work. Referred.

From Cleve Broz, architect, stating that the contractor of the Hartman school building had executed $1,800 worth of work since the last estimate, to 50 per cent of which he was entitled, provided he remedy some defects in the cornice. Allowed.

From the officers of the gymnasium society, petitioning the board of education to make an allowance for repairing and fitting up the gymnasium, as its members were willing to support a gymnasium teacher. Referred.

From Dufrene & Mendelsohn, architects, stating that Ed. J. Brennan was entitled to $880 the same being 80 per cent of the value of the work done by him on the east side of the High school grounds. Allowed.

Committee on claims; recommending the allowance of bills amounting to $13,327.40, for improvements, repairs &c. Allowed.

Buildings and property, recommending that additional help be given to the janitor of the High school during the winter months at a cost not exceeding $20 per month, and that one ton of coal per month be given to the janitors of the Pleasant and Hartman schools. Adopted.

The matter of the insurance of the school buildings was next called up. During the next forty days nearly all of the risks carried upon the public school buildings will expire, and the question as to what companies should have the renewed insurance was discussed at some length. The whole matter was finally referred to the president and secretary to effect the insurance as they best saw fit.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS.

Sept lawyers an interest in the courts? Mr. McCulloch is comparatively stranger in Omaha.

In Memory of Little Edward Carlin. Alas! our little one has gone. No more his childish voice we'll hear. For the master called him to his home. That's free from sorrow, tears and care.

And when in the morning he'd awake His voice, his music, bright and gay, Would through the house the silence break Proclaiming the dawn of another day.

And now in sadness we are left To mourn the loss of one so dear, For oh! 'tis hard to be bereft Of these little ones that are so near.

But the Master says forbid them not And let his children come to me Then will I love and never cast out For they are germs of purity.

JOHN F. STALEY. Omaha, Oct. 29th, 1884.

POLLING PLACES.

The Day of Battle at Hand and a List of the Places Where it Will Be Fought.

To-day is election day and in view of that fact and in order that there may be no mistake as to the location of the polling places a list of the same is given below:

Omaha precinct No. 1, at northeast corner Tenth and Jackson streets. Omaha precinct No. 2, at 1210 & Thirteenth street. Omaha precinct No. 3, at No. 1210 & Thirteenth street.

Omaha precinct No. 4, at sheriff's office, court house. Omaha precinct No. 5, at election district No. 2, at 1210 Chicago street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth.

Omaha precinct No. 6, at engine house No. 1, corner Twentieth and Iard streets. Saratoga precinct at school house near Grange.

Union precinct at Irvington school house. Jefferson precinct at school house in district No. 41. Elkhorn precinct at Elkhorn school house. Platte Valley precinct at school house at Valley station. Waterloo precinct at school house at Waterloo.

TWO FACED POLITICIANS.

Lee Estelle's Denunciation of Hon. C. H. Brown.

A Stinging Appeal from a Working-man—Down with Small-Bore Bosses.

To the Editor of the Bee: Whatever may be said of the motives of the men who engineered the late workingmen's convention, it is a fact that the members of it were unanimous in their support of the candidacy of Hon. C. H. Brown for congress.

The resolution endorsing his nomination was adopted without a dissenting voice and the cheers which followed proved the heartiness of their action. Yet, while the applause was echoing through the city hall, Lee Estelle, who was endorsed by the convention for district attorney, stood up in the Blaine and Logan headquarters on Douglas street, and abused and vilified the man who, of all others in this city has proved by his deeds to be a steadfast, uncompromising defender of the interests of the whole people.

There is another class of men in this city, office-holders and men whose desire for public office has become chronic, openly boasting that they can deliver Irish republican votes to Weaver. Their principal object in securing Irish-American converts to the national republican ticket is to throw them against Brown. I don't believe it can be done. Irish-Americans of this city, outside of the office-holding bosses, never forget a steadfast friend, and will, I am certain, give Mr. Brown a nearly unanimous vote. The big fight must be redeemed, ability must supercede mediocrity, and corporation nonentities must give way to men who will work and vote for all measures which will conserve the interests of the whole people.

Rally to the polls then, men who toil in workshop and in field, and men of business, and give Hon. C. H. Brown such a rousing majority as will appeal his opponents and bury his defamers.

OMAHA, November 3. An Extraordinary Career. (Communicated.) When "Colonel" E. F. Schmidt alias Smythe was before the district court in 1876, at the time he was disbarred for endeavoring to obtain money under false pretenses his only defense consisted in a written paper which was read by his partner, Mr. Baldwin, in the course of which he said: "I have never represented Ebbart in a professional capacity but simply as a friend, and why a friend to such a fellow, the following explains: When I first came to your city, not knowing man, woman or child, a stranger among strangers, and not knowing the good from the bad, I made this fellow's acquaintance at the Wyoming hotel, where he was acting as steward. During these days, a poor lawyer in a strange place he (Ebbart) obtained for me a favor which my heart would never allow me to forget. I afterwards found that the fellow was when I became acquainted in the city. While I always treated him kindly I had as little to do with him as possible."

In view of the fact that this Ebbart was notorious as the cheapest kind of a cheap side gambler; that Schmidt, alias Smythe, as we now learn, was a graduate of several educational institutions, had served four and a half years in the army during three and a half years time, earning the distinction of "Colonel," had practiced at the New York bar for three years and at the Iowa bar for three and a half years, had stumped the eastern states for Lincoln and the western states for Grant, this is a remarkable distinction. But perhaps he is mistaken; possibly he is in error as to his extraordinary experiences in the war, at the bar and as a stump orator, and it is possible, and quite probable, in view of the reputation he has since established in Omaha that he found in Ebbart a congenial associate.

Arrested in Massachusetts. Charles H. Churchill, who escaped from jail in Lincoln, Neb., July last, has been arrested in Massachusetts. Churchill was an officer in the Nebraska penitentiary, and in some unaccountable way prisoners under his supervision escaped. It was finally suspected that he had been the means of granting liberty to the convicts, and he was accordingly arrested on the charge of aiding prisoners to escape. He was locked up in jail, but made his escape. At first no trace of him could be found, but at last the officers learned that his home was in Rockbottom, Mass., and they sought him at that place. He had gone, however, before they could put their hands on him. He was next tracked to Boston. For a few weeks past he has been engaged in the produce business at the Dump, and it was at that place that he was arrested. He is 24 years of age. He will be held until requisition papers are received from the governor of Nebraska.

Police Court. In police court yesterday a good crowd was in attendance, both outside and inside the rail. Robert Wild was charged with disturbance of the peace, but succeeded in establishing his innocence and was discharged. Paul Cassidy, a harmless crank, was sent up to the county jail for safe keeping. P. B. Murphy, Abel Phillips, (colored) Mennie Wright (colored), Thos. Jackson, Francis M. Runstrom and Joe Waring were fined $5 and costs each for disturbance of the peace. Gusto Oacu and Chas Wells were arrested for fighting, the former was dis-

CHARGED AND THE LATTER WAS FINED $5 AND COSTS.

Molly Kernan, the notorious, was arrested for disturbance of the peace. She pleaded not guilty and her case was continued. Mike Marlow was a plain Sineumb and was squeezed for $10 and costs. Frank Wilson was arrested for being a suspicious person. He had a new pair of slippers and a pair of shoes. He said that he bought them, but they were several sizes too small for him. He was held pending an investigation. Fred Geisler was arrested for selling liquor without a license. He was released. Yesterday Pat Bird had W. S. Bennett arrested charging that he had stolen $22 from him. Both are in jail until the matter can be investigated.
