A STRANGER SUICIDES.

Sioux City Journal, November 8. W. B. Nelson, a stranger in the city suicided yesterday afternoon, about o'clock, in the rear of the mayor's office corner of Pearl and Fifth streets. Th circumstances attending the tragedy were these: Mayor Swarts, yesterday fore-noon, received the following telegram:

LINCOLN, Neb., November 7 .- You will find at express office two packages, marked S. R. Newton. Goes by W. J. Nelson here; short, heavy, full beard.

HIS CAREER IN NEBRASKA.

Lincoln Journal.

A few days ago after the first of September, W. J. Nelson with his wife and pounds. step daughter, came to Lincoln. Little was known of them as Nelson did not go into business and they lived quietly. About the first of this month they rented a house of Mr. Harlow at 1621 N street lost and perished in one of the cannons of and moved in.

Half of the house was furnished and the other half unfurnished. On Thursday of last week Nelson went to Wilson & Co's and purchased about $50 worth of goods, most of the bill being for a carpet. He exhibited government bonds to the sum of $1,500 and Mrs. Nelson's pocketbooks was seen to contain several large gold pieces. Nelson said he had sent $5,000 in bonds to be cashed and had bought a team for $500, which made him a little short but he would come in with the cash in the course of a few days, As he seemed to be abundantly able to meet all his obligations, no objection was died in a shor, time, made by the firm. He bought, as was subsequently ascertained, about $35 worth of goods from Baldwin Brothersa stove and fixtures-and also made some their "tear" purchases of Katzenstein.

Ca Friday Mrs. Nelson went to Wilhusband was expecting the money for phy. his bonds in a day or two, and she was she did not come around on Monday Mr.

Dobbins called at the house. She said that her husband and his son had gone out hunting with the team and would be gone a day or two. He called on Tuesday and was informed that they had not returned yet.

On Wednesday a boy came to Wilson & Co.'s with a telegram for Mrs. Nelson, and asked where she lived. He was told where to go, and no more was thought Nov. 1. Cook had been working for Roll, and about it until Thursday, when Mr. Harlow came down and announced that the woman had disappeared, and showed a note which she had left. The note stated that she was sorry she couldn't pay the rent, but that her husband had had trouble in settling up his affairs, and she was unable to pay up. She said she was going back to Illinois, where they came

The firms who had sold Mr. Nelson goods and who have not received any consideration therefor immediately began to look for the goods. The carpet and stove, with the trunks containing other personal property, had dis-appeared and were doubtless hauled off by the two teams with which Nelson and his sons—or, at least, the two boys with him—left Sunday or Monday. Upon questioning the expressmen, one was found who had hauled a roll of carpet to the express office. Upon inquiring there it was found that I had been shipped to Omaha, to S. S.

Newton. The defrauded merchants telegraphed to Omaha and found that the goods had been reshipped to Sioux City. They then sent a dispatch to Sioux City di recting that the party who called for the goods be arrested. They had not long to wait. Nelson called for the goods yesterday, and a dispatch came to the parties interested here stating that he had been arrested. Be fore the telegram had been delivered another arrived stating that Nalson had shot hunself within twenty minutes af tor his agreet and was dead. A brief dispatch announcing the tragedy will be

The court does not appear to have any authority over the state canvassing board delegated to it by the statute. It after the state canvassing board issues certificates to presidential electors their certificates to presidential electors their among the best Agricultur decision should be questioned, it is a matter of doubt whether the court of appeals could compel them to withhold or change the certificates. The duty of the secretary of state is so clearly stated the secretary of state is so clearly stated. that any failure on his part to deliver stand as the true returns. These corrections must, apparently, be made before the state board assembles, as this body's duties are merely clerical, with no judicial power. It is the theory of the law that all needed corrections must be made by local boards. From the corrected returns the state board makes the footings and delivers certificates of election to the persons having the greatest number of votes.
