AMONG THE MOQUIS. An Interesting Story of Indian Life.

The weird Snake Dance of a Savage Tribe—A Tribe Both Attractive and Repellent—Captain Bourke's Recent Book.

Captain Bourke, of the United States Cavalry, now stationed at Whipple barracks, Arizona, has written an exceedingly interesting account of the Moqui Indians and the horrible snake dance which they celebrate every year.

The Moqui have seven villages, situated a few leagues apart, in romantic and almost inaccessible situations. The largest Navajo reservation is on the border of Utah, in Arizona and New Mexico; the Moqui reservation is much smaller, and joins the Navajo on the west, but does not extend quite to Utah on the north.

The Moqui are known to have lived in their present location for more than three centuries. They have large flocks of sheep and goats, they raise an abundance and variety of food. They store the rain in reservoirs, some of them very large, and in smaller ones at convenient places for watering the flocks.

The Moqui seem to be excellent material for the work of civilization, but they live there untouched by any of its influences excepting those that come from the Moqui. Capt. Bourke speaks of the agent there in 1881 as a very kind-hearted, superannuated gentleman of 70, honest and well meaning, living forty miles away from the largest Moqui village, and fifteen from the nearest one.

vanoe for the Moquis, and the Mormons would turn their gentleness, their industry, their frugality and skill in handicraft to account, but it seems a pity to let such people drift into Mormonism while such immense sums are spent on christianity the opposite side of the globe.

Land of Forests and Fur-Bearing Animals. The hills are covered with forests of fir, oak, cedar, birch, etc., and in these are found numerous wild animals, such as the fur seal, the otter, foxes of all colors, and the bear, which latter, on account of the great supply of food, attacks neither man nor the domestic animals.

German Shipping Statistics. The forthcoming debate in the Reichstag upon the measure of subsidizing transoceanic steamers lends special interest to the naval returns which have just been published.

A No-Account Negro. There were three or four of us in a grocery store in Macon when a tall, sun-baked negro entered and presented a written order for $5 worth of goods.

MIGHTY WIVES AT WAR. Mrs. Hendricks and Mrs. McDonald Break Out.

Society Divided by Two Handsome Women. Mrs. Hendricks Says "Joe" McDonald Shan't Enter the Cabinet.

Special to the New York Morning Journal. Society is on tiptoe here over the threatened outbreak in the event of the selection of "Joe" McDonald as member of Cleveland's cabinet.

"My dear," said Mr. Hendricks, "I must do as my constituents instruct me." "You know just as well as I that you would rather fall off a grain elevator than see that man in the White House."

Man of a Husband. At 21 I woke one morning and found myself on board a steamer, with $1 in my pocket, on my way to Vera Cruz to take charge of a large gold mine at $2,000 a year.

HUMAN SLAUGHTER PINS. Coupling Cars for a Living and Court-ing Death—A Brakeman's Appeal.

The Boston Globe publishes the following under the caption of "A Brakeman's Plea": "If there was a law compelling companies to pay for amassing brakemen you couldn't find a link and pin coupler in the country. Dangerous! I don't suppose you have any idea of the dangers of a brakeman's work on a freight train."

OMAHA! A GROWING CITY.

The remarkable growth of Omaha during the last few years is a matter of great astonishment to those who pay an occasional visit to this growing city.

Since the Wall Street panic last May, with the subsequent cry of hard times, there has been less demand from speculators, but a fair demand from investors seeking homes.

We have for sale the finest residence property in the north and western parts of the city.

North we have fine lots at reasonable prices on Sherman avenue, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th streets.

The grading of Farnam, California and Davenport streets has made accessible some of the finest and cheapest residence property in the city.

We also have some fine business lots and some elegant inside residences for sale.
