-The Chicago train on the C., B. & Q., pulled into the depot last night forty minutes late, delayed by a freight wreck, which held back the Kansas City connection.

-Johnny McClelland, who is held on suspicion of complicity in the recent Dukes robbery, was released on bail Saturday. His bail bond was signed by Frank DeLone.

-The police committee were busy Saturday afternoon in hearing the cases of the two pugilists of the police force, Thane and Buckley. The trial of both men was completed and the decision reserved.

-Judge Anderson found a valuable span of horses on Sixteenth street last Saturday night. They were handed over to the police, and claimed yesterday by their owner, a farmer resident near the city.

-The Bee was delightfully serenaded Saturday night, per telephone, by a select band of musicians at No. Longfellow house. The musicians were Messrs. Mole, Puckers, Beach, Turtle and Starrecker.

-The German edition of the illustrated supplement of the Bee can now be had at this office at 15 cents each or two for 25 cents. These can be mailed to any part of this country and to Germany for one cent.

-C. E. Hacker, an expert trick bicyclist of Providence, R. I., has joined the noted wheelman, Fred Westbrook, now in Omaha. The two will give fancy exhibitions of bicycling during the coming season throughout the east.

-It is said that the horse railway people intend to place immediately two new cars on the Thirtieth street line. With this change, rumor says, there will be an alteration in the schedule time in running the cars every fifteen minutes.

-All the victims of Friday night's coasting disaster are doing well. It is possible, however, that in addition to the severe fracture of the arm sustained by Master Charles Clarke he will suffer from internal injuries, the extent of which are not yet known.

-In the district court, Saturday, a decree of divorce was granted in the case of Gibbons vs. Gibbons. Grounds alleged, those of adultery and desertion on the part of the husband. The hearing of the injunction argument in the taxpayers' case was postponed until to-day.

-Yesterday a fresh cold wave from the northwest struck Omaha. At 7 o'clock in the morning the mercury registered 28° above; at 11 o'clock 24°; at 3 o'clock 23°; at 7 o'clock 19°; and at midnight, 12°. A breeze averaging in velocity 20 miles an hour made the temperature appear much lower than it really was.

-The Union Pacific band organization will hold their annual reunion Thursday morning with a grand display. The members of the Union Pacific yards and shops will turn out in a body. It is proposed to make a general trades display on the occasion, the details of which will be published later.

-The consolidation of the Times and Dispatch was effected Saturday night, the management of the Times purchasing the latter sheet. It is proposed to run the new paper as a democratic evening paper. Mr. E. F. Moriarty, a popular and capable newspaper man, will assume the city editorship.

-The local signal service corps has been changed by the retirement of Mr. George E. Hagen, and the appointment of his successor, Mr. Lewis Duane, of Washington. Mr. Hagen left the city last evening for Fort Smith, Ark., where he will assume charge of the signal station.

-To-day, in all probability, the body of the mysterious floater found last year in the Missouri river, will be exhumed, with a view to ascertaining the question of its identity with that of the missing Lincoln man, James Hagen. The rig found on the floater has been identified by Mr. Hagen, it is said, as having belonged to her dead husband.

-James Harris, the negro who stole the pants on South Tenth street Friday, was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail on bread and water by Judge Benke. He protested, and said that he could not stand such short rations, and would starve to death before his time was out. He has been sent up to see how long he can play Dr. Tanner.

-From a letter received in this city, it was learned that S. C. Gilliland, a traveling man well known in Omaha, died last week in his home at Ogden, Utah. Mr. Gilliland formerly traveled for the wholesale hardware trade of this city, and was highly popular among the local commercial travelers, all of whom will regret the loss of his untimely death.

-J. C. Pusey, the defuncting chief clerk of the Kansas penitentiary, has been arrested. This furnishes the last link in the plot of the Omaha edition of the "Comedy of Errors." Mr. Patton, the telegraph operator was arrested, it will be remembered, as being the supposed defaulter, but now breathes free in the complete vindication of his innocence.

-A Close Call. Saturday the driver of John A. McShane's horse had a narrow escape. He attempted to get into the buggy on lower Farnam street and just as he stepped in between the two wheels the horse started. The driver held hold of the reins but owing to the icy condition of the street was powerless to stop him and he was soon galloping up the street at a good rate of speed. On every hand man ran out and tried to stop the runaway animal but could not do so. During all this time the driver was in between the wheels and was sliding over the icy pavement. When the Paxton hotel was reached a crowd of men rushed out and succeeded in stopping the horse and relieving the driver from his perilous position.

THE CHARITY BALL.

The Grand Event at the Opera House Wednesday Night.

The Way in Which the Affair Will be Conducted.

The Charity ball to be held at the opera house next Wednesday evening is now the general topic of conversation among the society people of this city. It is safe to predict that it will be a highly enjoyable affair, and that the toilets of the ladies on that occasion will be elaborate in the extreme.

It has been stated that the dancers will be elegantly attired, and that while this may be so, yet anyone who attends can have the privilege of dancing, whether dressed in the height of fashion or not. It will be a general dance, and all who buy tickets will be entitled to use the floor for dancing purposes.

The ball will probably not open earlier than 9 o'clock, when the band of the Fourth United States infantry will commence the music of the evening. This band, stationed in a temporary stage built a little off from the center of the dress circle, (first gallery) is expected to furnish the music for the grand march, and also selections between dances, as well as for the two dances numbers, while all the rest of the music for dancing will be played by the Musical Union orchestra, stationed near one of the boxes. Mr. David Kaufman, of Kaufman Bros., undoubtedly the best caller in the state, has volunteered his services to call the square dances.

The general manager of the ball will be Mr. Charles Squires assisted by Mr. C. P. Woodworth, who is to superintend the supper. The floor managers are Mr. George Patterson, Mr. D. W. Saxe, Lieut. Guy Howard, U. S. A., Mr. James Ross, Mr. Robert Patrick, Mr. Will McMillan, Mr. Ed. Peck, Mr. Clement Chran. The dancing floor is to be built from the rail of the parquette circle above the parquette chairs and over the stage to the rear side of the opera house, clearing the foot lights and being eight inches above the stage floor. The scenery will be moved aside and there will thus be made the finest and largest floor for dancing in Omaha.

The supper, tickets for which are one dollar, is going to be a marvelous good one, if reports are true. Every part of the city has been canvassed by the indefatigable committee of ladies, and curries, cakes, sandwiches, jams, etc., have been provided in such abundance that there will probably be enough over to feed the poor of Omaha a month. The supper is to be served in the suit of rooms at the front of the opera house off from the balcony. The doors of these three rooms, which have never been used before and they are admirably adapted to this purpose, will be opened about half past ten and continue open the rest of the evening. The menu embraces cold turkey, hot scalloped oysters, chicken salad, sandwiches, coffee, cakes and ice cream. Miss Dart, of the cooking school, has promised to supervise the cooking of the oysters, and the coffee. The committee of ladies in the same as the reception committees, both committees having been made one.

Arrangements have been made to have the street cars run all night on Wednesday night and those who have carriages may order them at 2 a. m. This is intended as a mild hint that the affair will break up about that time and it will no doubt be taken.

CHARITY BALL NOTES. Messrs. Shaw and Field the builders of the opera house, are putting in the floor and our citizens may rely on its being as strong as iron and wood can make it.

Those of our citizens having flags are earnestly requested to loan them to decorate the hall. Every care will be taken of them and the committee will be responsible for their safe return. They may be sent to the opera house on Monday next.

Large premiums have been paid for the boxes and the successful bidders were the Omaha club, G. C. Barton, A. L. Strang, and N. Merriam. The boxes will be apportioned to them to-day.

No name is better and more pleasantly and widely known than that of Mr. J. A. Pozzoni. For years he has made himself famous by the elegant perfumes and complexion powder that bears his name, the latter having found its way to the belles of Paris, Germany and London. Everybody admires beauty in ladies. Nothing will do more to produce or enhance it than a use of Mr. Pozzoni's preparation.

The Great Bowl. To the Editor of the Bee. The charity ball has certainly produced a big bowl throughout the city and state, which certainly will do little to relieve the poor.

"Behold I show you a more excellent way." Finding fault with other people's methods is not wise, nor generous. None of us know what we would do were our circumstances different. I therefore move, for the benefit of all, that our may name any responsible person lady or gentleman, who can give their time to it, to act as receiver for all cash donations, from five cents up to five dollars, for the poor fund. Then whoever will may send his mite. Put your nickel or your five dollar greenback into an envelope, address it plainly to the person named, and put it in the postoffice. The receiver will keep a list of all donors, with the amount and publish the same in the Bee. He will deposit his receipts in one of the banks of the city, subject to the order of the society, and president of the "Woman's Christian Union." This will cost nothing and the poor will be benefited immediately through the channels of a well established, and thorough organization.

Let the ball go on. Let all who love that way enjoy that joyous festival. Let all the ladies appear in well made plain attire, to be left after the ball with their committee for the less fortunate ladies of the city.

Those of us who are too poor, or out of secret rye, or don't like to die, let's drop our mite the other way. I mean we who take the chrome, the wheels or the little fish, let us have a little wholesome rivalry in this matter. All of which I most cheerfully submit.

R. D. MACCARTNEY. A Birthday Party. About forty of the members of the Y. M. C. A. gave their presence, Mr. P. C. Himebaugh, a very pleasant surprise Friday. While Mr. Himebaugh was at the rooms of the association attending a meeting of its board of directors the members took quiet possession of his home and gave him a hearty welcome on his return in the evening. The officials of the organization came with him as also the singing club, under the efficient leadership of Mr. McDonald. The club announced their arrival by a song well suited to the occasion. A gold headed cane was then presented to Mr. Himebaugh on behalf of the members, the presentation speech being made by Mr. C. S. Harrison and responded to by the delighted recipient. A musical programme, with refreshments completed the evening's entertainment. It was the anniversary of Mr. Himebaugh's birthday.

MURDERED IN MEXICO.

A Former Omaha Man Shot Down in Cold Blood.

On Christmas eve, in the city of Socorro, New Mexico, Albert Kellstrom was fatally murdered. A little more than eight years ago, Kellstrom, who was a Swede, came from his native country to Omaha. He remained here about three years and made many friends. He then went to New Mexico and remained there about four years. Returning to this city, he remained here a year and then concluded to return to New Mexico. About three weeks before last Christmas he left this city. On Christmas eve, in the city of Socorro he was murdered.

He was with his brother and brother-in-law in a boarding house and a man named Walker engaged in a quarrel with Kellstrom stopping between the men and was shot down by Walker. The murderer has a brother-in-law, Mr. Andrew Harman, in this city, and he has received a letter from the mayor of Socorro and also from a physician in regard to the murder. Both are appended:

THE DOCTOR'S LETTER.

SOCORRO, December 28, 1884.

DEAR SIR:—At the request of your brother-in-law, Herman Kellstrom, I write concerning the death of Albert Kellstrom on Christmas eve. I was called to see Albert, who I found suffering severely from a gun shot wound, received only a few minutes previous to my arrival. Upon examination I found the wound to be a fatal one. After his death an examination was made, and it was found that the pistol ball had broken his eighth rib and passed into the left lung, carrying with it pieces of broken bone, cutting blood vessels and bronchial tubes, causing excessive bleeding internally.

DR. GORHAM.

SOCORRO, New Mexico, Dec. 30, 1884.

My DEAR SIR:—At the request of Mr. Herman Kellstrom, I write you in regard to the facts of the late lamented accident, whereby your brother-in-law, Albert Kellstrom, lost his life. I was not present at the time of the accident, but from the best information I can obtain, and from my personal knowledge of Albert and his cowardly assassin, I am convinced that it was one of the most cold-blooded murders in the history of crime in this country.

I have known Albert personally since his first coming to Socorro, and a more peaceable, quiet, industrious or better citizen than he never lived. He had the highest confidence and esteem of his employers, and the friendship of all with whom he had any acquaintance.

The city government has offered a reward of $250 for the apprehension of Walker, the man who shot him, and at my request Governor Shannon, of this territory, has offered $500 for his arrest and conviction, and several good, determined men are now scouting the country in search of him, with the determination to only abandon the search when all hope of success is lost.

There is no one who deplores or regrets the results of the accident more or less, or who will do more to bring the guilty one to justice, and I assure you that everything in our power is being done to bring about his arrest and conviction.

I will gladly furnish you with any additional information at any time you may call upon me for the same. Expressing to you my heartfelt sympathy for yourself and your family in this, your sad affliction, I remain yours very truly,

F. A. THOMPSON, Mayor, City Socorro, N. M.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

Fourth Annual Report Year Ending December 31, 1884.

In presenting their fourth annual report the Sisters of St. Francis, at present in charge of St. Joseph's hospital, this city, gratefully return their most cordial thanks for the generous support which they have received during the past year from the citizens of Omaha. That support has been extended to them irrespective of creed or nationality, and the subjoined statement will briefly show how the sisters have fulfilled the trust placed in them by the friends of the institution. Their work is a noble one—the cause of suffering humanity. The doors of St. Joseph's hospital are open to persons of every class and creed, and as far as present accommodations can supply, sickness or suffering on the part of the applicant is sufficient to enlist the sisters' interest. The number of non-paying patients who during the past year have been more or less relieved should be evidence enough that no spirit of self-interest actuates the management of St. Joseph's hospital on the 1st day of January, 1885, was $5,057.09, and year after year as one reads its annual report it can be seen that the current expenses are often in excess of the receipts. In future the sisters propose to make a quarterly report of monies, provisions, clothing, etc., which the friends of the institution may place in their hands. On December 20th, 1884, the county commissioners kindly offered to pay for any patients whom they may send to the hospital.
