At the Episcopal church yesteray Rev. Mr. Mackey preached from the same text as that chosen by Rev. Mr. Bates, of the Prebyterian church, the Saturday before, but evidently differs greatly in the documental teaching, as will be seen by the report of the sermon given in an other column.

Mr. E. Eggleston, of this city, is much the Tabor Union, on account of an article in that paper pronouncing his wife no medium at all, but a humbug. Mr. Eggleston in a note to the editor demands proof of these assertions, or else he will hold him to account. The editor takes a half column to tell him to sue if he wants to and be --- done.

men's reputations, and if this is to be the policy pursued, any business man in the city is liable to be brought before the public as a burglar or a thief.

A Stray Picture. At the time of the dynamite explosion here, two years ago last fall, P. M. Piyor, of THE BEE office, lost a car load of furblown and burnt, or burnt and blown, so resolutions adopt d. in Wisconsin, and sold them as relics of the event. Some one looking at them tions for the construction of a court house last fall suggested that possibly the picture might be highly prized by whoever owned it, and that possibly by writing the man whose card he had picked up h might find the owner. He accordingly did so. The bard bore the name of "Rav. John Sharp, Wanpun. Wis.," and to him the lettter was sent. He was Mr. Pryor's grandfather, but long ere the letter was written he had gone to his lorg rest. The letter was opened by relatives, who sent for the photograph, and failing to recognize it sent it again on its travels t Mr. Pryor, who received it Saturday, and was overjoyed at regaining it, it being the picture highly prized by him, not only because the child was a favorite with him, but because it is the only photograph saved from the explosion Its
