

THE DAILY BEE COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Tuesday Morning, March 10. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By Carrier... Office: 7 Pearl Street, near Broadway.

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Reiter's new spring goods. The work of scraping the mud off the paved streets commenced yesterday. Ex-Policeman Clough is now serving as deputy marshal. A good appointment. Ed. Waterman, the carriage manufacturer, is building a carriage for G. R. Wheeler. St. Patrick's society is making great preparations for its ball in Beno's hall on the 17th.

The frame building on Broadway near the Coy house, which was partly burned, is now being repaired. Mike Connors was arrested yesterday for assault, the trouble being a trivial one in the Wabash yards. The mayor makes an official request that all business houses close to-day from noon until 6 o'clock.

H. J. Bablitz was on Saturday married at his residence to Miss Madge McLochlan, late of Rock Island, Rev. A. K. Bates officiating. Henry Bolte and Anna Moss were yesterday afternoon married in the parlors of Kiel's hotel by Justice Schurz. They are both from Silver Creek.

The county treasurer and the county auditor are now snugly settled in their new quarters in the Masonic building, and the other county officers will move this week. F. M. Young was arrested and fined yesterday for shooting a revolver on Pierce street. The city marshal says he intends putting a stop, if possible, to the foolish shooting of revolvers in public places.

If any man is mean enough to accept $5 of east end money to work at the polls against the interests of his own city, he should be borne in mind in the future, when he is able to want something that Council Bluffs can give him.

The weather was so pleasant yesterday that several gentlemen took down their last season's "Blaine and Logan" white high hats from off the hook and hitting them several dubs with a whisk broom put them on, thinking "spring has come."

Everybody should turn out to the polls to-day and vote for the new court house. The business men are urged to close up from noon until 6 o'clock. Council Bluffs should speak with one voice, and that a mighty one, to-day.

The change in the time of running dummy trains does not increase the public accommodations. By the new arrangement any one visiting Council Bluffs in the evening cannot leave here for Omaha until quarter before midnight, which makes it very late.

It seems to be a well established fact that some shrewd fellows of the east end of the county have succeeded in hiring a few Council Bluffers to work at the polls here against the court house. Any man who will try to betray his own city, and strangle its interests for a few nickles, should have his name held up for shame.

Some good, honest men, who are obliged to work hard from morning until night, will feel tempted to rest their weary bones, or save their time and strength, by remaining away from the polls to-day and not voting. They think that the court house question can be settled without their vote anyway. Remember that in parts of this county there will be a solid vote, not merely against the court house, but against Council Bluffs. Your vote may be the deciding one. The stay-at-home-together may cause the court house question to be defeated. For once in your lives, sacrifice time and strength for the sake of the result, and let not one vote be lost.

It is a matter of great regret that Council Bluffs now has no public building in which to hold her conventions or citizens meeting without raising a special subscription to pay for the rent. Without any court house the public is put to great inconvenience. For instance, last night it was necessary to have a citizens meeting, but as they had no court house, a few had to chip in and raise $20 to pay for the Masonic hall. In leasing this building for court house purposes, no provision was made by the county board for holding any public meetings there. It is often the case that conventions and other gatherings are to be held here, in which voters of both parties, throughout the county are concerned, so that the inconvenience and extra expense is not only hard on Council Bluffs citizens but hard on the county at large.

The largest attraction yet at the rink. Be sure and see it Saturday evening, as it may be the last of the season. Official Request. At the request of the leading business men of the city, I hereby desire that all business houses of whatever kind close to-day, the 10th inst., from 12 o'clock p. m., and the time be devoted wholly to the matter of the special election for a new court house and a new county jail. This is one of the most important matters ever brought to the attention of our people, and it is right proper and necessary that this request be complied with in the letter and in its full spirit. Let each man in the city go to work with a will for success. W. R. VADHAM, Mayor.

AGAIN TO THE POLLS. Shall there Be a New Court House and Jail?

To-day Will Tell.

The election to-day is one of great moment to this county. The vote will decide whether Pottawatomie county shall continue to be disgraced by its tumble-down court house and rotten, filthy jail, or whether, with its present wealth and bright prospects, with its freedom from debt and its high rank in the state, it shall put up buildings which will do the county credit. To-day will decide whether the county will go on throwing money away for rent and other extraordinary expenses, or whether it will use its money for paying for its own buildings. To-day will decide whether men will allow prejudice and passion to blind them to their best interests; whether the title of every man's property shall remain in danger for years to come; whether the records of the county will be exposed to ruin or loss, for lack of a fire proof building and vault.

In relation to his Council Bluffs has a special interest in the election. It will have to pay a large part of the tax, and ought to have a large interest. Still, as has been shown the tax when figured down to individual shares, does not amount to more than a penny an acre on farming land, or about ten cents a month to a man who owns $2,500 worth of city property, and one who will have to be paid until 1887—not one cent. But aside from this Council Bluffs has a great interest in this election because if it is carried, and the court house is built here a large amount of other building is to go right on in that vicinity, and if it is not built, these experiments will not be made. Every workman is therefore directly concerned in this.

For this reason alone every workingman should look with distrust upon any resident of Council Bluffs who will try to defeat this enterprise, and this thrust at labor. Council Bluffs' fortune depends largely on to-day's election. It will forever settle the agitation about division of the county or change of county seat. No such division and no such change can come so long as Council Bluffs pulls together, but the agitation of the questions is detrimental to Council Bluffs' interests, and should be stopped. It prevents many from settling here, it tends to prevent the enlargement of business, and harasses and annoys improvement and progress.

There are many urgent reasons, too many to name in the present space. Every man who cares for his own property, who cares for the honor and best interests of the county, who cares at all for Council Bluffs, should consider himself in bounden duty to vote and work to-day, that the question may be settled once and for all.

Dr. S. Mosher, of the Sioux City Chronic Disease Institute, will be at the Scott house in this city, Thursday, April 2d. Will attend to patients and all who are afflicted will do well to give him a call. Consultation free.

STILL PROTESTING. How the Strike of the Wabash Round House Men Progresses.

There has been little change in the situation of the Wabash strike for the past few days beyond the holding of another meeting of workmen of all classes and the passage of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we most emphatically protest against the policy followed by the corporations employing laborers, in endeavoring to place upon the employees the burden of losses from maladministration of affairs over which said employees have no control, and taking the poor man's pittance to swell the rich man's board, and further, that we sympathize most heartily with the employees of the Wabash railway in the contest thus cruelly forced upon them, and call on all workmen, whether organized or not to give aid and support to these brethren, in a struggle wherein all the labor of the country is interested, and warn all true lovers of justice to abstain from working for the Wabash railway until this struggle is over.

Resolved, further, That we will take every opportunity to express our execration and contempt of those self-concocted scabs who are rendering aid to the common enemy of human rights by taking the places of the strikers in the Wabash service.

New York Life Insurance Company. Forty years have passed away since this company issued its first life policy. It began with an idea—a principle—life insurance upon the purely mutual plan, carried out by scientific methods; the net result in forty years may be epitomized as follows:

The payment of over thirty million dollars to the families of deceased members; over fifty million dollars returned to living policy-holders, and cash assets on hand January 1, 1885, over forty-nine million dollars. More new business was done than during any previous year of the company's history. Last year the same thing was said of the previous year's business, and so the company goes on beating its own record every year. Its new business has increased regularly since 1878, the amount written in 1883 amounting to nearly fifty-two million dollars on over seventeen thousand lives. Among the elements that have contributed to the steady and rapid growth of the New York Life, and to its increasing favor among insurers, are the following:

does not insert in its policies the usual clause making them void in case of "self-destruction, voluntary or involuntary, sane or insane," and an inspection of its policies will show that it claims no release from its contract except where there is very clear evidence of a purpose to defraud. The superior value of its policies in this respect has been often illustrated. 2. The remarkable returns each year made on its maturing term policies and the great popularity of the non-forfeiting feature originated by this company in 1860 and which it applies to its routine the same as other policies. Special attention is called to the detailed report found in another column.

CLOSING THE SALOONS. Some Neglect to Comply with the Order.

The recent reformatory order to saloon men to close at 11 o'clock every night, and to keep closed all of Sunday seems to have been generally complied with. A few, however, seemed to have determined not to obey, some claiming that they had to keep open because of their lunch counters, at which it is supposed some get their meals. Information was filed yesterday against Wagner & Sherlock, and the case continued until Wednesday. Complaint is also made of Bill Lacy, John Nicholson and Myers & Smith, but no action taken in their cases yet.

It does not appear that the gambling houses are being much looked after, and the wave of reform does not appear to strike them. There is a constant howl about the saloons, but in the minds of many who consider them evil, the gambling houses, as conducted in Council Bluffs, are by far the greater evil. They are doing more to undermine the credit of individuals and of the city, and with all sorts of games running from a nickle up to the wages of the workmen, and the little change got by mere boys, is being swept away. If there is to be a trading up and reform, the gambling places should be looked after at least as soon as any.
