By Mail - $1.00 per year

OFFICE:

C. F. Pearl Street, (near Broadway.)

MINOR MENTION.

See J. Roter's new spring goods.
New goods at Harkness Bros.

For Carpets see Harkness Brothers.
Easter cards, half price, at Seaman's.

With each pleasant Sunday the visitors to Fairmont park increase.

John O'Donald was arrested by Officer Cusick Saturday night for being drunk.

25 doz. Unlaundried Shirts, Wamsutta cotton, at 75 cents, worth $1, at Cocke & Morgan's.

Oliver Doud Byron appears in "Across the Continent" at the opera house to-night.

25 doz. Unlaundried Shirts, Dwight anchor linen bosoms, reinforced, at 50 cents, worth 75 cents. Cocke & Morgan.

Wheeler & Bennett have received their new white horse, also a new undertaker's wagon, for Field & Estep.

Max Mohr is having a fire escape put up on the front of his hotel—the Creston house.

25 doz. Shirts, Unlaundried "Pride of the West" cotton. The best shirt ever sold for $1 at Cocke & Morgan's.

Permit to marry has been given Carston Brugge and May Burmeister, both of Minden.

Only a few days more to get bargains in staple and fancy stationery, notions and fancy goods at Seaman's.

About sixty horses are now in training here preparatory to the season's races, which open here in May.

Remember, Tuesday is the day, March 31st, the date that will positively close my business. H. E. Seaman, 341 Broadway.

The alarm of fire Saturday noon was caused by a small blaze in a small house near the Third street school. Nominal damage.

25 doz. Boys' Unlaundried Shirts, Lockwood Muslin, Linen Bosoms, reinforced, 50 cents, worth 75 cents. Cocke & Morgan.

One of the reasons why they call them "Martens Trio," is because they try so hard to give a show and can't. It isn't in them.

A good deal of street and alley cleaning is yet needed. The officials should remember that shovels are more effective than proclamations.

Capt. Austin yesterday arrested one Charles J. Smith, as a deserter from company H, Seventh regiment, U. S. cavalry.

The county board of supervision met to-morrow. George R. Mann, of St. Joe, who drew the plans of the new court house, writes that he will be here too.

The new hose cart, which in appearance proved all that could be desired, proves not to be built stoutly enough, the spokes of one of the wheels having already been cracked.

By actual count there were only sixteen persons on the first floor and nine on the second floor to listen to the "Martens Trio" at the opera house at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The case of William Jeffers charged with assault with intent to murder Orville Wheeler, came up again Saturday and was again postponed for a week. Wheeler is recovering rapidly from his bullet wounds.

As my lease expires March 31st, and having sold my shelving and counters to be delivered April 1, the goods must go. As they are selling rapidly you must call soon to get your share of the bargains in all our goods now being sold at a sacrifice. H. E. Seaman, 341 Broadway.

Dave Smith, of Hazel Dell, was badly injured Friday, on the C., B. & Q. He lately took a position as brakeman on a freight train and was injured by his head striking against one of the timbers or a bridge. His father and mother went after him to bring him home.

The United States court meets in this city to-morrow. Judge Love will preside, and the term will be cut down to two weeks, as the judge is compelled soon to hold court in Dubuque, in place of Judge Shiras, who is in California, where he has taken his wife in the hope of improving her health.

One of the destitute and most ragged looking families ever seen on a public street appeared here yesterday and were begging a chance to get across the river. They claimed to be from Louisiana where they had been raising cotton for three years. Fire destroyed their property and they were trying to get to relatives in Buffalo county, Neb. The family consisted of father and mother and five children. They were cared for at the city building, and money given them to pay their fare to Omaha.

Some time ago Ed. Burdick, arrested by the police for being drunk, made a great stir by charging that he had a good deal more money taken from him by the officers than was reported on the books. Now the police report that Burdick has skipped out with his family, and that in doing so he converted to his own use a pair of mules and a democrat wagon belonging to another man, who let him have the wagon to make a trade with a preacher near Crescent City for a three-year-old colt. The claim is that Burdick sold the whole outfit in Omaha and then sent for his family and disappeared, making no return or accounting of the proceeds.

TELEPHONE TROUBLE.

No "Cuss Words" Allowed Over the Wires.

A Novel Injunction Sait.

On Saturday John T. Stewart got an injunction cut restraining the telephone company from cutting him off from the use of the exchange. It appears that in the morning one of Mr. Stewart's family asked the central office for a connection, and soon after Mr. Stewart called up the central, and asking for the manager, Mr. Musselman, claimed that a mistake had been made. Mr. Musselman says that Mr. Stewart opened on him at once very roughly, asking him if he wasn't paid for seeing it that the office was run right. The manager told him that he had himself made the connection asked for and he knew it was correct. Mr. Musselman says that Mr. Stewart then called him "a damned liar." On hearing this Mr. Musselman took out the plugs, thus cutting off connection. He left Mr. Stewart disconnected about half an hour. About noon a notice was sent to the company that an injunction had been applied for before Judge Aylesworth to restrain the telephone company from severing Mr. Stewart's telephone or disconnecting it. The case is to come up for a hearing April 7th in the superior court.

The rule which the manager claims Mr. Stewart violated is printed in the book furnished subscribers and reads as follows:

"The use of obscene or profane language on the wires is positively forbidden, and the company reserve the right to remove a telephone without notice for such cause."

It seems from this that although a man may call "Hello" through the phone, he must not say it backwards, for if the "o" comes first, he is liable to be cut off in his prime. Whether the word "damned" is a strictly profane word may be settled too in this controversy.

Beautiful embroideries at Harkness Bros.

The notice given in THE BEE about the return of a photograph which belonged to Mr. P. M. Pryor, whose carload of household goods was scattered and destroyed in the dynamite explosion here two years ago last fall, has led to the return of some other little trinkets which were picked up by strangers and carried away as relics. These trinkets were of little value beyond family and personal associations, but on this account were of inestimable value to the owner.

New carpets at Harkness Bros.

PERSONAL.

Col. Cochran, of Little Sioux, is in the city. Hon. John Y. Stone was at the Opera yesterday.

A. Berger, of Detroit, is a guest at the Bechtels.

H. F. Strickling, of Chicago, is stopping at the Bechtels.

H. Whitehead and D. Hellweg, of Lincoln, Neb., are at the Bechtels.

Haley Burke, of Orange City, son of City Auditor Burke, is in the city.

N. C. Thompson, father of Geo. W. Thompson, spent Saturday and Sunday in this city.

Charles Zimmer, assistant postmaster, has recovered from his recent indisposition, and will return to duty to-day.

Ald. M. H. King, who is president of the Des Moines city council, spent Sunday in the city. He has a railway contract on the K. C. near this city.

William B. Porter, Jr., and wife, of Plattsmouth, Neb., have moved to this city. Mr. Porter will run a fruit farm, just outside of the city limits, this season.

Lace curtains at Harkness Bros.

Hays & Gleason, 11 Main street, went home Saturday night without looking after their front door. Yesterday morning a customer went in, found no one in attendance, so remained there nearly two hours, and acted as salesman to several customers who came in during his stay, when the proprietors arrived.

New silks and dress goods at Harkness Bros.

Johnny Benson, son of the Hamburg and Blanchard mail carrier, aged 14 years, met with a very serious accident a few days since while hunting. In discharging his gun at some ducks it came uncoupled, and the charge came out at the breech. The powder burned the boy's face very badly, and injured his eyes so that the doctor thinks the sight of one is completely destroyed, while the other is very badly injured; but there is hope that it can be restored.—Hamburg Times.

See the stock of white goods at Harkness Brothers.

WICKED WRECK.

A Collision Which Cost One Life and Perhaps More.

The report reached this city yesterday of a collision at Villisca, which occurred in the morning between two freight trains. One was coming in on the branch, and not noticing that another freight was on the line, ran into it, smashing the engine and wrecking four cars. The engineer jumped and was caught in the wreck, his head being smashed so that he died almost instantly. The fireman in jumping also received a bad injury to the back. One of the trainmen is also reported as being hurt badly. The railway officers here were quite ignorant about the affair, and could not give the names of any of the persons injured, and very little about the accident itself.

The Council Bluffs "Paint Manufacturing company" will be selecting orders in a few days. Wait for them.

A. Woolman, late of Des Moines, had his right arm mangled in a scorching press about a year ago. A malignant growth ensued, necessitating amputation of the arm, which operation was performed by Dr. Bellinger, of this city, Saturday.

Dr. S. Mosher, of the Sioux City Chronic Disease Institute, will be at the Scott house in this city, Thursday, April 23. Will attend to patients and a few who are afflicted will do well to give him a call. Consultation free.
