His hand was behalf of the county whereby the city is severely maimed.

-The Douglas County Agricultural socie- first day of August of this year. ty's officers met Saturday to hear reports as members who had been looking into the matter that seven counties were ready to join in the project, and the time for it most favored was the month of September. It was determined at an early day to meet with the Board of Trade and exchange ideas upon the subject.

-The Gouncil Bluffs postmaster and chief of police were in Omaha Saturday in search of Minnie Woodard, late beer-slinger of the Buckingham. It appears that Wade Hampton (a different bread from the U. S. senator from South Carolina) had spent $65 of the $300 he stole from the U. S. mail while postal clerk, and invested it in a watch and chain for the cyprian. She promptly gave the jewelry to the Iowa postmaster. Hampton was "gone on" watches; he had already given up a $35 one to the postmaster which had been bought with part of the stolen $300. -It now looks as though that delightful re sort, the Buckingham theatre, would not suc ceed in obtaining a license. Several weeks ago the proprietor made an application a license, and . deposited $100 for City Treasurer Buck, They with failed, however, to take the completing steps, and although they last day for the issuance of the permit has gone by, they are not yet in possession of the license. Yesterday the $100 was garnisheed by Joseph McVey, and was paid over by Mr. Buck. Thus the Buckingham is absolutely without protection in the matter of selling liquer, and are amenable to the law for infringement of the stat-

He visited his old home in Canada, returning by the way of New York and Boston, where he selected a very handsome line of spring and summer goods.

This is a most important and beneficial to the district fair. It was learned from move for the city. The city records which have been scattered heretofore through three different buildings, the old city hall, the city treasurer's office in the Redick building, and the c'ty offices in the Creighton building, and have been exposed to the great risks of fire, will now be under one roof, and in the fireproof vaults.

The county commissioners are not awaiting the receipt from Architect Meyers of the specifications the retaining wall which is to be built for the Farnam bank of the new court house site. As soon as these specifications are received, the work of building the wall will be at once commenced. The county commissioners have secured for the use of the No. 3 Engine company the Paxton barn on Eighteenth and Farnam, as the board of trade will ake formal postession of the Sixteenth and Farnam site, on the fifteenth of this month.
