

A WOMAN'S FOOT.

Startling Discovery Made in an Alley on Thirteenth Street.

The Skeleton of a Human Foot—Discovered by Charles Donahoe—Many Thrilling Theories as to the Fate of Its Owner and Who She Was.

A somewhat surprising and rather sensational discovery was made yesterday morning, by Charles Donahoe, in the alley near Holman's livery barn on Thirteenth street, between Harney and Howard streets. Mr. Donahoe and two or three other men with him commenced to remove a pile of stable offal, and while at work Donahoe struck some hard substance and he pulled it out of the dirt with his hand. On close examination the object proved to be a woman's foot, or rather the skeleton of one, as all the flesh had decayed and fallen off. Donahoe was startled at first and dropped the thing like he would a hot iron. Afterwards it was gathered up, carried into Charles Donahoe's blacksmith shop and remains there yet. Scores of people called to see the curiosity yesterday and of course each one had his own supposition as to how the foot got where it was found, but none seemed to think there was any mystery connected with the matter. The most generally accepted theory is that it must have been lost from some medical institute. All sorts of horrible imaginations however are advanced. That it is the foot of a caucasian female goes without denial and on the broad basis of every thing that can be said with reference to that member, there is foundation here for an extended and lively story. Evidently no great length of time has elapsed since the foot was alive and well. Judging from its shape, size, high instep, neatly formed heel, and dainty toe, it must have been the greatly admired foot of some fashionable society belle. No doubt but that it was well trained to trip the light fantastic and many a time chased the fleeting hours in unison with the fascinating, seductive strains of cheerful, soul stirring music. The reporter could not discover that it had ever caused its owner much agony by reason of burning, aching corns or bunions. Who knows but that it has trod the marble halls of palaces and kicked up dust on two continents. There is room in the light of this discovery for an investigation. The probabilities are that the remains of some long buried, when she died, beneath the winged graven of Prospect hill, were raked from their sepulchral resting place by the ghouls of alleged anatomical science and cruelly cut to pieces on the dissecting table. It is known that such things have been done here before and there are many Omaha people who believe that their dear departed friends are mouldering back to dust in graves where they were laid after laboring in ignorance and delusion. Some months ago the Omaha Medical College moved out of quarters on Howard street, not a great way from where this foot was found, and probably they lost it in the shuffle.

LEGAL LORE.

Judge Brewer Completes His Business With the U. S. Circuit Court and Goes to Des Moines.

Only a short session of the U. S. circuit court was held yesterday. Judge Brewer sat until noon, winding up the business which had of necessity to come before him, and left at the afternoon train for Des Moines, Ia., where he holds court this week. Following are the cases that were disposed of: J. T. Burkett & Co vs. Henry Beckman et al. Dismissed for want of prosecution. L. W. Tulley, trustee, vs. Henry Wassenberg et al. Judgment for costs. Same vs. Joseph Brown et al. Judgment for costs. Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad company vs. Anna Wasserman et al. Testimony may be taken in term time before master. The American Mortgage company of Scotland vs. Nathan Kinnison et al. Leave to file amended bill by July rules and continued.

New England Mortgage Security company vs. William Beacham. Exception to proof sustained. Both parties have till September rules to take testimony. American Echold Land Mortgage company vs. Venzel Iron et al; decreed. Geo. S. C. Dow vs. Commissioners of Harlan county; demurrer overruled. Defendant has leave to answer in thirty days; reply in ten days thereafter. The demurrer in the Nebraska Cattle Ranch company case was overruled. James Hosford vs. The Hartford Fire Insurance company; judgment on verdict in favor of plaintiff amount of verdict; judgment to bear interest from date of verdict.

COUNTY COURT.

Judge McCulloch and his clerk put in a hard day's work on their books, getting caught up, though no cases were tried. However, the judge sat a little while and transacted the following business: Victor Lindholm vs. Heons Young. Continued until next term. Dunham vs. Dellrance. Answer filed. Cannon vs. Taggart, et al. Continued till June 1st at 2 p. m.

THE TWENTY-EIGHTH

That is the Time Fixed for Formerly Opening and Dedication of the New Court House.

At their meeting yesterday afternoon the county commissioners adopted a resolution which reads: Resolved, That Tuesday, May 28th, be, and is hereby designated as a day to formerly open the new county court house of Douglas county, and the clerk is hereby directed to invite the Douglas county bar to appoint a committee to confer with the commissioners in regard to a programme, etc. Previous to the above named date it is desired by the board, county clerk, and everybody else that all of the tax payers in Douglas county visit the court house and look through it. Of course they will all come on the 28th, bringing with them their families, sisters, cousins, and aunts, but those who can make it convenient to do so will be greatly benefitted by looking the structure through previous to that day. There will undoubtedly be a jam of people here then, but it is proposed to make complete arrangements for the enjoyment and comfort of the entire population. The bar association is expected to act promptly in this matter and get necessary committees appointed so that they can go to work at once. Very few counties in the United States can boast of as imposing, handsome and fine a temple for the dwelling of justice. It would do credit to the oldest municipality on earth, and by the citizens of Omaha and Douglas county, is pointed to with great pride; therefore its dedicatory services should be on a scale of grandeur in keeping with the magnificence of the building. To successfully consummate the undertaking it requires harmonious and united action on the part of all citizens. Let the farmers come in and see their pride.

CAPTURING A CROOK.

The Notorious John E. Bull Given Lodgings Where He Will Be Safe.

John E. Bull, one of the most notorious crooks and confidencemen in this country, was arrested about midnight by Officer Green, taken to the police jail and locked up to await an interview with his honor, Judge Stenberg, this morning. When captured Bull was just entering the Millard hotel and was considerably surprised but went along to the cooler with a calm and easy countenance. Before putting him behind the bars his pockets were searched, and among other things found in them was a square package which on the outside looked to be money, but when opened proved to contain slips from newspapers cut into square pieces. On one side it shows $100 and on the other $50. This arrangement was made by taking two counterfeit greenback bills, cutting them in two in the middle, then pasting a half of each denomination on a piece of stiff white paper. This is doubled over and the slips, a rubber band put around it, and when flashed up carelessly any ordinary person would, of course suppose it to be a roll of money. Bull was arrested as a suspicious character. It is believed that the gang of thieves and thugs who have recently come to Omaha, and are outraging the city with their nightly brawls and murderous deeds, are followers of his. Bull belongs in Denver, and runs a disgraceful joint there known as the Turf Exchange.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

Jim Silk, Waylaid, Slugged and Robbed—Badly Hurt.

The thugs who are infesting Omaha at this time with their dangerous presence, committed another atrocious outrage last night. Between 9 and 10 o'clock Jim Silk was attacked at the corner of Farnam and Twentieth streets, slugged and robbed. He was discovered soon after the villains left him, by Alderman Bechel and Mr. A. Rosewater, lying unconscious and a stream of blood spurting from an ugly wound just over his right eye. They immediately reported the matter to police headquarters and Officer Hencho assisted the unfortunate man to his home, near the Union Pacific shops, on Ninth street. The city physician was called and dressed his wound. The man is very seriously injured and may not get over it. In addition to the gash his head is badly bruised. When found letters and papers that had been pulled out of his pockets were scattered on the ground, showing that he had been robbed. Whether the soundrobs got any money from him could not be learned last night.

CONFIDENCE CRANK.

Officer Wheeland arrested a bad man, at the Southern hotel last night who said at the police jail that his name is Pat Gibson. Yesterday afternoon Gibson fell in with a verdant stranger at the Union Pacific depot and fleeced him out of ten dollars. A boy who knew Gibson saw the act and reported it to the police. When Wheeland went down to arrest the hoodlum he found the man he ran up into the garret and hid, but was soon found and dragged forth. Gibson, which, by the way, is not his name, is a well-known "con man" to the police here, and some months ago they had him in jail for being implicated in the robbery of a jewelry store opposite the postoffice. It is about time for him to be sent a trip over the road.

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

J. C. Westley, who for a long time was short-hand to J. T. Taylor, when that gentleman was connected with the Union Pacific road, returned yesterday and is now acting in the same capacity to Assistant General Freight Agent McCullen. The Burlington & Missouri pay car started north yesterday and the boys along the line are smiling. It is rumored in railroad circles that Mason B. Starr, general baggage agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy is soon to be succeeded by Mr. Sudd. A man the name of Burrows has been put into Jerry Melville's depot place at the Union Pacific freight depot. Mr. Melville expects to soon embark in business for himself here.

FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

A checker tournament for the championship of Nebraska was commenced yesterday morning at John Kellenney's saloon on Thirteenth street. The contestants are L. O. Whitehead, of Aurora, and Richard Water, of Omaha barracks. Fifty games are to be played. With yesterday's play, which closed at 9 o'clock last night, thirty-five had been completed. Of these Whitehead won eight, Water five, and the remaining twenty-two were draw games. The contest will be renewed again this morning.

STILL LIVING.

John E. Wegman is still living, and at 6 o'clock last night seemed to be in improving condition. The attending physicians have great hopes now that he will recover. It seems though that his organ of speech is entirely destroyed. He recognizes everybody, and understands what they say to him, but cannot speak a word. The officers are making diligent efforts to apprehend the villains who waylaid him but as yet have gained no good clues.

GENERAL ROW OCCURRED.

A general row occurred about 9 o'clock last night in Fred Kaufmann's saloon on Douglas street, and a man by the name of Crawford had his head badly crushed.

DECORATION DAY.
