Owing to the failure of Grant & Wurd on May 6, 1884, young Grant was unable to purchase the dwelling, but his money was never refunded. Mr. Johnson in the meantime died, and the executors sold the house to Mr. Duncan. He heard of the transaction with young Grant, and when called upon to take the title to the property refused, fearing there might be a cloud upon the title. This suit was brought to compel Duncan to fulfill the agreement. U. S. Grant, jr., said that he was willing to take the property at any time when old Mr. Johnson was ready to sign the deed.

THE DISTINGUISHED STATESMAN SUCCUMES AFTER A LONG STRUGLE - HIS CAREER.

NEWARK, N. J. MAX 20.-Mr. Frelinguysen died at 5:30 o'lock this evening. Frederick Theodore Frelinghuysen was born at Milltown, N. J., on August 4, 1817. He was a nephew of Theodore Frelinghusen, by whom he was adopted as a son. His adop-tion had much to do in moulding the future career of the child, Theodore Frelinghuysen then being a statesman of decided eminence— a patron of the Henry Clay school, by which he was placed on the presidential ticket with the great Kentuckyan, in the campaign that resulted in the election of James K. Polk to the presidency. His adopted son growing up with the environments of law and politics. evinced for them a lixing of an early age, and was educated at Rutger's college -graduating

Soon after his second appointment he was elected to the United States senate and was re-elected in 1871 for the full term. In December, 1881 soon after the succession of Gen. Arthur to the presidency, Mr. Frelinghuysen was ap-pointed secretary of state to succeed Mr. Blaine. He continued in that office until the recent change of administration, when he returned to his home and soon afterward was attacked by the illness which resulted in his

His record as secretary of state was distinguished by the negotiation of reciprocity treaties with various powers. Mr. Frelinghuysen was the third representative of succeeding generations of his family in the United States secate, his uncle and his great-grandfather having preceded him.

THE NEW NORTHWEST,

PLANS OF CANADIAN CAPITALISTS TO DEVEL-OPE THE STRAITS PASSAGE.

Special Telegram to The BEE. HALIFAX, N. S., May 20,-Captain William Adams, the famous Dundee whaler and Arctic navigator, is in the city. The Arctic ship Alert will start for Hudson bay next week to bring home the men who spent last year at the stations along the shores of Hudson's strait, established by the Dominion government for the purpose of taking meteorological and other scientific observations, and to replace them with men who will remain there another year.

The American and the Canadian northwest are vitally interested in the opening of a long talked of route to Europe by the way of Hudson's bay, and Captain Adams has had a third of a century's experience in Arctic waters.

He will go en the Alert as the representative of the Winneper & Hudson Bay rail road and navigation company to report upon the feasibility and practibility of the route. In an interview Capt. Adams expressed the opinion that the Hudson bay and straits were feasible and practicable for navigation, from the middle of June to the end of October, to hips properly equipped with two and a inch iron plates for an outside shell with suitablaice stem inside fortifications, and the opening up of this route would bring the heart of the great northwest as near to Liver-pool as New York was to day.

The Alert expects to reach the Hudson straits by June 10th. Provisions for the ensuirg year and eighteen tons of hard coal will be left at each station. A large quantity of evaporated vegetables prepared in this province will be taken to the stations. Between thirty and forty applications have been made for posi-tions as observatory men. Much valuable information is expected to be obtained from PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 23. — Joseph observations made during the past year as to Warrington, of the firm of Warrington & the formation and breaking up of ice and in Company, commission merchants, made an assignment of the entire estate to-day to satisfy the creditors.
