SIOUX CITY'S SALOONS.

One of Its Business Men.

A Strong Alliance Organized,

A BEE man had the pleasure of chatting with one of Sloux City's business men the other day, and naturally questioned him about the prohibition law, and how it was being treated in that elty. There have been so many and such contradictory reports affoat concerning the recent action of the residents o it has done. that city, that the statements of this man, who is a responsible, intelligent, and rather conservative business man, are interesting to those here who are wrestling with the same question. "There are saloons being licensed in

Sioux City, notwithstanding the prohibitory law, are there not?" "Yes, there has been a sort of arrangement fixed up with the city council by which the saloons are to pay $1,000 a year license, but it is not working very satisfactory. Some twelve or fifteen saloons have taken out this license, but a number claim that they cannot afford to pay any such large amount, and that makes trouble between the saloon men themselves. Of course those who pay the license can be given no protection, and they are not in condition to make any great fight against their competitors who do not pay the license. Those who do pay only pay a month at a time, and all that they get for their money is the assurance that the city officials will keep their eyes closed to the fact that the state law is being violated. Any outsider can commence prosecution and if a saloon man, who will not pay the license is thut up, he can got revenge

"What about the temperance alliance there? Is it true that they have com-promised with the other side, and agreed to do nothing, if the saloons will

by commencing against the fellow who pay the $1,000 license?"

"There is no truth in that report at all. They have not compromised or made any promise of any sort. If any one has not been taking any active steps to enforce the law, and it is not thought that they will right away. Like all organizations, it takes longer to move, than for an individual, and then the alliance seems to be following a different policy from what is pursued in some places. It & Pacific railway. is conceded that if the present saloons started, and there will be various ways to evade the law. The alliance folks say that they do not want to start in on a fight to enforce the law until prepared to fight it clear through, and keep up the enforcing of the law, not for a menth cr these preparations?"

"Well, they have a pretty strong orsubscriptions, or shares, to be drawn upon, or assessed, as the expenses arise. They claim to have secured $50,000 to back up the fight; that is, a man for instance subscribes a hundred dollars, and if the alliance needs $500. an assessment is made, say of one per cent of the whole amount subscribed, which would make his share only a dollar, and the man subscribing $200 would have to pay two dollars, and so on. Of course they do not expect that anywhere near the whole amount subscribed will ever be called for, and so large sums are subscribed. The purpose of this is not only to get a strong financial backing. but also to strengthen the centiment of the public in the fact that they mean

"There were a good many who thus aigned, but a number of the most prominent, who still think high license pre ferable to prohibition, have, in thinking over the matter, retracted this action, on John Lindt, Commander. of going on record as openly favoring the violation of any law. Many who signed on the impulse of the moment now want o take it back on that account."

"How has the prohibitory law thus far affected the city?"

"I don't see much difference thus far, except that I think I never saw so much drunkenness in the city. This is accounted for, in part at least, by the fact that the law fried to be a good and falthful wife I grabbed at what I thought was a bunch law has been enforced in some of the and have but one favor to ask of you be of weed, to hold on while I picked up the smaller towns, and those who can't get fore I die. anything to drink at home, on coming to this city get on a regular spree. "Do you think that the prohibitionists will commence cases against the saloon men?

"I rather expect they will, but do not know what they are planning. I have heard that some cases were being prepared, and I should not be surprised at any time to hear that the serving of papers had commenced.

THE EDITORS COMING.

Council Bluffs Should Prepare Once to Receive Them.

The Iowa editors are to gather here on the 9th of June, and from here start on their great western trip. As they will spand nearly the whole day here, there should be a general; and hearty cooperation of citizens to make their stay here a happy one. Those who have carriages to furnish, should offer then at once, so that the committees can know just what to depend upon. Such can hand their names to any of the newspaper offices, or to the mayor, or some one of the aldermen, or to one of the officers of the board of trade. There has been little done yet beyond the appointing of the aldermen and members of the board of trade as a failure as once before put this city to shame, a large excursion of eastern editors being left to amuse themselves as best they could hanging around the platform of one of the ancient, broken down local depots for several hours, with no one to offer a word of welcome or give even a hand-shake. They went across the river, and there the merchants served a good dinner, and made the visitors so happy that they went on their way feeling that Omaha was the only live city in this part of the country. No such neglect should be allowed this time. A little exertion on the part of the citizens can bring good returns. These men do not come here as beggars, expecting to be given any charity, but newspaper men are human, and they are appreciative of any courtesy or kindness shown them, and this city should take special pains to show up its advantages, give the visitors a hearty welcome, make their stay enjoyable, and when the record of the trip is made up it will be found that Council Bluffs will be given due credit for all that

"After practice you can stay down

three or four minutes, and by swimming along with your eyes open you can get a look at the lot, and then try and break off a branch with a beat-hook of iron.

Sometimes we have to go down two or three times to get a piece, then, if its big, put a rope around it and haul it up. Most of the small coral can be picked up

The First Colored Uadet

There is a page or two of United States history on which will always be recorded the uncouth name of Fitpper. It was notorious and prominent a few years since as that of the first colored cadet to graduate from West Point. It is told by a gentleman who had a letter from him last week that he signs himself "Henry O. Flipper, Colonel Mexican Volunteers." His friend said: "Flipper is an exceptionally bright colored man. thick that you can't see the bottom or He is a voracious reader, and his letter to me was to ask about books. After his court-martial and discharge for irregularities he went to Mexico, where color is not an obstacle to advancement, and now has a high position in the Mexican army, with a handsome salary. He wrote an autobiography in 1878, which is a val-uable addition, though a somewhat crude one, to the history of the colored race.

The Advantage of Settling in the New Town

The title "South Omaha' does not mean the southern part of the city of Omaha but is the name of the thriving town commencing at the Union Stock yards on the south, and extending for a mile and a half forth, nearly connecting with the city limits of Omaha.

The company have again concluded to put on sale 1,000 lots, and let the purchasers of the same realize the profit which the enhanced value of these lots is sure to make. It now being an assured fact that South Omaha is destined—in the near future—to be the largest live stock market west of Chicago, there can be no doubt that this property in a few years will be worth five or even ten times the amount that it can be bought for to-day.

Some may ask: If this is so, why do not the company keep it and realize this profit. The answer is, that in order to make lots valuable, there must be improvements on or surrounding them, and as is the case in all new towns, special inducer cuts, must be offered.

rounding them, and as is the case in all new towns, special inducer ents must be offered first to get the people to take hold and build. There are probably more such inducements offered by South Omaha than were ever put forth by any new town. The large business done by the stock yards company and the immense slaughter and packing houses together with their auxilaries are no small feature in a suggestate of events that are destined to make South Omaha a large place. Again, the town is not an addition to Omaha, and is not liable for city taxes, although it enjoys all the benefits is not an addition to Omaha, and is not liable for city taxes, although it enjoys all the benefits from the growth of Omaha that it would if it were just INSIDE the city limits, but being just OUTSIDE, only county taxes are collected, which are merely nomical. The town owns and operates its own water works, which furnish an abundant supply of pure spring water. Dummy trains will run on the B. & M. and U. P. railways every hour, stopping at the north end of thatown site as well as at the stock yards. The Thirteenth street horse cars will run: Hascall's park this spring, and to the stock yards at no distant day. The high altitude and the location a healthy one.

Of course there are those who do not believe that South Omaha will amount to much This kind of people didn't believe Chicago would ever be anything better than a cranberry patch that Omaha would ever outgrow her village clothes, that there never could be any fruit raised in Nebraska, etc., etc. Who made it win? The sceptics, or those that had an abiding faith in the energy, intelligence and resourses of this great country?
