A change took place in the Wabaab time table yesterday.

The Catholics have a festival in masonic hall Wednesday and Thursday.

The Danebo band made their first appearance in public on Saturday.

The criminal calendar in the district court is to be called on Thursday.

Mrs. H. H. Field entertained a progressive euchre party Friday night.

Bricks for sale in large or small lots by J. A. Weaver, 815 Seventh avenue.

William Lewis is out with another cab bright and shining fresh from the shop.

The electric light now takes the place of the big chandelier in the opera house.

The funeral services of Mrs. John Safely were held in the Baptist church yesterday afternoon.

Ladies' muslin underwear at less than manufacturers' cost for three days only. L. Harris, 734 Broadway.

James Clark, for spending decoration day in getting drunk, is to be called before his honor this morning.

Regular meeting of the city council this evening. What will they do about the chief of the fire department?

Ladies, don't fail to call at the great sale of ladies' underwear, for three days only, at L. Harris, 734 Broadway.

The Western Union telegraph office is now in its new quarters, corner of Broadway and Pearl streets, up stairs.

Go to L. Harris, 734 Broadway, for ladies' muslin underwear, for three days only, at less than manufacturers' cost.

Retter is offering great bargains at his merchant tailoring establishment, No. 310 Broadway. See his goods and get his prices.

The Scandinavians of the Baptist faith have purchased a lot on the corner of Scott and Mynster streets, and purpose to build a church upon it.

The rain Saturday evening did not interfere with the people going to the circus much, as seven-eighths of the seating capacity was occupied.

Mr. Cole, of the firm of Cole & Maxwell, while leading one of his horses into their stable, had his foot crushed badly, the animal stepping upon it.

Grace Hawthorne will play in Nebraska City to-night and Tuesday; in Plattsmouth Wednesday and Thursday; Friday and Saturday in Omaha.

E. Rosecrans appeared in the procession Saturday with an elegant new regalia of the order of druids. It was a present to him from the manufacturers.

Grace Hawthorne closed her engagement at the opera house Saturday with "Queen." She has won much praise here and her support is quite good.

There should be a full attendance at the board of trade meeting to-morrow evening to make arrangements for welcoming the Iowa editors next week.

The decoration ceremonies, the Grace Hawthorne matinee, and the matinee performance at the circus on Saturday were all largely attended and in each case the audience highly appreciative.

Saturday afternoon Justice Shurs performed the marriage ceremony by which Mr. W. H. White and Miss Jennie Oleson were happily made one. The ceremony took place at No. 400 Harrison street.

There were quarterly meeting services at the Methodist church yesterday, the holy communion being observed, and the presiding elder, the Rev. W. T. Smith, being present, and preaching in the evening.

In view of the fact that there are only four policemen to guard the whole city at night, there should be a merchants' police force organized, each business house to pay a small sum each week for being thus guarded.

The following will be graduated from Saint Francis academy this month: Misses Pussie Keating, Julia Sullivan, Jennie Wickham, May Gaud, and Mary Mills. The graduating exercises will take place on the 30th of June.

Carpenters Operatic Minstrel company will appear at the dime museum and theatre this evening, opening a two weeks engagement. There are twenty in the company, and the engagements are said to be very enjoyable.

The grand jury is again investigating the case of Walter Allen, the boy charged with having been the cause of the death of his school mate, the son of J. W. Morse. The original indictment has been lost, so the work is being done over again.

The Sioux City road has changed its time table. Excursion tickets for Spirit Lake, St. Paul and other summer resorts have been put on sale at No. 507 Broadway. The sleeper for Spirit Lake will be put on every evening on and after the 15th.

The trustees of the institution for the deaf and dumb have met and re-elected the old faculty, the affairs of the institution having been so well managed the past year as to justify the retention of the present corps.

Fred Hansen and L. Peterson were put in durance vils yesterday for getting too much noisy whiskey aboard. It is a great mystery where they could get the whiskey in a prohibition state, and on Sunday, too, but probably they imported it. The grand jury has found indictments against C. Connor and C. Wilson for burglarizing Cooper & McGee's store; Thomas Wilson, for larceny, from Gelse's brewery; Perry Lyon, forger, and William Jefferies with assaulting Wheeler with intent to kill.

The closing event of the running meeting was a race of a mile and a quarter, Saturday morning, for a private purse of $100, the contest being between Etta J., a bay mare, owned by John Kingston, of Atchison, Kan., and McCrary, Jr., the chestnut stallion, owned by D. Ramsey, of Blanchard, Ia. There was considerable betting in favor of the mare, but the horse won easily in 2:20.

The timber is being cleared off for a driveway or boulevard through a tract of land southeast of Fairmount park, one corner of which joins the park. A survey is to be made with the intention of opening up the tract for residences, and the driveway will be right along the ridge, an extension of Madison street, and coming out near Mr. Rice's.

The rear wall of the building occupied by Parego & Moore, is to be taken down, and is to be replaced by a more substantial one. The building occupied by the Boston shoe store is also being improved, and it is being discovered that the foundation of these and adjoining buildings have settled badly; the work of repairing them in a substantial manner is proving quite an extensive and expensive one.

It may be a good advertising dodge to scatter old envelopes and other litter about the streets, but it makes the streets of a city look like the remnants of a rag-bag, besides frightening horses and endangering life and limb. The authorities ought not to allow the streets to be strewn with bits of paper, doggers and such literature, as has been the practice—a practice which is not allowed in other "cities of the first class."

Phlander Judson, aged 82 years, 8 months and 13 days, died at 929 Sixth avenue yesterday morning about 1 o'clock.

The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the late residence. Mr. Judson came to this city from Kenosha county, Wisconsin, about ten years ago.

He has had a quiet, unostentatious life, and has not been engaged in any active business, but was the owner of considerable real estate on the outskirts of the city.

He leaves one son, L. P. Judson, the well known civil engineer. The old gentleman had no long illness, and although feeling the infirmities of age, he held up manfully, and it was not until about forty hours before his death that he took his bed.

The giant who was here with Robinson's show, is the same one who failed to appreciate a pun tried on him by an undertaker, when he was here with another show last year.

The undertaker said he could "lay him out," which was very true, if the giant had only been dead, but as it was the pun was taken in earnest, and he pulled off his jacket, and proposed to show the undertaker that he couldn't. At that time a warrant was taken out for his arrest on a charge of assault, but he escaped, and it was threatened that whenever he should return, the arrest would be made, but it seems that those concerned have concluded that the matter had better be dropped.

Next Friday evening there will be an interesting entertainment at the opera house, it being a prize contest in speaking, the contestants being members of the high school, who have been preparing for some time, and who will doubtless furnish a programme of much interest aside from the peculiar interest arising from the contest.

Both boys and girls are to take part, and besides the eleventhary features of the entertainment there will be excellent music, and other attractions.

There was an interesting wedding at the Pacific house parlors yesterday, the contracting parties being Mr. A. G. Pearson and Miss Katie Davis, both of whom are members of the Barbour dramatic company, which just closed an engagement in this city.

Mr. Mackey was the officiating clergyman. The newly-wedded ones go from here to Maryville, Mo., with the other members of the company.

A fellow giving his name as Bill Lyons was arrested Saturday night for trying to hold up an Omaha man on Main street.

The Omaha man, whose name could not be learned, was about to give the fellow a thumping, when an officer chanced to come up and collared the would-be highwayman.

A fellow who gives the name of John Allen and who has been wanted for some time on suspicion of being the one who burglarized Snow's store some time ago, turned up here Saturday and was promptly caught and locked up by Officer Cusick.

A number of the pupils of the catholic schools observed their first communion at St. Francis Xavier catholic church yesterday. The Rev. Father Healey delivered an address which was timely.

C. D. Crable, who has been a frequent visitor to the saloons, is now in jail on the charge of trying to become a pick-pocket.

Some of the young men of the shooting clubs had a little shoot at the driving park Saturday afternoon.

The interior of the Baptist church is being improved by papering, painting and other ways.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans, J. W. & E. L. Squire, 101 Pearl street.

Get your dinner at the Phoenix. Twenty-five cents. 505 Broadway.

ROBINSON'S SHOW.

Big Crowds, Much to See, and all Delighted.

The name of "Old John Robinson" is such a familiar one in connection with the show business, that the simple announcement that he was to be here last Saturday, was sufficient to draw a crowd to the tents, notwithstanding the many other attractions which made up the day's doings. The show does not consist, as is often the case, with a good deal of "hurry" and extravagant promises outside the canvas, and nothing inside the canvas.

The street parade was excellent, but the real merit of the entertainments was under the tents. John Lowlow and L. S. Steele, the two as gentlemanly guides as one could desire, took special pains to show the newspaper reporters all the ins and outs of the great show, and appeared on the alert for the pleasure and comfort of all who attended the entertainments.

Mr. Lowlow has rather a remarkable record as a showman. He has been in the circus business for thirty-two years, and during that time has only been connected with four shows, he having been with Robinson for twenty-one years. During these many years he has never lost a day or a dollar of salary.

The manager is an unusually fine one, the attempt evidently not being to see how great a number of each kind of curiosity could be gathered, as to have as many kinds as possible, and to have the finest specimen of each kind. The greatest order prevailed, and neatness characterized every portion of each tent, so that visitors could really enjoy the sights at their leisure.

The ring performances were varied and excellent. A great many new features were introduced, so that while it is "Old John Robinson's" show, it is not John Robinson's "old" show. Many of the acts had never been seen in any show here before, while those common to nearly all circuses were performed in such a manner as to call forth enthusiastic applause on account of its surpassing excellence.

Without particularizing, Robinson has much for the people to see, and much well worth seeing, and it is not to be wondered at that he gets crowded houses so easily. To-day the show is to appear in Omaha.

PROHIBITION POINTS.

The Mills of the Courts Grind Extremely Slow.

Judge Connor was here Saturday, but those who expected to learn his decision on the motion to transfer the injunction cases to the United States court, were disappointed, for he was not ready to decide the motion.

He asked that the attorneys give him their authorities on the several questions involved, and said he would take further time to look them over, intimating that he would give a decision this week, but setting no specific time. Some other papers were filed in the cases by the attorney for the defendants, they being demurrers, demands for more specific petitions, etc.

It looks as if every technical point was to be fought inch by inch.

This afternoon another interesting chapter is promised in the prohibition fight. The case brought in the district court is to come up before Judge Loofbourow, and the same sort of a motion, to transfer the case to the federal courts, will be made by the defendant, and will be argued at length.

Considerable interest is felt, and curiosity as to how Judge Loofbourow will decide the matter.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

A Medical and Surgical Institute to Be Started in Council Bluffs.

Dr. R. Sweet, president of the Dubuque Medical and Surgical Institute, arrived in the city last evening and purposes to join with Dr. J. Palmer, "the Lone Wolf," and others in starting a medical and surgical institute here.

Dr. Palmer has been here several days, and the people are acquainted with his skill and reputation, while Dr. Sweet has the reputation of being one of the most skilled surgeons in the state.

It is proposed to organize a company with $150,000 capital stock, and to erect a building at an early date. They say most of the stock is already taken.
