

THE DAILY BEE.

Monday Morning, June 8, LOCAL BREVITIES.

Phaetons at Parker, Robertson & Co. The remains of Frank McCoy, who was drowned at Lincoln Friday last, were buried in Prospect Hill cemetery at 3 o'clock yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cline, 1517 Burt street, were made happy Friday by the appearance of a twelve pound boy. Everybody doing well.

Mrs. Dasher, the lady who was injured at Onchard's carpet store, on Thursday, is getting along nicely and from present indications will recover all right.

St. Louis parties secured a permit at the internal revenue collector's office on Saturday to ship machinery for a new distillery, at Battle Creek, into the state.

Saturday afternoon the Creighton college baseball club, in a sluggish match of ten innings, won their third victory from the high school club by a score of 19 to 17.

Deputy Marshal Allan returned yesterday from Hastings where he has been selling off the property to discharge claims in the case of W. A. Smith vs. Wesley Hedden.

Mr. M. Powers, the yard weigh master, who was struck by a moving freight car last Friday and quite badly bruised, is rapidly recovering and will be at his post of duty again shortly.

Shrieve, Jarvis & Co. having claimed the jewelry, silk handkerchiefs etc., found in possession of the crook, Frank Martin, a complaint has been filed against him for grand larceny.

The Cornland Wagon at Parker, Robertson & Co.

Col. Clowery, of Chicago, will erect on what is known as the Etabrook property on Sixteenth street a handsome four-story brick building, to cost $40,000. The structure will be erected this season, and will be devoted to business purposes.

Lord Thomas Hackett, Senator Sharon's English son-in-law, accompanied by his wife and children, passed through Omaha Saturday evening, enroute to San Francisco. They were traveling in a special car of the Central Pacific road.

A little girl, stealing a ride on a street car on Tenth street yesterday afternoon, was knocked off the steps, but happily escaped without injury but a sprained wrist. It is a wonder that there are not accidents of a more serious nature from the same cause.

In the police court Saturday morning, J. McCoy and Jack Konner were fined $5 and $10, respectively for intoxication. They were sent up to the palace on the bill in default of fines. John Johnson, a scribble addicted to boozing was released. Mrs. Coffey filed a complaint against her husband, William Coffey, for cruelly ill-treating her.

Top Buggies at Parker, Robertson & Co.

Joe Kosacky, the seven year bright and wayward little tramp who has been in the city jail for the past few days, has been sent to the county commissioners as a candidate for the reform school. Joe is a "rustler," a terror on the streets. He can converse in the languages, English, Bohemian and Polish, and can swear with alarming fluency in all three.

The wedding of Mr. M. J. Doane, Boston, Mass., and Miss Dillie Dork, of this city, took place Friday afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents on Davenport street, Rev. J. W. Harris officiating. It was a very private affair and only a few intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Doane left on the afternoon train for Boston, their future home.

A good joke is told on a party of Omaha people who attended the hop at the fort last week. The ambulance in which they were being conveyed struck a hydrant on Sherman avenue and was stuck fast. The hydrant was broken and a heavy stream spouted upward through the bottom of the ambulance and inundated the occupants. The ambulance was immediately released from its position and its occupants rescued from a damp if not a watery grave.

Buckboards at Parker, Robertson & Co.

Last week mention was made in these columns of the case of Emma Camp, who had become infatuated with Myers, the tree peddler, and had attempted elopement with him. Friday Mr. Camp succeeded in inducing his wayward daughter to return to his home, Twenty-third and Nicholas streets. He believes that she has not abandoned her plan of eloping with Myers, in case he should return. As the girl is yet under age, Myers will assume considerable risk in attempting to run away with her.

Open Buggies at Parker, Robertson & Co.

About thirty teachers gathered Saturday morning in Superintendent Bruner's office in the new court house, in attendance upon the meeting of the Douglas County Teachers' association. The first address was given by Miss Fannie Brown, of Florence. Her subject, "Model Lessons on Language Training" was ably handled. After a thorough discussion of the subject an adjournment was had until after dinner, when the association reconvened with slightly increased attendance.

A traveling man from Omaha writes to this office saying that he had two runaway boys from this city arrested, who are now held awaiting the orders of their parents. They are Con Graney, aged 14, residing on Centre near Fifteenth, and Harry Sincere, who has been living on Jackson near Thirteenth. They have been away from home about three weeks and arrived in Cheyenne from Laramie, Thursday. They claimed to have been in Ogden and said that they were going to Denver.

Combination Wagons at Parker, Robertson & Co.

Friday afternoon a meeting of the board of county commissioners, Chairman O'Keefe introduced a resolution to allow the city officers to occupy the northeast corner of the basement of the court house for offices. Messrs. Corlies and Timmons voted against the measure. This leaves Dr. Smith, the county surveyor, in possession of the room which was originally designated as his office. The commissioners, however, instructed the county clerk to notify the mayor that the county is ready to fulfill its contract to furnish the city with four office rooms.

Express Wagons at Parker, Robertson & Co.

Hon. John Seaton, ex member of the Kansas legislature, from Atchison, was in the city Saturday night and yesterday. Mr. Seaton has manifestly strong interests in Lincoln, being proprietor of a large iron foundry there.

Mr. Charles A. Norberg, a watchmaker employed in E. H. H. & Co.'s jewelry store, in the hope father of a beautiful girl, who arrived the 31st last. Both mother and daughter are doing well.

NEW BURIAL GROUNDS.

The Forest Lawn Cemetery Northwest of Omaha.

A Beautiful Place--Plans of Improvement.

For some time it has been plainly manifest that the growing demands of this city would soon necessitate the laying out of a new cemetery. Prospect Hill cemetery, the one which is now in more extensive use than any other, is fast exhausting its capacity, and will soon have no space available for purposes of interment. Already a scheme is in progress of consummation which will meet the urgent demand for new burial grounds.

Some days ago articles were filed with the county clerk incorporating the Forest Lawn Cemetery association, of which the following gentlemen are members: Herman K. White, William K. Brown, Charles H. Brown, Orlando S. Wood, Simeon T. J. Seelye, J. C. Dacie, Arthur P. Wood, John A. Creighton, John H. Brackin, James J. Brown, Eben C. Long, John J. O'Connor, James Fosyth.

The following officers have been elected: James B. Brown--President. Jacob C. Danise--Chairman of board of trustees. Simeon T. J. Seelye--Treasurer. Eben C. Long--Clerk.

THE CEMETERY SITE. To the kindness of Mr. J. H. Brackin, one of the incorporating trustees, a reporter for the Bee owes the pleasure of having made a visit Friday afternoon to the site which has been selected for the cemetery.

A rapid drive cut Sherman avenue, past F. r. Omaha and the outlying surveyed town site of Florence, brought the reporter to the beautiful property which has been selected for the cemetery. The land which was purchased from Mr. J. H. Brackin, is 320 acres in extent, situated on sections 29 and 30, township 16, range 13, and almost immediately west of the town of Florence. The location is but four miles from the postoffice, and could not be bettered. It is sufficiently near the city, is easily to be reached by the Sherman avenue barracks road, and is within convenient distance of the Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Omaha road.

The tract of land, aside from the advantages of its location, possesses attributes of beauty and grandeur, in its adaptation for cemetery purposes. It is in the form of a rectangle one mile long and one-half a mile wide, with a rolling expanse of level land, broken by the hills and valleys which serve, in furnishing diversity, to add to the beauties of the landscape. There are about ninety acres of tree growth on the land, consisting of oak, elm, walnut and other varieties. The location is high and dry, and from the various spurs of the hills, one commands a view of the Nebraska field and forests on the west, and of the Iowa bluffs and prairies on the east, which for grandeur of sweep and scenery, is unsurpassed. The towering bluffs of the Buckeye side of the river, the dimly outlined forest growth of the miles which lie outstretched before the eastern horizon, the sinuous lengths of the Missouri river, are all features of a landscape which is at the full command of the spectator from the heights of Forest Lawn cemetery. It is not all an exaggeration to say that there could be no site better adapted for the purpose of the dead, so far natural as regards the soil, and when art shall have co-operated to tone the rough beauties of lawn and woodland and to supply the few missing points of a perfect landscape, there will be in all the broad land of America no more beautiful resting place for the dead.

PLANS OF IMPROVEMENT. The gentlemen who have the matter in hand announce their intention of pushing to completion their plans in connection with the laying out of the cemetery. It should be understood in the first place that this association is not formed for purposes of profit. The monies which accrue from the sale of lots will be turned into a perpetual fund, to be devoted to the improvement, from year to year, of the cemetery. If the lots are sold, for instance, at the uniform price of $50, a fund of more than $2,000,000 will be created for this purpose. About one-third of the 320 acres is to be laid off in avenue drives, parks, and lakes. A large public vault will be erected for the temporary reception of the dead, while one of the beautiful features of the place will be a large park, which will be of especial service on Decoration day and other public occasions. The lakes which are to be provided will be fed by never failing springs, one located on the west side and the other in the centre of the park site. A landscape gardener is to be procured from the east, who will at once enter upon the work of improving and adorning the cemetery site. It is presumed that everything will be in readiness for the first burial within, at the most, one year, as the work of improvement will be entered upon as soon as possible and pushed to speedy completion. Already a number of gentlemen having relatives interred in other cemeteries have given their assurance that a re-interment of the remains will be made, as soon as possible in the new cemetery, and there is no doubt but that many family burial places will be removed from the crowded precincts of the old cemetery to the grounds of the Forest Lawn Association.

An Open Letter. We, the undersigned, respectfully call your attention to the fact that we have lately purchased all the machinery as well as the stones, engravings and plates of the lithographing department of the Omaha Republican, and the new machinery of the latest inventions having been added, we do not hesitate to say that we shall give entire satisfaction to every one. We shall turn out the best lithographic work extant--equalled by few and excelled by none. A specialty is made of fine commercial work in letter heads, note heads, receipts, drafts, stock certificates, cards, labels, wedding stationery, in fact everything heretofore done in an expeditious office. We are also prepared to do portraits, show cards or any kind of colored work.

We direct special attention also to our photo-lithography, which we are the first to have done in the west by this means. We can photograph upon stone from any picture, drawing or sketch, and give an exact fac simile in every way to any size as may be desired.

Bank and office stationery, and county and city maps of any kind are made specialties. All engravings and work done under the old management have been preserved, thus saving time and money for former patrons. Our office and works are 110 and 112 South 14th street, where we will be pleased to see and receive all the favors of our friends. The Omaha Lithographing and Stationery Co. J. J. RESURRECTED---RE-BURIED. James Hagan's Mouldering Body Taken from the Potter's Field and Laid in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

The remains of James E. Hagan, who has been mentioned so often in the papers within the past fifteen months, were yesterday exhumed from their dreary resting place in the potter's field, placed in a neat casket and buried in Prospect Hill cemetery. The story of Hagan's sad fate is already well known to the people of Nebraska. He was a well-to-do tailor at Lincoln, and one March day in 1884 he left home and started to go to Chicago, but never got any further than Omaha. Three months later his body was found floating in the Missouri river, taken out and buried in the potter's field, but nobody here then knew who the unfortunate man was. Last January, at the request of John Morrison, who was Hagan's father-in-law, the body was exhumed and by him recognized at once as being his mysteriously missing relative.

AGGOD Work. The council committee appointed some time ago is rapidly pushing the work of cleaning up and placing in order Haussome park for the coming season.

Some improvement in the way of trimming grass, etc., are also being made in Jefferson Park.

A Fighting Tenant. Richard O'Keefe, of the board of county commissioners, was arrested Saturday at the instance of J. W. Honza, who charges him with trespass and malicious destruction of property.

It appears that for about two years and a half Honza has held by lease from Mr. O'Keefe a house on the corner of Thirtieth and Leavenworth streets.

Some time ago Mr. O'Keefe sold the property to McCord, Brady & Co. for warehouse purposes. Some thirty days ago Mr. O'Keefe notified Honza, as he claims, that he would have to get out of the premises and permit the building to be moved.

This Honza refused to do, and this morning Mr. O'Keefe started to remove the fences on the property, whereupon Honza appeared in the police court and swore out a warrant for the landlord's arrest.

The case has been set for hearing next Tuesday.
